TERRIFIC WINDS CAUSE LOSS OF LIVES ON LAND AND WATER.

Storm of Saturday in Middle West Extends Well Over Into Sunday---Great Lakes Lashed to Fury.

Seven Men Go Down in Gasoline Launch—Barge Crew Have Thrilling Experience Battling With Gale—Dead at Janesville, Wis., in Cyclone Path Now Definitely Fixed at Eight, With Another Dying—Three Men Frozen to Death.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Heavy tribute of life on both land and water was paid to the severe windstorms that swept yesterday and today over the Middle West and Northwest. It is believed that fully two score perished, most of them in demolished houses and other buildings. Reports of three men frozen to death have been received, and information is coming from lake ports tonight that the storm was costly to human life, and to boats on the Great Lakes.

EIGHT ARE DEAD.

Latest information from Janesville, Wis., tonight is that eight persons were killed outright and one fatally injured in the cyclonic storm that struck the Wisconsin city yesterday afternoon. The property loss for Janesville and immediate vicinity is estimated at close to $1,000,000.

Incoming mariners tonight report a desperate fight against the high waves of Lake Michigan. Seven men are believed to have gone down with the seventy-foot gasoline launch 'Morning Star.' The last heard of the boat was off Waukegan at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Old lake captains express a doubt that such a boat could weather the storm. Life-saving corps are patrolling the shore for traces of the missing boat. Sky-rocket signals sent by life crews at Kenosha have met with no response.

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

The Delta, a barge, was beached off Fair Haven with its crew intact after a terrible experience. The barge was in tow of the steamer Louis Pahlow of the Illinois Lumber Company's fleet. It was forced to part company with the steamer boat. The crew of the Delta was utterly exhausted and benumbed with cold. Life savers saved the boat from being battered to pieces.

Men of the crew said the storm was the worst they had ever encountered on the lakes. Alternating storms of snow, wind and sleet made navigation almost impossible for large vessels. The men of the Delta told the story of a terrific struggle for life. Several times they were tempted to give up the fight, but were encouraged by the fact that they were near shore and labored to keep the barge's nose pointed eastward.

Then when they were almost into port a sudden gust of wind tore the foresail from the mast and sent part of it flying free out over the water.

STRENUOUS BATTLE.

With just the bare shreds of the sail hanging to the mast, the men began a strenuous battle to get the barge into port. With the aid of the life saving crew and tugboat the Delta was finally tied up, weatherbeaten, but safe in the harbor.

The steamer John T. McWilliam, aground off Chicago avenue, is not believed to be in danger. The vessel has a cargo of 4000 tons of coal. C. W. Elphecke & Company, agents of the boat line owning the vessel, declared no damage has been sustained by the McWilliams and they anticipate none.

"This is one of the worst storms the lake has had in years," said Capt. Garland, in charge of the Chicago life-saving crew tonight. "It will be remarkable if the Evening Star has not foundered, for she is battling with a terrible storm of wind and water." The Evening Star was in command of John Litz of Chicago, with a party of fishermen aboard. According to their custom, they should have been in port Saturday night at 9 o'clock.

SEND SEARCHING CREWS.

Searching crews from Chicago, Milwaukee and Kenosha will start at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning to give aid to the fishermen, if they should be found in distress. The wind blew a gale all day, the velocity ranging from forty to fifty miles an hour, with sudden shifts in directions.

Mrs. Mary Litz, wife of John Litz, stood all day today on the shore near the foot of Chicago avenue, scanning the lake until taken home by her friends. She believes her husband and companions have been lost.

Within immediate range of her vision tug boats were pulling at long cables to float the steamer John T. McWilliams and lighters, bobbing dangerously up and down in the turbulent sea, were vainly trying to reach the boat to lighten the cargo.

EYES ON THE WATER.

"They always returned at night of the same day they left," said Mrs. Litz, her eyes never leaving the waste of water in front of her, "and I know something has happened to them. They have been lost in the storm. I am sure. I fear they have been drowned. My nephew, Joe Litz, was in the boat, but I do not believe I will ever see any of them again."

The Evening Star passed the life-saving station yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. It was sighted again at 11 o'clock south of Waukegan.

Capt. Richard Smith of Waukegan saw the craft at 2 p.m. yesterday and since then all trace of the boat and its fisherman crew have been lost.

DAMAGE AT BEDFORD.

The plant of the big stone quarries at Bedford, Ind., were struck by a hard wind and damaged $500,000.

A terrible cyclone struck Waterloo, Iowa, at 11 o'clock last night, doing damages aggregating $100,000. The path of the cyclone was from southwest to northeast and swept through an area about 200 feet wide, taking with it every building. The City Hall, a large brick building, was completely demolished, the brick and timbers flying through the air in every direction. Freight cars were blown off the tracks and carried several hundred feet against and on top of dwellings.

FIFTY-DEGREE DROP.

Temperatures throughout the eastern half of the upper Mississippi Valley dropped from 50 to 61 degrees in a few hours. Heavy windstorms raged all day. In Southern Illinois the sudden change interrupted the flow of natural gas and caused widespread suffering among those who depended on gas for heating.

From the range county come reports of much suffering among and loss of live stock.

A tornado and cloud burst in and around Hot Springs, Ark., caused much loss. Vandalia, Ill., suffered the loss of a church. One man was frozen to death in a blizzard in St. Paul, one in Omaha, one in Ottumwa, Iowa, and another in Grand Forks, N. D. Thomas A. Claymore of Snowden, Iowa, was killed in the dreck of a house. Falling wires and flying material, killed three men in Peoria.

Two were killed and seven injured by the storm at Easton, Ill. Three men marooned in a motor boat in the ice at Duluth, were rescued by life savers.

LIVE STOCK KILLED.

Calhoun county, Michigan, suffered a loss of $125,000 in demolished barns and orchards and killed live stock. At Belvidere, Ill., Henry Meyer, 16 years old, was instantly killed by the collapse of a barn.

Held up behind a railroad wreck in a raging blizzard, three theatrical companies, made up of 150 actors and actresses, arrived in Chicago yesterday afternoon late for matinee performances, greatly fatigued and possessed of a magnificent hunger acquired during thirty-six hours.

Two audiences were kept waiting more than an hour for the belated performers.

HARD HIT.

Telephone and telegraph companies were especially hard hit. Chicago was absolutely cut off from St. Louis, and all of the southwest from 1:10 Saturday afternoon until after midnight this morning. There was no communication with the Pacific Coast for several hours. Many points in Nebraska, Iowa and Oklahoma have not yet been picked up by Chicago wires. The same misfortune befell long-distance telephone concerns whose wires are supposed to resist the severest storms.

As showing the unusual features of the storm, here are the records:

Previous falls in temperature within twenty-four hours since 1892.

Fifty-eight degs. in twenty-two hours, from 8 a.m., February 9, 1900, to 6 a.m., February 10, 1900, 62 degs. to 4 degs.

Fifty-six degs. in twenty-three hours, from 7 a.m., December 13, 1901, to 6 a.m., December 14, 1901, 48 degs. to 8 degs.

Fifty degs. in fifteen hours, from 4 p.m., November 21, 1898, to 7 a.m.,

TO PREVENT LYNCHING.

TAMPA (Fla.) Nov. 12.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Fearing that an attempt would be made to take Lee Armistead, a negro, who shot two officers at Plant City Friday, out of the local jail, a company of militia was ordered by Gov. Gilchrist to guard the jail tonight. Many armed citizens of Plant City are in the city.

Fines of five thousand dollars each, imprisonment in the County Jail for one year, or both, may be imposed in case of a finding of guilty. This case is the culmination of nine years' of investigation by the Federal government.

THERMOMETER IS AMAZED.

One Killed by Heat and Three by Cold in Chicago in One Day.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago proved its claim to championship freak weather today when one man was prostrated by heat and three others froze to death within twenty-four hours. Yesterday afternoon, with the temperature at 74.2 above, which broke all November records for twenty-three years, John Maloney, a freight handler, was overcome and taken home. Between that time and daylight today there had been a drop of 81 degrees in temperature, and three persons were found frozen: Henry Green, aged 61. Thorwald Tonnesson, aged 44. Mrs. Althea Sherman, aged 58. Despite the intense cold, two young men, seeking notoriety, swam in Lake Michigan today, and topped off the event by drinking large quantities of cold lemonade.

Untutored Savage Falls Easy Victim to Fascinating Femininity of Civilization and Capers and Sings for Joy When He Learns His Hopes May Be Realized.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Ishi, the "uncontaminated" redskin, strung his bow again today and in sheer delight sped many arrows into the bull's-eye of his target at the Affiliated Colleges in this city, where he is sojourning since his capture in the wilds of Northern California.

For many days Ishi has wandered disconsolate among the thickets of Golden Gate Park. Although among the first bits of his strange tongue which were translated into English there appeared references to a lovely Indian maiden, Ishi soon acknowledged himself a victim to the charms of the American woman. It was announced through the press that the uncontaminated one wanted a wife, and today he received a proposal. Hence his joy.

A St. Louis woman, whose name is withheld by Prof. Kroeber, Ishi's mentor in the ways of the white man, is Ishi's prospective bride.

"I am certain that the woman is acting in good faith," said Prof. Kroeber today. "She has written a purely formal letter asking for pictures and further information and I am going to send them to her."

FREE LUNCHES TO GO.

Dispensers of Liquors in San Francisco Will Ask Supervisors to Enact a City Ordinance.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The canvass of San Francisco retail liquor dealers, completed today by the promotion committee of the Knights of The Royal Arch, has resulted in a veritable landslide for the anti-free lunch contingent.

The work of drafting the "no lunch" ordinance by the committee and the order's legal counsel will be completed tomorrow, and final ratification at a meeting to be held Wednesday night, will be presented to the Board of Supervisors for enactment.

JOHN SMITH.

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 12.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Funeral services over the remains of John Smith, late presiding patriarch of the Mormon Church, who died of pneumonia, were held today. Many of the leading officials of the church spoke at the services.

BIG PACKERS NOW REALLY FACE CRIMINAL TRIALS.

Nine Years of Investigation by Federal Government Results in Determined Prosecutions of Ten Leading Beef Barons of Country—Charge of Violating Sherman Anti-Trust Law Means Jail or Heavy Fine.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—After more than nine years of investigation by the government, the first criminal prosecution of individual meat packers under the Sherman anti-trust act will begin here tomorrow before Judge George A. Carpenter, in the United States District Court. Ten Chicago packers will be placed on trial charged with monopolizing and restraining interstate trade in fresh meats. The penalty which may be inflicted if they be found guilty is a fine of $5000 or a sentence of one year in the County Jail, or both.

WHO THEY ARE.

The defendants are:

Louis F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., and director of the National Packing Company.

Edward F. Swift, vice-president of Swift & Co., and director of the National Packing Company.

Charles H. Swift, director of Swift & Co.

Edward W. Tilden, president of the National Packing Company.

J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co.

Arthur Meeker, general manager for Armour & Co.

Edward W. Morris, president of Morris & Co.

Francis A. Fowler, director of Swift & Co.

Thomas J. Connors, superintendent of Armour & Co.

Louis H. Heyman, manager for Morris & Co.

A special panel of 150 men has been summoned from which to select the jury. Hundreds of witnesses have been called. It is expected the trial will last several months.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CHARGES.

Most of the government's efforts will be directed to show the purpose of the organization of the National company. The government charges that through this organization the packers are able to control the meat industry.

United States Senator W. S. Kenyon of Iowa will be associated as special counsel with United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson in the prosecution. Pierce Butler of St. Paul, Barton Corneas of Washington, James Sheehan and Elwood Godman, chief assistant District Attorney, will help in the prosecution.

And Happy.

PRESIDENT IS AT HOME AFTER HIS LONG JOURNEY.

Finds in the Returns of the Elections in Various States that the Democrats Are Not Sustaining the Efforts They Made in the Congressional Run and Sees Change of Sentiment in Favor of the Republicans.

BY SUMNER CURTIS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Physically in fine fettle and otherwise optimistic, President Taft returned to the seat of government this morning. He has not brought back with him those pointed fears of party disasters which were reported at some of the later stages of his trip. He sees sunshine flooding instead of clouds obscuring the Republican sky.

Briefly it may be stated that the President did not intend that another such gloomy interpretation should be placed upon the words he spoke at Chicago regarding next year's political contest as has been the case.

Right away, according to all the signs exhibited around the White House today, the President will devote some attention to counteracting the advertised notion that he is a "quitter," and that he has doubt over Republican succes next year. Now apparently strong in a belief that affairs are moving to the advantage of the Republican party in 1912 when he was merely hopeful when he set out from Boston on September 15, the only thing that seems to par the good feeling with which he returns to the White House is the thought that some of his utterances have been twisted to mean that which was not intended.

In the recent elections in several States the President sees indications that the trend toward Democracy, which was most emphatically shown in the Congressional elections a year ago, had been stayed.

In the executive's opinion, municipal elections last Tuesday in Ohio and elsewhere, notably that in Philadelphia, where the regular Republican tickets were defeated, were due to local causes and were devoid of national significance. It is probable the publicity agencies of the administration side will take some pains to press this view upon the attention of the country as they warm up to the real work preliminary to next year's campaign.

Also the President is happy in the belief that the cordiality with which he was received by millions of the people on the trip just ended was more pronounced than on his first extended tour of the country in 1909. These observances and opinions combined give cause for the present White House optimism. The President has succeeded, he thinks, in putting before the country in better shape than he could by dozens of messages to Congress the things he wants to, so that the people now understand the purposes of his administration.

The first day back home mainly was one of rest preparatory to pitching into the work that must be done before Congress begins to grind again.

THE PROBLEM SOLVED.

Government Specialists Prove That Paper Can Be Made of Wood Other Than Spruce.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WAUSAW (Wis.) Nov. 12.—The problem whether a commercial grade of paper can be made from native woods other than spruce, for the solution of which the United States government has established a laboratory here, has been partly solved, according to announcement made by J. H. Thickens, in charge of the experimental work.

Experiments have been going on for more than a year. Tests of pulp manufactured at the laboratory have just been concluded and are reported highly satisfactory. The previous tests were not as satisfactory as the last one, which is said to have proved conclusively that it is possible to make ground wood from hemlock and jack pine, and from mixture of these woods with spruce, which will be of quality high enough for the manufacture of a cheap grade of paper, such as news and wrapping papers. One of the mills of Wisconsin already has commenced to use the mixture of spruce and hemlock for the manufacture of paper.

Dynastic Rulers of China Would Go to Jehol on a Pension.

Yuan Shi Kai Will Arrive to Advise the Peking Authorities Today.

Fierce Battle at Nanking; Imperials Abandon Ten Kilometer Station.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, Nov. 12.—Yuan Shi Kai and the government exchanged telegrams this morning. Yuan has agreed to come to Peking to discuss the situation, but he adheres to his resolve not to accept the premiership. He is expected to arrive tomorrow and an audience with the regent has been arranged.

The American legation does not believe Yuan Shi Kai has yet advised the throne to abdicate, as some reports stated, but he may do so before [illegible]

Yesterday Yuan sent a message to the government from his home at Changto Fu. He then proceeded to Cheng Tow on the Ho Nanyou know where he conferred with a [illegible] from the Ho Nan assembly [illegible] will be the proposed declaration of [illegible] dence of the provinces, [illegible] would damage the th[illegible] seriously.

The fact that the [illegible] on [illegible] CO. the government depends more [illegible] any one else is coming to Peking caused a general feeling of relief [illegible] of hope that he will evolve plans to [illegible] the chaos. It is understood the court will remain in the Forbidden City, realizing that their departure now would be fatal.

It is understood also the throne is willing to accept a pension and retire to Jehol, if safety is assured.

Prince Ching, the acting premier, does not desire to remain in office, but he continues to support the regent, who has no other trusted adviser.

The situation at Kai Feng, Ho Nan province, is serious. The Governor's family left for the north last night on a special train. The Governor remains at Kai Feng, but does not sleep at the Yamen.

Foreign refugees who have arrived here from Tai Yuan Fu, Shan Si province, report that no foreigners have been harmed, but the Governor and his wife and thirty Manchus have been beheaded.

The rebels are maintaining order and the new arrivals say their administration is excellent. The whole provinces of Shan Si is supporting the movement.

Mukden and Newchang are connected by defense societies, consisting of troops and civilians. The conditions prevailing in these places practically amount to independence.

REBELS PREPARED TO TAKE AMOY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AMOY, Nov. 12.—The conference of officials with representatives of the conservative and radical elements for the purpose of determining upon a course of action, has failed to reach an agreement. The officials and conservatives proposed a temporary independence, while the radicals favored the surrendering of the city to the revolutionists. It was argued that Amoy was too weak to stand alone and that some foreign power would seize it as soon as it declared independence. The insurgents are now preparing to take over the government.

Every entrance to the city is strongly guarded and detachments have been posted on the surrounding hills. All precautions have been taken to prevent disorders. There is no American warship here, but the British sloop Rosario has landed thirty men. Japanese cruisers are within two hours' call by wireless, but their presence is not desirable because of Chinese distrust.

Foo Chow reports much looting and incendiarism. The Tartar general has been beheaded. Missionaries have been recalled from the interior at the request of the de facto government, which says it will not be responsible for their lives.

CONSULS DEALING WITH WINNING SIDE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SHANGHAI, Nov. 12.—Reports from Nanking say that city is now orderly and that foreigners are safe. Chin Kiang, a short distance from Nanking, is awaiting results at the latter place, but the rebel flag still flies over the forts. The revolutionists have taken Chu Chow, on the Pu Kow Railroad, thirty miles north of Pu Kow.

The Consuls at Shanghai have received instructions to consult and deal with the de facto government without official recognition. The American marines, who have been guarding the cable huts at Wu Sung, have been withdrawn and the insurgents have taken charge.

It is understood Wu Ting-Fang, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has telegraphed the diplomats at Peking protesting against the Nanking massacre.

HORROR LIES IN TORNADO'S PATH

Wisconsin County Suffers in Cyclonic Wind.

Zero Weather Adds to Misery of Homeless Ones.

Entire Family Wiped Out With Exception of Boy.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JANESVILLE (Wis.) Nov. 12.—Splintered timbers, broken furniture, crumbled rock and plaster, scattered farm produce and dead farm animals littering the ground over an area a quarter of a mile wide and twenty miles long indicate the tremendous force with which Wisconsin's worst tornado swept yesterday a path through Rock county, killing eight persons, injuring many more and doing damage to the extent of nearly a million dollars.

One of the injured, Albert Schmidt, 14 years old, near Hanover, will die. His father and two sisters are dead. At least one more may die.

THE DEAD:

ANTON SCHMIDT, 56 years old, blown from a barn and killed instantly.

ALICE SCHMIDT, 12 years old, daughter of Anton Schmidt, blown across the road and found nearly buried in a field.

REGINA SCHMIDT, 14 years old, sister of Alice Schmidt, found dead beside her sister's body.

HELEN AUSTIN, 5 years old, instantly killed.

MRS. JOHN CROWDER.

MRS. ELIZABETH PROEDE.

LEO LENTZ, 16 years, blown from beams and instantly killed.

AMY CORBIN, 6 years old, instantly killed when house was demolished.

DETAILS COMING IN.

Wire service was demoralized last night and it was not until today that details of the storm were obtainable. Sunday night the mercury dropped to zero. The tornado originated in the vicinity of Orfordville, twelve miles west of Janesville, traveled that direction for several miles and then veered to the east, missing this city by but a few rods on the south, the one mile margin. Its force was at its height when it struck the championship hilton. The greatest damage done is said to be near the point of origin in Orfordville.

Many of the Schmidt family, residing within three-quarters of a mile from Hanover, there is only one survivor. He is Albert Schmidt, a 14-year-old boy. Physicians say he cannot recover. Alice Schmidt and her younger sister were in the house when the storm struck. Their bodies were blown across the road, the house being demolished.

TRAMP ESCAPES.

Anton Schmidt, father of Albert, and a tramp were in the barn. The tramp, who was not injured, says Schmidt was blown through the barn door. His body was found in the yard. The boy was buried in the debris and received internal injuries. Mrs. Elizabeth Proede, a bride of a few months, was instantly killed when the house was carried away. Her husband was in the barn and discovered the body after the storm passed.

Leo Lentz, 16 years old, was blown from a new barn which he was helping to build, six miles northeast of Hanover. His father, Theodore Lentz, who was also working on the barn, was uninjured.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED.

Near Milton there was one death, Helen Austin, 5 years old, daughter of Alfred Austin, a farmer. Three others were in the house when the tornado struck it. Mrs. Austin was seriously injured but physicians say she will recover. Her sister, Miss Elizabeth Stone, was also badly hurt. Helen's sister, Florence, was badly bruised and her collar bone was broken. The house, a new barn and a garage were smashed to kindling wood.

At the Douglas farm a buggy was carried against a tree and bent about the trunk, where it hung, the rim of one hind wheel encircling the front axle.

FREAKS OF STORM.

At the home of William Little, a six-by-six timber was driven through a cow.

At the Schmidt farm a hog was cut in two by a plow. At this place a cook stove was carried to an adjoining field, where it was deposited right side up, apparently undamaged.

Two miles north of Janesville a house and part of a barn were carried into Rock River. All telephone and telegraph poles in the path of the storm were snapped off and wires stretched along the roads.

THE RICHESON CASE.

Boston Minister Will Appear in Court This Morning for Arraignment on Charge of Murder.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The case of the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson will be called in the Supreme Court tomorrow for arraignment on the charge of murdering Avis Linnell, the music student. It is understood the pleadings to be made by the defense may postpone the arraignment for some time, however. What these pleadings are cannot be learned, but they are said to be directed at the indictment.

Preliminary to the other motions of the defense, it is understood Lawyer W. A. Morse will file a pleading that the defense be furnished a list of the witnesses before the grand jury, a copy of the autopsy report, a copy of the report of Prof. Whitney's analytical test of the contents of the viscera taken from the young woman's body and a copy of the stenographic notes taken at the grand jury proceedings.

A plea will be introduced, it is understood, setting forth that the indictment is not perfect because it does not clearly set out the offense of the prisoner within the rules of the law. Exceptions also will be filed, it is stated, to the procedure of the medical examiner in performing the second autopsy without allowing a representative of the defense to be present.

Today's record is a drop of 61 degs. in nineteen hours.

Still retining its icy grip upon all the territory covered in the West, Northwest and Middle West, the storm is rapidly moving east and south, and will hit the Atlantic and Gulf Coast tomorrow morning. It is said freezing weather is scheduled for all the Gulf Coast country, which means the destruction of vast fields of early vegetable sand much of the fruit crop. It also will be a remindefr from home of many tourists who have already taken cottages more or less in the "Sunny South."

ONE STORM PASSES AND ANOTHER MAKES BOW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 12.—The storm which held the Pacific Northwest in its grip all of last week had barely passed on to the Middle West when another disturbance began to make itself manifest today off the north coast. The forerunner of the second storm was felt along the Washington and British Columbia coasts when a sudden gale sprang up from the southwest and for a time threatened to play havoc with shipping. The gale lasted only a short time, but it caused much uneasiness.

The weather bureau announced that today's brief gale was the beginning of a storm which was moving toward the Coast from the northwest and is expected to strike the Puget Sound country early tomorrow morning.

Trains from the East are arriving from three to six hours late. The depth of the snow varies in the mountain sections, the Northern Pacific reporting two feet at Stampede Tunnel, while the Great Northern has six feet of snow along its line.

TWO DEAD, SEVEN HURT IN ILLINOIS CYCLONE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EASTON (Ill.) Nov. 12.—Two were killed and seven seriously injured in a storm which struck Easton, Ill., last night, tearing away telegraph and telephone wires and leaving the tragedy of the storm untold to the world until tonight.

The dead:

INFANT CHILD of Mr. and Mrs. James Prater, body found 100 yards from the home, which was demolished.

MRS. ALLIE HENEGAR, 75 years old, died of fright when her home collapsed.

The Prater home was the only one in town which was much damaged. The Prater baby was hurled against a tree. All other members of the family were injured.

Farmhouses and barns in the country were toppled over and here the others were injured.

RAGING GALE SWEEPS PORTLAND (ORE.) REGION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A raging gale has swept the northwest today, accompanied by fierce rain storms at intervals. Creeks and rivers are everywhere rising rapidly. Seacoast points report extensive damage of a minor character. Coos Bay is entirely cut off from communication by telegraph and telephone. Astoria reports all vessels bar-bound except the Washington, which had no sooner proceeded to sea than she piled up on Peacock Spit. Snow is melting fast in all Williamette Valley districts, but is still falling east of the Cascades.

BARGE AND CREW IN DISTRESS ON SEABOARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—A wireless message from the steamship Howard says she is standing by a barge in distress off Fire Island with a crew of fourteen men on board. The barge is in bad shape and urgently needs assistance, which it has been impossible to give.

The steamer Howard, after her master learned that assistance was on the way from New York, proceeded on her voyage. Capt. Chase of the Howard sent a wireless message saying he ordered a boat to the rescue, but, on account of the heavy sea, no headway could be made, and he gave up the effort.

The revenue cutter Mohawk, which started to the assistance of the imperiled craft, reported by wireless on her way out that weather conditions were growing worse.

NORTHWEST BLANKETED BY HEAVY SNOWFALL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SPOKANE (Wash.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Snow which began falling before midnight Saturday has been piling up all day Sunday and Sunday night until at 10 p.m. more than six inches on the level covered the ground in Spokane. In the country as much as three feet has fallen, and it is feared the stock, which is grazing, will suffer severely unless a thaw, which is now threatened, occurs. In the Coeur d'Alenes in Idaho the second big snowstorm of the season began today. The snowfall is general all over the inland empire.

More than a foot of snow now stands on the ground at Wallace, Idaho. More than four feet has now collected on the hills near the Idaho-Montana divide.

Twelve inches of snow fell in eighteen hours at Deer Park today, and the storm continues. The snow is drifting.

It is reported that three feet of snow has fallen at Fan Lake in three days. Eighteen inches fell there in eighteen hours. This is the heaviest snow for this time of year known to pioneers of the district, who say the fall is more than three weeks early.

Trains from the West are delayed by snow in the Cascades.

Street car service in Spokane is crippled worse than at any time in five years.

PREDICTION IS MADE FOR FATHER STORMS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—A touch of winter will be felt over practically the entire country this week and there will be many sudden changes in the weather, according to weekly forecast issued by the weather bureau tonight.

"The coming week," says the bulletin, "will be one of pronounced weather changes and low temperatures over practically the entire country. The cold wave that now covers the Middle West will advance rapidly eastward and give the lowest temperatures of the season.

An extensive disturbance that is now off the North Pacific Coast will advance slowly eastward and be attended the first part of the week by stormy weather in the North Pacific States. It will cross the Rocky Mountains Tuesday, the Middle West Wednesday or Thursday and the eastern States the latter part of the week. This disturbance will be preceded by a general change to warmer weather, and will be attended by rains in southern and rains and snows in northern districts, and will be followed by a change to colder weather over the northern half of the country.

THE NEW YORK STRIKE.

At the Present Rate of Accumulation There'll Soon Be Skyscrapers of Garbage There.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—New York's streets have become so littered with garbage as the result of the street cleaners' strike that Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards will begin tomorrow to use disinfectant.

Rain, which is falling, tonight, is expected to flush much of the refuse away, but it was apparent that it was accummulating faster than the force of independent workers was able to remove it. Summer-like mildness today did much toward rendering decaying piles more menacing.

As a result of defection, both from the ranks of employees who had remained loyal, and from the independent workers, there were 150 fewer men at work today than yesterday. Although protected by squads of police, practically every cavalcade of garbage wagons that left the stables was soon surrounded by mobs. Hoots and jeers were followed by showers of stones, bottles and other missiles.

IMPERIAL TROOPS BOMBARD HAN YANG.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEKING, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The imperialist troops are today bombarding Han Yang. The rebel commanders at Wu Chang, who have been negotiating for terms with Gen. Chang, the loyalist chief, are said to be ready to go over to the government forces at Tien Tsin.

At a secret meeting of the National Assembly held here today it was resolved to ask the provisional assemblies to each send two delegates to the National Assembly and to provide for an early opening of Parliament. The Assembly also demanded capital punishment for those responsible for the Hankow massacres.

The Empress Dowager today contributed $6,000 ta-els to aid in the payment of the imperial troops.

Renewed reports of fierce fighting at Nanking have been received here. The city is said to be in flames.

The arrival of Yuan Shi Kai, who is expected to reach here on Tuesday, is eagerly awaited by all parties.

MANCHUS ABANDON TEN KILOMETER STATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HANKOW, Nov. 10. (Delayed in transmission.)—The imperialists have bombarded Wu Chang without noticeable effect. They have practically abandoned Ten-Kilometer Station because of the effective shooting of the insurgents. Otherwise, conditions are pacific here, except for occasional "sniping."

Yuan Shi Kai, in writing to Gen. Li Yuen Heng, the rebel leader, setting forth terms for a settlement, has expressed dissatisfaction with the government at Peking. He urged acceptance of the constitution with a limited monarchy and asked that the Emperor be given an opportunity to prove the sincerity of his promises for reforms.

MARTIAL LAW IN NANKING NOW.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A dispatch to a London news agency from Nanking says martial law has been proclaimed there. Gen. Chang Jen Chung, the viceroy, is executing all suspects, including some of his own men, and is enlisting numbers of roughs. The rebels have retired to their nearest camp, fifteen miles distant. The government troops are bringing up artillery to attack them, but are respecting the neutrality of the railroad. Food supplies in Nanking are becoming exhausted. A Tien Tsin dispatch to the same agency says that Shantung province declared its independence on Friday, the government officials taking office under the new regime. One of the first acts of the new government will be the removal of import duties and the imposition of a heavier export duty on cereals. The Declaration of Independence was precipitated through the action of the Governor, Sun Pao Chi, in trying to raise a loan of three million taels through a German bank to replenish the treasury.

Advices from Wu Chang say the rebel leaders there hope to arrange a general peace soon.

The Peking correspondent of the Daily Telegraph represents the dynasty as being in an improved position. Recruiting among the young bannermen of the three wings, Manchu, Mongol and Chinese, has commenced on a formidable scale under the supervision of Prince Tsai Tao. The plan would give a potential reserve army at Peking of 80,000 men.

The loss of its arsenals does not hamper the government, because German firms at Peking are offering to supply the entire army with arms, ammunition and equipment on long credit. It is evident that a species of counter revolution has commenced, making the up-shot very doubtful.

TRIP OF CRUISERS TO CHINA DENIED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 12.—Rear Admiral Thomas in an interview today referred to current reports that the Pacific fleet was to be rushed to China, and said that he had received no orders to change his present programme for continuing target practice here up to the end of the present week and then leave for Honolulu. A wireless message from the admiral received tonight goes into details more fully. It says:

"Deny reports regarding trip to China. We go to Honolulu, but by way of San Francisco. Latest orders are to return to the Pacific Coast by January 15. We leave here for San Francisco Saturday after the arrival of the British cruisers Algerine and that day, and whose arrival the fleet is that day, and whose arrival the fleet is ordered to await. The torpedo flotilla will leave here for Mare Island December 13 to remain there until January 30 for routine repair period."

THOUSANDS FLEE FROM THE CAPITAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TIEN TSIN, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The flight of thousands from Peking is still on. The declaration of independence of Shan Tung was precipitated by the action of Gov. Sun Paochi, formerly Minister to France, in attempting to negotiatiate a loan of 3,000,000 ta-els through the German bank, to replenish the treasury and pay the arrears of salaries to all imperial officials.

Second Trial for His Life.

YREKA (Cal.) Nov. 12.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Tomorrow, for the second time since he is alleged to have shot and killed Harry Rhyne at McCloud last August, Elmer Mitchell will face a jury in a battle for his life. Mitchell is little over 20 years of age, and many who saw him in the court room at the time of his first trial thought that he was younger. Mitchell was tried on October 5 last, but the jury failed to agree. On the evening of August 6 Harry Rhyne, foreman in a box factory at McCloud, was shot and killed by Mitchell, because Rhyne had admonished Mitchell for using language in the hearing of women.

MRS. VERMILYA'S MOVES KEEP POLICE ON ALERT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Louisa Vermilya, alleged prisoner, made a move today which Capt. Harding regards as an indication she wants to go away and remain for a long time.

She surrendered the lease to her apartment and ordered the sale of all her household goods and the bulk of her personal property. Neither act, however, was entirely voluntary. The landlord demanded possession because of the publicity she has attracted to the premises.

She told attendants at the County Jail Hospital that the sacrifice of her personal belongings was necessary to raise funds for her defense.

Capt. Harding has had charge of the apartment since her arrest, and the landlord made several requests for the key. Instead of giving it to him, however, the police official turned it over to the prisoner's sister, Mrs. Herman Bucholz, who has decided to hold an auction sale.

Relic hunters, who have attempted repeatedly to break through the police guard, will undoubtedly appreciate the opportunity to bid.

Mrs. Vermilya, though still weak from her alleged attempt at suicide, was in a talkative mood today. She discussed the probability of her taking the witness stand at the inquest into the death of Policeman Arthur Bisonette, scheduled for next Friday. She is willing to ttestify.

Her change of attitude has caused hope to arise among the police that she might make admissions that will save them the trouble of welding a chain of circumstantial evidence.

Detectives will return tomorrow from Jackson, Mich., where they have investigated the deaths of John McDonald and Warren Thorp, first and second husbands of Mrs. Jane Quinn, now being held in the County Jail for the murder of her third spouse, John Quinn.

They will bring evidence which James Mooney believes will induce the State's attorney to order McDonald's body exhumed and examined.

SOUTH CAROLINA GOVERNOR PRAISES WORK OF MOB.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBIA (S. C.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Great indignation has been aroused throughout the State by a speech which Gov. Cole Blease delivered at Anderson yesterday, in which he lauded the mob that recently lynched a negro at Honeapath, S. C., for alleged assault on a white girl. Gov. Blease was addressing a gathering of about a thousand farmers, and, it is said, they were shocked by his open avowal of sympathy with the mob.

The mob was led by Joshua Ashley, who is a member of the Legislature. Gov. Blease said the mob did exactly what he expected and condoned it. "I would have been greatly disappointed."

The Governor went on to say that rather than to use the power of his office in deterring white men from "punishing that nigger brute," he would have "resigned the office and come to Honeopath and led the mob."

Gov. Blease's open avowal of sympathy with lynch law has given impetus to the movement already on foot to impeach him. It has been openly stated that when the Legislature meets, impeachment proceedings would be begun against the Governor because of his alleged connection with the "whisky ring," when he was State Senator in the dispensary days. His pro-lynching speech has made the feeling [illegible]

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Mary Adele Case Beam, the "Oregon song bird," is at present in New York, according to her sister, who lives with her mother in Oregon City.

When told of the telegram from San Francisco last night, the vocalist's sister said she had no comment to make; she did not wish to discuss the affair of her sister, and would neither confirm nor deny that either wife or husband Willard Metcalf Beam of Oakland, is seeking or planning a divorce.

"Yes, my sister is in New York doing some concert work," said Miss Case. "I don't know anything about Mr. Beam or their troubles."

Mr. Beam was in Portland about a year ago, and it was intimated then that differences had arisen between the couple. The contralto at that time arranged a concert for a Sunday afternoon in the Masonic Temple, and because the audience failed to materialize, Portland was denounced stormily by the singer as a city of ingrates.

At the time of the wedding, the husband was heralded here as a talented singer and it was reported the couple had mapped out an operatic career for the near future. Nothing was heard here after that of Mr. Beam's wonderful voice.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—J. C. ("Bud") Mars, aviator, is in Sacramento to finance an aeroplane flight of indeterminate length, with the main object the crossing of the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Mars recently met Robert G. Fowler, who failed to cross the Sierras in a Wright biplane, and gained valuable information from his rival. According to Mars, Fowler started at the wrong time, as the shifting air currents with which Fowler met are not present in the Sierras during early winter.

Mars hopes to fly from Sacramento to Reno Thanksgiving Day. The aviator formerly lived at Marysville, and his wife, who is with him here, is a San Francisco girl.

TO CARE FOR THE INSANE

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Southern California has been asking that the Governor call for a special session of the Legislature include the appropriation for erecting an additional hospital for the insane. The appropriation will be nearly a million dollars, so the Governor sent Clyde Seavey, member of the State Board of Control, to investigate. The hospital at Highlands was found to be caring for more patients than ever, due largely to the new law requiring inebriates and drug fiends to be sent to asylums. This condition said to be more or less true at all state hospitals at present. Seavey is ready to report his findings.

Mr. Beam was in Portland about a year ago, and it was intimated then that differences had arisen between the couple. The contralto at that time arranged a concert for a Sunday afternoon in the Masonic Temple, and because the audience failed to materialize, Portland was denounced stormily by the singer as a city of ingrates.

At the time of the wedding, the husband was heralded here as a talented singer and it was reported the couple had mapped out an operatic career for the near future. Nothing was heard here after that of Mr. Beam's wonderful voice.

"Bud" Mars Will Make a Shy at Crossing the Sierras in Aeroplane on Thanksgiving Day.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—J. C. ("Bud") Mars, aviator, is in Sacramento to finance an aeroplane flight of indeterminate length, with the chief object the crossing of the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Mars recently met Robert G. Fowler, who failed to cross the Sierras in a Wright biplane, and gained valuable information from his rival. According to Mars, Fowler started at the wrong time, as the shifting air currents with which Fowler met are not present in the Sierras during early winter.

Mars hopes to fly from Sacramento to Reno Thanksgiving Day. The aviator formerly lived at Marysville, and his wife, who is with him here, is a San Francisco girl.

MORE ROOM NEEDED.

TO CARE FOR THE INSANE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Southern California boosters are asking that the Governor call for a special session of the Legislature to include the appropriation for erecting an additional hospital for the insane. The appropriation will be nearly a million dollars, so the Governor and Clyde Seavey, member of the State Board of Control, to investigate. The hospital at Highlands was said to be caring for more patients than ever, due largely to the new law committing inebriates and drug fiends direct to asylums. This condition is said to be more or less true at all the hospitals at present. Seavey is due to report his findings.

VIEW WORK IN HARBORS.

Humphrey Will Report on San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Congressman Will E. Humphrey left today for California and will go to the national capital as soon as he has viewed the harbor improvement progress in San Francisco, San Diego and Los Angeles. Mr. Humphrey was authorized by the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors to investigate the California projects and make a report to the full committee when Congress reconvenes next month.

Summoned.

"JERRY" BURKE PASSES AWAY.

VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA IN HIS BERKELEY HOME.

Native of Illinois, Who Became Well-known Figure in the Railway and Political World in California as Right-hand Man to Southern Pacific's Legal Adviser.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BERKELEY (Cal.) Nov. 12.—Jeremiah T. Burke, for many years political agent of the Southern Pacific Railroad in this State, died today at his home here of pneumonia. Mr. Burke was stricken Wednesday last, but his physicians found no cause for alarm, and believed the attack to be a light one. Last night, however, he began to weaken, and his family was summoned.

"Jerry" Burke, as he was widely known, was the right hand man of William F. Herrin, chief of the Southern Pacific's legal staff, and was a familiar figure at State political conventions and sessions of the Legislature for many years.

Mr. Burke was born at Joliet, Ill., in 1859 and came to California thirty years ago.

Soon after his arrival he was appointed assistant secretary of the San Francisco Clearinghouse Association, a position which he held up to two or three years ago. He handled much of the banks' legal business, and in the '80s represented the Clearinghouse Association at the State Legislature.

His first identification with the railroad interests, in which connection he is most widely known, was in 1892, when he went to Los Angeles to take part in the reorganization of the electric street car lines of that city, San Francisco banks being heavily interested in the system. Later, on the death of O. A. Hale, he was made president of the San Jose Interurban Railroads and soon thereafter tax attorney for the Southern Pacific company. These two positions he held at the time of his death.

Mr. Burke was a member of the Board of School Directors of San Francisco in 1890, the only public office he ever held.

He was married nineteen years ago to Miss Elizabeth Burke of San Francisco, and is survived by a widow and seven children. He will be buried here Tuesday.

THREATENS TO KILL WIFE.

Wealthy Portland Man After Pointing His Rifle at an Officer Flees and Is Still at Large.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Armed with a rifle, Leon L. Vial, a wealthy business man of this city, proprietor of a grill and part owner of a business block at Sixth and Washington streets, last night threatened to kill his wife at their home, after she had concealed from him a butcher knife with which he had previously threatened her life. Mrs. Vial escaped to a neighbor's home where she notified the police and Patrolman Coulter was sent to her aid, but was repulsed at the door by Vial, who pointed the rifle at him.

While the patrolman was calling for help, Vial escaped and is now being sought.

Mrs. Vial, who is 22 years old and pretty, declares her husband has been threatening her life two or three times a week for some time.

Vial gained notoriety several years ago when he was sentenced to serve six years in the penitentiary for shooting Mrs. Martha Dumbleton when she interfered in a fight between Vial and his wife. He was pardoned after serving three years, but the victim has since been a helpless invalid.

After Vial was indicted for the shooting of Mrs. Dumbleton and was placed under $5000 bonds he fled to Paris, where he remained some time. Later he returned and gave himself up to the authorities. He is a brother of Dr. Arthur Vial and Paul Vial, well-known citizens of Portland.

COMPLAINTS OF CONVICTS.

California Prison Board Is Going to Inquire Whether or Not What They Say Is True.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Convicts released from Folsom have frequently complained to the Prison Board and to the Governor that cruelties are inflicted upon the men in that penitentiary. The list of punishments allowed to be inflicted includes more severe penalties than are allowed at San Quentin, but this probably is due to the fact that more and worse men are confined there.

The Prison Board is to look into the matter and ascertain if some of the more severe penalties are necessary, and also to see if penalties are inflicted that are not allowed by code.

Only a few weeks ago the Prison Board abolished the "hook" punishment. Prisoners ordered to the hook had both hands fastened and a hook placed in the bindings, by which the prisoner was pulled up until only his toes remained on the floor. In this position he would remain sometimes for more than an hour.

NEW UPRISING OF THE MOROS.

OUTBREAK IS REPORTED BY THE TRANSPORT LOGAN.

All the American Force on the Island of Mindanao Are Being Employed to Get the Natives Back to the Simple Life in the Philippines.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] News of a fresh outbreak among the Moros on the Island of Mindanao, was brought by the army transport Logan, which arrived today from the Philippines. According to those on the troopship, the trouble was of a serious character, and when the Logan left Manila it was understood that all the force on the island at the head of Gen. John J. Pershing had been sent to quell the natives.

The trouble grew out of the recent order that all the Moros give up their arms. Since the fall of Jekiri, the bandit chief, and his followers, who were killed in an engagement with government soldiers several months ago, the natives have been quiet and they were believed to be in a docile state until the uprising reported by the Logan. It is said, the Moros have been burning property and have slain a number of Americans.

One case reported was that of Ensign Hovey, who was murdered by Moros on the island of Basilan. Gunboats were ordered to the island with a force of marines to put an end to the outrages.

TOURIST TRAVEL INCREASES.

Sequoia and General Grant Parks Have the Finest Trees in California. Attract Visitors.

THREE RIVERS, Nov. 12.—Walter Fry, the acting supervisor of the Sequoia Park and General Grant Park, the homes of the largest trees left in California and containing some scenic features which excel even the famous Yosemite Valley, has just filed a report of the work of the government in the parks for the past year. In this report it is set forth that during the past year there has been a considerable increase in tourist travel to the national playgrounds, indicating that California people are at last awakening to the importance of these two reservations of the mountains.

It is reported that the total area of the two parks includes 172,165 acres, of which 92,160 acres are covered with merchantable timber. Of the remainder, 62,768 acres are wooded. There are 5680 acres of fine pasturage and there are 11,477 acres of desert lands.

This year there were 8327 visitors to the parks as against about 3000 last year, indicating the renewed interest. Under concessions from the government there are now two camps where stores are maintained and where campers can secure all necessary supplies. There are a number of good auto roads from various portions of the country, which connect with the main road to the parks. The roads run through a beautiful country and and for a portion of the distance into the park proper run within sight of some of the largest trees which remain standing in the world.

ELECT HENRY WATTERSON.

Louisville Editor Is President of a Press Club That Will Incorporate for Fifty Thousand.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Henry Watterson, editor of the Courier-Journal, was elected president of the Louisville Press Club this afternoon. It was only after much persuasion that the veteran editor allowed his name placed upon the ballot. He will take an active part in the administration of the club's affairs. It was the first meeting of the newly organized club.

A banquet recently tendered President Taft and his party by the newspaper men of Louisville caused the organization to be effected. The club will incorporate with a capitalization of $50,000.

CROSSES SEA TO WED.

Governor of Siberian Province Comes to Nome for Second Ceremony to Insure Property Rights.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fearing the marriage ceremony of the Greek Orthodox Church would not satisfy the legal requirements in the settlement of an estate in Germany of which he is heir, Baron Von Kleist, chief executive of the province of Anadir, East Siberia, crossed 140 miles to Nome in his government patrol boat last month and had a second ceremony performed by the Rev. Baldwin of the Federated Methodist and Congregational churches of Nome.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Darling of Berkeley, now en route home, were among the guests of the wedding and say it was an elaborate affair, in the residence of G. P. Goggin, a prominent Alaskan.

An incident of the visit was the reestablishment of cordial business relations between Russian traders and Nome, interruped two years ago through a customs dispute.

Angeleno Miss Penetrates Disguise of Man Posing as His Own Attorney and Has Him Pinched.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A nicely trimmed Vandyke beard and a heavy mustache on the youthful face of Harry Castagnet, a young restaurant cashier of Los Angeles, failed to prove a disguise from the girl who caused him to leave the Southland, when he visited her a few days ago, and declared himself to be his attorney. As a result sleuths were placed on his trail by the girl, and he was arrested last night at his apartment at No. 49 Duboce avenue.

A statutory charge was placed against Castagnet in Los Angeles several months ago by Miss Julia Hagerty, and he fled to this city. He grew a beard and mustache, and looked so different that he could hardly recognize his old photos.

Ten days ago Castagnet went to Los Angeles, and visited Miss Hagerty, introducing himself as his attorney. His offers of a monetary settlement were rejected, and ten minutes after he left the house, the girl had the Los Angeles police on his trail. He evaded them, but Detective Edward Burke, with the girl's description of Castagnet, arrested him as a fugitive from justice.

REVIVAL EXCITEMENT.

KILLS OREGON MINISTER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. H. L. Nave, of a small Presbyterian Church at Montavilla, died at the Gypsy Smith revival meeting this afternoon from heart failure, brought on by excitement. Rev. Mr. Nave had been in his usual health before the meeting, but had previously been subject to attacks of heart trouble. He took a very fervent interest in the revival and was keyed to a high pitch when suddenly, while the evangelist was exhorting, he fell over and expired.

CALIFORNIA DIVINE.

INJURED IN WASHINGTON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. G. E. Kalstead of Kingsbury, Cal., who was injured last night when a car of the Seattle-Everett Interurban Company struck him, is in a critical condition. He was taken to Noble Hospital. One leg was broken and he was bruised about the head and body. Mr. Kalstead came to Seattle Friday and was to have preached at the Swedish Methodist Church today. He is district superintendent of the Pacific Swedish Mission Conference. His family, a wife and two daughters, live at Kingsbury.

LOS ANGELES DEPUTY.

LOSES HIS PRISONER.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Deputy Sheriff L. D. Rich of Los Angeles reported to the police today that James E. McLaughlin, whom he was escorting to San Quentin penitentiary, escaped when the pair stopped in a saloon on the way to the ferry. When they stood before the bar McLaughlin, who was on his way to serve a three-year sentence for embezzlement, stepped across toward the lunch counter and a moment later darted out of a side door. Rich gave chase, but failed to overhaul his man and turned in a call for help to the local police. McLaughlin is still at large.

Woman Judge Decides.

VANCOUVER (Wash.) Nov. 12.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Miss Mildred Henthorne, the first woman in the State of Washington to occupy the office of Justice of the Peace, and who tried a case involving nearly $100 on Thursday, yesterday rendered her decision in favor of the plaintiff, giving him a judgment of $46 and costs of the action.

Bad Fire in Victoria.

VICTORIA, (B. C.) Nov. 12.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Fire tonight destroyed the interior of the four-story brick building of T. N. Hibben & Co., wholesale stationers, at No. 1122 Government street, entailing a loss of $100,000. The rooms of the Conservative Association and Native Sons, on the upper floor, were fire-swept, and the manuscripts, photographs and records of the British Columbia Pioneer Association were entirely destroyed.

Eleven Killed by Explosion.

SEATTLE, Nov. 12.—[By A. P. Night Wires.] Tokio papers brought by the Kumeric describe an explosion of powder in the drying-room building of the Meguro government arsenal, near Shinagawa, Tokio, October 31, which killed eleven men and destroyed much property.

Great Haul of Herring.

SEATTLE, Nov. 12.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The British Columbia herring output this year is valued at $2,000,000. The fish are salted, and most of them are sold in Japan and China, where the market is unlimited. Until recently the herring were considered of small value.

BOY BANDIT IN IRONS.

Youth Who Wrecked a Couple of Banks in Illinois Is En Route to Joliet Penitentiary.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CANTON (Ill.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Earl E. W. Butler, the boy bandit, banker and inventor, whose career wrecked two banks in Fulton and Peoria counties, with liabilities aggregating $100,000, passed through this city this afternoon handcuffed, en route from Lewiston, Ill., to the Joliet penitentiary, where he will serve from one to three years unless released on bond on a writ pending appeal to Supreme Court.

Following the denial of a new trial in Circuit Court and the refusal of Judge Waggoner to grant a stay, Butler decided this morning to resign to the inevitable, and told the Sheriff that if he must go to the penitentiary, the sooner a start were made the better.

HUNTING NEW EVIDENCE.

Burns Detectives Seek to Bring Pittsburgh Dynamite Cases Into the McNamara Trial Here.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Detectives of the Burns agency are busy in this district hunting evidence to be used in the McNamara trial at Los Angeles, following the discovery of dynamite at Beaver Falls and the resultant taking of Frank Eckhoff from Cincinnati to California.

The Burns men have been working in the vicinity of Monaca. Dynamite was also found in two suit cases which were concealed in the cellar of the Rochester Tumbler Works at Rochester, in September, and two men arrested about that time in Monach are supposed to have been Ortie McManigal and J. B. McNamara.

Chief of Police Crowley, who made the arrests, may be taken to California to testify. The Rochester Tumbler Works was also visited by the Burns men in search of further evidence.

Why

do 90 per cent of the owners of Gold Notes renew them instead of withdrawing their money?

Because

—they know their money is safe
—they receive six per cent interest —they can invest their money for as short a term as 90 days, or —they can leave it for 5 years
—they can invest as little as $100, or as much as $5000 with equal facility
—they are given ample security—ten dollars for one
—no investor has ever failed to have his money returned to him in full on demand if he wished it.

Put your surplus cash in a Gold Note for 90 days. You too will want to renew it.

CHICAGO BOASTS POLITICAL COUP.

Reports Its Capture of the Republican Convention.

Divulges Secret of How It Beat Kansas City.

And Tells How It Put One Over on Denver.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago will be the scene of the next Republican Presidential convention. The man who has assured this prize for the lake city is Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the National Republican Committee. Usually the decision as to the place for the holding convention is reported at the December meeting of the National committee prior to the campaign.

Mr. Upham, through a bit of strategy, has arranged for the convention here. Kansas City and Denver, which were preparing to contest with Chicago, and other eastern cities for the honor, lost the fight before it was begun. Mr. Upham sent a circular letter a few weeks ago to members of the national committee calling attention to the advantages of Chicago. He asked the committeemen to support a motion naming Chicago as the convention city. All but three of the committeemen have replied. Of the responses in hand three-fourths are favorable to Chicago, and consequently Kansas City and Denver will not have a "look in."

The committeemen who oppose Chicago object to the size of the convention hall here. They assert it is not large enough since it can accommodate only about 10,000 persons. Both Kansas City and Denver, on the other hand, have much larger halls. They have not, however, the hall accommodations this city possesses.

Only through a veto by President Taft can Chicago fail to get the convention. The President has been exceedingly careful, however, not to indicate any choice. He does not wish to antagonize any section by either saying where the convention shall go or where it shall not go. Consequently it may be fully expected that he will acquiesce in the decision of the committee. As the convention which nominated him was held in Chicago and whose nominations were ratified enthusiastically by these people, it seems quite likely he will be pleased to extend the compliment of the committee to visit this city here again.

Gifted Indiana Novelist and His Wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Booth Tarkington.

Of Indianapolis, who according to advices from the Hoosier capital may be reunited by friends. She has filed suit for divorce.

Silver Lining.

FRIENDS OF TARKINGTONS MAY REUNITE THE PAIR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Since the arrival of Booth Tarkington at his home in this city Thursday there have been rumors of attempts on the part of mutual friends to bring about an adjustment of the trouble between him and Mrs. Tarkington and negotiations are now in progress to that end.

It was expected to set the divorce case of Mrs. Tarkington for trial on the day following his arrival, but her attorneys said tonight the day of the trial has not been fixed and they could not say until Thursday, probably, what day it would be tried.

This indecision on the part of Mrs. Tarkington's attorney is believed to be the result of efforts of friends to bring about a reconciliation.

Tarkington has refused to discuss his domestic affairs with any of the friends here and the negotiations are being carried on by the relatives of the two families.

Friends are hopeful that there may be such a settlement as will result in a withdrawal of the divorce suit and the reuniting of the husband and wife.

It is said Tarkington has informed his wife's brother he will lay no claim to anything that she may desire to take to her own home.

THIRTY LIVES IN JEOPARDY.

STEAM SCHOONER IN DISTRESS AT PEACOCK SPIT.

Whether the Boat Is Riding at Anchor or Has Hit Land Cannot Be Determined Owing to the Rough Weather Off the Oregon Coast.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASTORIA (Or.) Nov. 13.—The steam schooner Washington, Capt. Winkel, lumber-laden, from Portland to San Francisco, is in a precarious position tonight near Peacock Spit, off Cape Disappointment, and just inside the Columbia River Bar. It is not known whether the Washington is ashore on the spit or lying crippled in the rough water.

Shipping men express grave fears that all on board, said to be thirty passengers, in addition to a crew of twenty, will be lost.

Capt. George H. Bailey of the bar tug Tatoosh, saw the Washington in trouble late today, and tried to get in close enough to render assistance. The rough water drove the tug back.

The Ft. Canby life-saving crew made several attempts to get a line aboard the Washington, but without avail. When darkness set in, further effort on the part of the life savers, was regarded utterly useless, as well as reckless exposure to danger, and their efforts were discontinued for the night. Another attempt will be made at daybreak provided the ebb tide does not break the Washington up before.

Marine men here say practically the only hope the vessel has is that she will swing around at ebb tide tonight, and work ashore on North Beach. This is considered very unlikely.

The Washington sailed from Portland Saturday night, and left here early today. She carried about 500,000 feet of lumber, a large part of which has broken away and floated ashore.

OWNER'S STATEMENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 12.—Oliver J. Olson of the shipping firm of Olson & Mahony, owners of the steam schooner Washington, said tonight that the Washington was equipped to carry twenty-four passengers, and was manned by a crew of twenty men, under command of Capt. George Winkel. She is of 347 tons net register, and and is one of the coast lumber fleet, plying between Columbia River points and California ports.

TWENTY-FIVE ABOARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 12.—A member of the family of Frank Bollam, local agent of Olson & Mahony, owners of the steam schooner Washington, stated to the Associated Press over the telephone that there were about twenty-five passengers on the Washington when she sailed from here. Mr. Bollam is absent from home.

A message received late tonight from Ft. Stevens states that tugs are standing by the steamer Washington and that the beach between Canby and North Head is being patrolled. The Washington is said to be in a very precarious condition. The pilot who brought the Washington down the river from Portland states that there are several women on board. The crew numbers fifteen.

SAILED FROM PORTLAND.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 13.—The steamer Washington sailed from Portland Saturday night with twenty-five passengers, including two women, Mrs. Fullmore of this city and Mrs. F. B. Pangle, who was accompanied by her husband and son, H. R. Pangle, 14 years of age. The steamer was sold by the Fowler interests of Seattle to the Olson and Mahoney Steamship Company of San Francisco last May, and is on her eleventh voyage under that flag on the Portland-San Francisco run. The Washington carries a crew of twenty-four, making a total of forty-nine persons on board. Formerly the steamer accommodated thirty-six passengers, but the number was cut down when the government wireless act became effective, making it compulsory for vessels having a combined passenger and crew list of fifty to be equipped with wireless.

HEAVY SEA ROLLING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ASTORIA (Or.) Nov. 13.—It was reported at 12 o'clock tonight that the Washington was shifting to the northward, slowly. If this is the case, a stiff breeze from the southwest will put her on North Beach. The sea is breaking high on the bar tonight and it is predicted the wind will increase before dawn. Capt. Stuart of the life-saving crew reported that the Washington had anchor chains out fore and aft, using kedge anchors but these seem to be of little use. Capt. Stuart and crew will make an attempt to rescue passengers and crew early tomorrow, but it is not thought that he will meet with success against the sea rolling in over the spit.

Those who sailed from Portland on the Washington Saturday night were: Mrs. Fullmore, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Pangle; H. S. Pangle, 14 years old, Coleman Duell; J. H. Stanners, M. J. Grattinger, J. W. Gillespie, J. Doyle, Alaska; J. H. Eastabrook; Ed Nelson, A. L. Smith, Charles W. Wright, A. E. Kendall, M. D. Van Horn, Theodore Curd, Wallace Warren, Earl Young, Edwin J. Williams, Martin Branty, M. McVittie, R. E. Ross, L. R. McCoy, Ed Wade and John West.

SAYS FAREWELL TO THE PEOPLE.

ARCHBISHOP FARLEY LEAVES FOR ROME TODAY.

Tells Congregation of St. Patrick's Church in New York Pope Has Shown Affection for America by Making Three Residents of the United States Cardinals.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There was a great throng at St. Patrick's Cathedral today to hear Archbishop Farley speak words of farewell before his departure tomorrow morning for Rome, where he is to be made a cardinal on November 27.

"It is not my humble person," said the archbishop in his sermon, "that has been especially honored by this striking proof of the affection of the holy father, but the people of the city and State of New York, and it is not one section or person in the country, but it is the whole nation that has been honored by the elevation of three residents of the United States to the cardinalate. This is not my view, alone, but the view of the entire press of the country, and especially that of our city and of hundreds of persons prominent in public life."

At 8 a.m. tomorrow prayers will be offered at the cathedral by 7000 school children for the safe return of the archbishop. At 9:45 he will set out, accompanied by the diocesan consultors and vicars-general for the dock of the Kron Prinsessin Cecille which is scheduled to sail at 10:30.

Do You Enjoy Your Meals?

One of the Most Important Questions to Consider in the Search for Happiness and Health.

The burning question to you is, "Are you getting out of life all the pleasure and the health you are entitled to? If not, why not?

No matter whether every organ and member of your body is in a sound state of health and strength, if your stomach is in any way disordered, you are not going to be "yourself." You are going to be a worried, out-of-sorts, nervous or sullen individual, whose actions will reflect your condition inside, and people will naturally avoid you.

The world wants to smile and be cheerful, and unless you are cheerful and smile, at least, occasionally, you will have few friends, fewer opportunities, no success, and you will go down in defeat—defeated by dyspepsia and a bad stomach.

A good and thorough digestion has a quick, wonderful reaction upon the brain. You must have noticed it many times, for the brain and stomach are as intimately connected as a needle and its thread, one can hardly be used to advantage without the other. If your stomach is slow and lazy in digesting your food, it will produce at once a slow, lazy and cloudy influence upon your brain. Mark it! If your stomach has absolutely quit work, and fermentation is poisoning your vitals as a result, surely your brain is going to be sluggish and correspondingly depressed. No one need tell you that.

But why continue to suffer all the miseries and torments that a disordered stomach brings you?

If your stomach can not digest your food, what will? Where's the relief? Where's the cure?

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the relief and the cure. Why? Because, as all stomach troubles arise from indigestion and because one ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is able to thoroughly and completely digest 3000 grains of any kind of food, doesn't it stand to reason that these little Dyspepsia Tablets are going to digest all the food and whatever food you put into your stomach? Science nowadays can digest food without having to use the stomach for it. And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the result of this scientific discovery. They digest and digest thoroughly and well anything and everything you eat.

So, if your stomach refuses to work or can't work, and you suffer from eructations, bloat, brash, fermentation, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn, irritation, indigestion, or dyspepsia of whatever form, just take one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and see the difference. It doesn't cost you much to prove it. Then you can eat till you want, what you want, whenever you want, if you use these tablets, and you can look the whole world in the face with a beaming eye and you will have a cheerful spirit, a pleasant face, a vigorous body and a clear mind and memory and everything will look and taste delicious to you. That's life.

Get Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store on earth for 50c a box.

Send us your name and address today and we will at once send you by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

THE MYSTERY OF KIMMEL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12.—Was George A. Kimmel, the missing Kansas City banker, assassinated thirteen years ago in the wilds of British Columbia? Attorneys for Kimmel's sister say they have found a man who will testify that he was present when the banker was shot down in the woods. He says he killed the assassin and then buried his body and Kimmel's in the same grave. In a signed statement, the man says Kimmel was decoyed to Canada by a man who asserted he knew where $40,000 in gold, taken from a Vancouver bank, had been hidden by robbers. The statement was given to Frederick H. Bacon of St. Louis and submitted by him to Grant I. Rosenzweig of Kansas City, both attorneys for Kimmel's sister, who is suing for the payment of $30,000 insurance on her brother's life.

Victim in Serious Condit in Pendleton, Or.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PENDLETON (Or.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Flushed with fever, weak and suffering, not only at times, but with her spirit broken, Mabel Young Warner has been lying in a serious condition at her home in this city for the past four days, the result of an alleged attack upon her last Tuesday night by a man she and her husband proved to believe, was in the employ of her whom she has battled for six years for the estate of James W. Young, deceased. This sensational incident in the famous Warner-Young case has been carefully guarded by officials, but the facts leaked out today.

According to the story told by Mrs. Warner, an unknown powerful man entered her home late at night, while her husband was away, and beat and choked her into insensibility. The house was found to have been ransacked. Mrs. Warner declares an attempt to kill her was made for the purpose of stealing papers bearing on her will case.

Mrs. Warner is now under indictment, charged with forging a will in the Young estate, which purposes to give her all of the property. She was tried on a similar charge, both juries disagreeing. Five of these "wills" have appeared, and all but one of them is in favor of Mrs. Warner.

Governor of Maine Awakens to Have Still Another Vote on the Liquor Question.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

AUGUSTA (Me.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Plaisted of Maine wants another vote on the liquor question, which nearly overturned the State at the last election.

"My proposition," says the Governor, "is to call a special session of the Legislature to vote on giving the people of the whole State the referendum on the advisability of local option. No healthy or permanent expansion can be made by the State until this eternal liquor question is settled. I believe in temperance, but I am with 50,000 voters of the State, intensely opposed to the present flagrant nullification of the liquor law. Statistics show that during this year over one thousand Maine residents held United States liquor licenses authorizing them to carry on a retail liquor trade. My referendum would be a submission to popular vote of a constitutional amendment providing that the present prohibitory or fifth amendment should not apply to cities and towns having more than a stated population, probably 5000.

"Nineteen of the twenty cities in Maine last September gave a heavy majority for the repeal of the prohibitory amendment, and these cities should have the privilege of regulating the liquor business within their borders."

Ventures the Guess that She Is a Socialist Since She Sang Before a Crowd of Factory Girls in England Who Later Sent Her a Wireless Message of Thanks.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After battling for days with contrary waves and high winds, which made the voyage most disagreeable for hundreds of passengers, the steamship Amerika came in today.

Mme. Tetrazzini, the prima donna, was among the first-cabin passengers.

"Engaged to Caruso? Never!" exclaimed Mme. Tetrazzini, making the sign of the cross over her heart.

She sang at Blankenbergh, Belgium, and at Ostend, she said. There were one thousand Americans at Ostend to hear her.

"I'll say nothing about Mr. Hammerstein, not a word," said the prima donna. She added that she had sung before hundreds of factory girls at Hayes, Eng., and had received a wireless dispatch from them, thanking her.

"So I guess I'm a Socialist now," she said laughing.

Several rings and a diamond bracelet were lost on board the steamship. Paul Des Vernine lost a wallet containing $7000 in bills, which were found by Herman Ohrt, a lawyer, and returned to the owner.

Lady Allen lost a ruby ring of great value, and it was picked up and returned to her by Edward Kottwitz. Miss Hattie Forsythe dropped a bracelet set with diamonds, and this was also returned to her by Mr. Kottwitz, the finder.

Mrs. A. S. Waterman, better known as Miss Cissy Loftus, the actress, arrived on the Caronia with her 11 months old baby.

He is ready to resume his flight as soon as the car is furnished, which probably will be tomorrow.

Congregational Minister Who Has Accepted a Call to Oakland, Cal., Speaks His Mind Right Out in Meeting on the Occasion of His Farewell Sermon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW BRITAIN (Ct.) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Rev. Herbert A. Jump, who leaves tomorrow for Oakland, Cal., to become pastor of the fifth largest Congregational church in the country, delivered his valedictory today in the South Church, the second largest Congregational church in New England.

"I have tried to preach and live the gospel of ministering to Christ so the community would know I believed in it," he said. "If I have succeeded words and deeds should have helped a few people, some inside and some outside of the church, to think of their Master more affectionately.

"As I have proclaimed my message some of you have not agreed with it. In particular some of you who have held office in our church have not agreed with me. I wish I might have won you over to my point of view, but I fear this is too much to expect. Whenever a church cares more for respectability than for humble services, when it is prouder of its organ and browastone front than it is of the poor people who seek its pews for worship, whenever it regards itself a polite religious club, with its clergyman an errand boy to do its bidding rather than a regiment marching into battle with its minister leading the charge, then its days are numbered and the Lord will sooner or later cast out that church as an unprofitable servant.

"Whether this is true of your own church or any group of persons in it you can judge better than I."

During the sermon some of the most prominent members of the congregation walked out.

The Rev. Mr. Jump is one of the best-known Congregational ministers in New England and is known as the "College preacher."

To Prevent Violence One Way or the Other the Man With the Monocle Was Gently Escorted to the Door by Officer of the Ethical Society.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Basanta Koomar Roy, formerly of Bombay University, now of the University of Wisconsin, aroused the wrath of loyal Englishmen in his audience when he spoke before the Chicago Ethical Society, in Handel Hall, on "The Awakening of India."

Mr. Roy traced his country's fall from ancient glory and wealth to present misery at the door of England.

When the meeting was over, an elderly man with white hair, florid face, wearing a tweed suit and a monocle, went forward. Walking to Mr. Roy, he waved his arms excitedly, declaring the statements untrue, speaking loudly and acting so threateningly that T. W. Allison, who presided, escorted him out of the hall.

"It's an insult to a great country," was the Englishman's parting shot.

"England is worse than Russia, but the people know nothing about it," Mr. Roy declared in his speech. "The truth about the English occupation of India is not written in the histories.

"Before English rule, there was a school in every village. India had technical schools to teach artisans. Now only one village in five has a school; four men out of five cannot write, and only one woman in 200 can write. That is what 150 years of British rule has done for India. India has learned to suffer, and, through our suffering we shall conquer. England, with its guns and ships, shall not stop us."

NEGRO THERE; SOUTHRON GOES.

FORMER SENATOR MONEY SUDDENLY GETS NEURALGIA.

Spectacle of the Colored Man With His Legs Under the Table at Which Mississippian Had Been Invited to Eat Causes Him to Change His Mind.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Hernando D. Money, former Senator from Mississippi and one of the four members of the National Monetary Commission, in attendance at the banquet last night by the Western Economic Society in the Auditorium Hotel, hurried from the speaker's table a few minutes after the banqueters were seated.

Mr. Money's departure caused much comment. One story was that when the former Mississippi Senator saw a negro sitting directly in front of him he grew angry and demanded to know why.

When told the man was a member of the society, Mr. Money left.

When seen in his room four floors below the banquet hall an hour later, Mr. Money said he had left the banquet because he was troubled with neuralgia.

"It is rumored in the banquet hall that you went because of the presence of the colored man," was suggested.

"I refuse to be cross-examined on that topic."

The name of the negro could not be learned today.

Prof. Marshall, secretary of the society, said the man was not a member of the society and probably was a guest of one of the members.

FRESNO VALLEY

20 Acres, Plowed A Real "SNAP"

I sell this bargain a "snap" not only because the price is low—but because the terms are unusually easy—and because the land is a true bargain—an absolutely SAFE "buy." With ordinary common-sense and a little industry this place can be made a splendid profit-winner. Land is located near Fresno, right close to stations on two railways and a good town. Put this place into alfalfa and it will bring you a quick, sure profit. It's fine for oranges, for peaches, apricots, and other deciduous fruits — for vegetables and berries — or would make a fine poultry ranch or small dairy proposition. The land is already plowed, and the price is only $120 an acre. Pay a little cash and the balance during four years' time. I will help you make your improvements by giving you the following discounts from the purchase price, namely: 1—$5 PER ACRE if, within one year from date of purchase, you build a substantial residence costing not less than $1000, on your land and occupy it as a home. 2—$10 for every acre you sow to alfalfa, and from which you produce a marketable crop WITHIN THREE YEARS from date of purchase. 3—$10 for every acre of growing GRAPE VINES, one year or more of age, WITHIN THREE YEARS from date of purchase. 4—$15 for every acre of one year old growing orchard WITHIN THREE YEARS from date of purchase.

Should you sell your land in the meantime, the premiums will pass to the new owner as fully as if he or she had been the original purchaser.

Sunlight grows the Hops But will ruin the Brew

Many Americans prefer beer in a light bottle.

Most brewers follow the course of least resistance.

Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass gives protection against light.

Schlitz is sold in brown bottles, to protect its purity from the brewery to your glass.

The first Schlitz was brewed in a hut over 60 years ago.

Now our agencies dot the earth. Our output exceeds a million barrels a year.

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

COMMITTEE MAKES REPORT.

Federated Men's Clubs of Pasadena Make Inquiry.

Vigorous Views on Arrangement of Arroyo Park.

Wild Woods With a Few Trails Wanted.

[Office of The Times, 32 S. Fair Oaks Ave.]

PASADENA, Nov. 12.—Out of door schools, the conversion of the Arroyo Seco into a city park, as proposed, the establishment of a public rest room, various suggestions as to social and civic betterment, the adoption of a more stringent liquor ordinance and numerous philanthropic recommendations are among the subjects dealt with in the report of the special inquiry committee of the Federated Men's Clubs of the city, which was made yesterday at a meeting held at the Young Men's Christian Association building.

This committee has been at work for over a year seeking out ways and means of improving the welfare of the city and the report will probably be followed up with an attempt to secure the desired legislation. The members of the committee are Rev. Albert Hatcher Smith, chairman; Dr. Webster Merrifield, W. S. Harbert, A. L. Hamilton and C. E. Earle.

In regard to the open-air schools the report states in part:

"Every one in California knows that open air sleeping is more restful and invigorating than indoor sleeping and it is reasonable to suppose that open air school sessions in fair weather would prove more profitable than those conducted indoors."

That the Arroyo Seco, when it passes into the hands of the city of Pasadena, should remain one part of the city where the landscape gardener has no place, is another contention.

"It is doubtful," the report reads, "whether many citizens of Pasadena have any adequate appreciation of the splendid asset which the city possesses in the Arroyo. A thousand dollars spent yearly in the planting of young saplings in a thoroughly informal way throughout that portion of the arroyo lying within the city limits and in watering them for a year or two thereafter would yield such returns as could not possibly be realized by the city from any other civic investment.

"Even the priceless asset of the arroyo may easily be ruined by the selection of a landscape gardener so obtuse as not to see clearly that any conventional treatment of the arroyo would spoil it. What is wanted is an old-fashioned New England or Wisconsin woods with a few trails cut through it for pedestrians and equestrians and perhaps a single carriage drive meandering lengthwise through the arroyo and crossing the river bed at rare intervals on some sort of rustic bridge. What Pasadena sadly needs is an old-fashioned woods. A municipal bath-house is another thing that is asked for."

"The establishment of a municipal bath," it is declared, "preferably at the city playgrounds, is one of the most pressing needs that has been neglected, one that every boy or man, girl or woman will heartily endorse and thoroughly appreciate. It will encourage cleanliness among boys and girls from the homes of the improvident class."

Following is part of the section of the report bearing upon the temperance question:

"There is at present, we understand, an efficient special committee seeking the enactment of an ordinance relating to the liquor traffic of this city. The committee has prepared an ordinance which is now being considered by the City Council. The work of this committee should have the support and co-operation of the Federation. The far-reaching effect of this legislation cannot even be estimated, and every provision should be carefully considered. The promoters of this traffic could make this essentially home city a wide open town but could not openly advocate such an intention. Their methods are insidious and adroit, and if they follow the tactics pursued in other places will concentrate first on the privilege of selling to tourists and restaurants, and if posible to peddling from wagons."

CITY BRIEFS.

The franchise for the extension of the Washington street line will probably be granted at next Tuesday's session of the City Council.

Rev. A. J. Tillinghast last night at the First Universalist Church delivered the second of a series of Sunday Night lectures. His subject last night was, "Robert Louis Stevenson, Pioneer Health-man."

The Pasadena Ice Company is gaining control of the epidemic of flies which caused the destruction of many of its horses. The Humane Society, however, still keeps the water turned off at all public water troughs although no other case of the disease has been reported.

The Pacific Electric Company has taken the first steps toward abandonment of the old Columbia street, which franchise was revoked at the last session of the City Council.

RESOLD SEEKS A PARDON.

Man Convicted of Murdering Wife in Santa Monica Canyon Asks to Be Released.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 12.—The application of Anton Besold for parole from San Quentin, following close upon the heels of the stay of execution granted George Figueroa, recalls the only two murders of this beach in many years. Besold received a life term, having been convicted of the murder of his wife, Cladie, whose body was found four or five years ago by "Posey" Horton. The discovery was made while Horton was rambling through Temescal Canyon, a mile up the coast from Port Los Angeles. It was several months later that Besold was placed under arrest, his capture having been effected at Washington City. His trial and conviction quickly followed, but to this day he has continued to profess his innocence, although his wife, if alive, has failed to come forward as a witness in his behalf.

AWFUL DRUBBING.

It was an awful drubbing the local baseball team gave the Richardson & Holmes nine on the polo grounds diamond this afternoon. The score was 9 to 1. Both teams are of the Trolley League and the result of the contest today leaves Santa Monica in second place, she having lost but one game in a total of ten played. This was won by the Jay Riders, who occupy first position.

WOMAN DIES.

Louisa J, wife of John D. Pettit, died this morning at the family home on Thirteenth street near Arizona. Deceased, who was 68 years of age, had made her home here for two years. She was a native of Virginia. Besides a widower, she leaves a sister, Mrs. F. E. Kellar, of this city. The funeral will be conducted at 2:30 Monday afternoon at the Kirkelle parlors.

WILL IMPROVE THE SYSTEM.

Pomona Plans the Better Illumination of Its Highways and Byways. Ray Funeral Today.

POMONA, Nov. 12.—Arrangements are being made for the improvement of the street lighting system here. The Southern California Edison Company is changing street circuits, and will install a mercury rectifier at its central station on Second street for transforming alternating into direct current. This direct current will be used for twenty-six arc lamps, to be placed in the business district, and will be burned all night.

A new system of street incandescent lights will be installed and thirty-two-candle-power tungsten lamps will be substituted for the present sixteen-candle-power street incandescents.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The funeral of J. B. Ray, formerly proprietor of the Home Cafeteria, who died at the family home, No. 802 West Seventh street, yesterday afternoon, will be held from the First Methodist Church, of which the deceased was a member, tomorrow afternoon. Rev. L. D. van Arnam officiating. The members of the Woodmen of the World and Co. D, N.G.C., will attend the services in a body. The deceased was 42 years old, and is survived by a wife, a son and three daughters here, parents in Harpen, Kan., a brother in Hagan, Tex., and three sisters in Oklahoma.

A couple of automobiles containing jurors in the McNamara case visited here today, accompanied by deputy sheriffs and Juror Frank D. Green of No. 115 West Pasadena street, this city, was a guest at a family dinner at his own home under surveillance of one of the deputies.

Miss Clara Neely entertained at a musical recital at her home on North Park avenue yesterday, the guests being her musical pupils. Following the interesting programme, refreshments were served.

Tomorrow evening Pomona Council Royal and Select Masters will meet at Masonic Temple, when the officers of the Grand Council of the State will be present and conduct ceremonies attendant upon conferring the eighth, ninth and tenth degrees of the order. This work will be followed by a banquet in honor of the visiting officers and the candidates for the degrees.

TRUANTS' FRIEND TALKS.

H. B. Lickey of The Los Angeles School For Bad Boys Delivers An Address At South Pasadena.

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 12.— Marengo avenue school Parent-Teacher Association held a meeting recently in the principal's room. H. B. Lickey, of the Los Angeles school for truant boys, spoke on the subject of "The Boy." Special recitations were given by Martha Doerr, Dorothea Bennett and Master Sheffield. This Association will hold a reception next Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. David A. Vail, No. 1820 Spruce street. An interesting programme has been prepared, and a cordial invitation is extended to all fathers and mothers to attend.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Rev. C. A. Woody, representative of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, occupied the Baptist pulpit this morning, and presented the work of the Home Mission Society. At the evening service the pastor, Rev. J. W. Greathouse, preached the first of a series of sermons on Power. Others will follow with its source, channels, obstructions, application, price and agents, and with the significance of Christ's advent, during the present month and into December.

L. D. Lowry, City Tax Collector, reports that over $500 in checks has come into his hand in payment of city taxes, which are not due until tomorrow. All city taxes become delinquent the last Monday in January.

The trial of Warner versus City of South Pasadena, in which Warner demanded damages of $2900, claiming that he suffered to that extent from the breaking of a storm drain, which flooded his cellar, has been finished, and ordered submitted on briefs, and will be decided in about sixty days.

The local lodge of Masons has concluded not to lease the lodge rooms in the new Ong building, corner of Fair Oaks avenue and Mission street, as had been planned, and for the present will retain rooms in the Alexander building.

Long Beach.

BABY KIDNAPED BY ITS FATHER.

Dramatic Scene Enacted in Long Beach Streets.

Mother Clings to Automobile Carrying Child.

Will Begin Court Proceedings to Effect Recovery.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 12.—Mother love for her baby boy, who was being carried off by its father, caused Mrs. B. C. Prescott to be carried away also this morning and furnished an exciting episode. Carried through the streets of the city on the runningboard of a limousine, Mrs. Prescott's screams attracted attention and considerable excitement.

The father of the boy is B. C. Prescott, whose home is in Santa Monica. Four years ago he was wed in Nebraska to Miss Eunice Webster, and to them was born baby Donald, now aged two years. Their married life has not been happy recently and two weeks ago Mrs. Prescott left him and with her baby came to Long Beach to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Webster. Since then Prescott has made several visits here presumably to see the baby, of whom he is very fond, and who has been ill.

This morning he called on Mrs. Webster and seemed so anxious about the little one that she finally told him the baby and mother were visiting at the home of a sister, Mrs. I. E. Scott, on West Seventh street. He went there about 10 o'clock and after playing with the baby took it out on the front porch, accompanied by the mother and Mrs. Scott. Then he walked out to the lawn. At this moment Mrs. Scott was called into the house by burning meat and an instant later an auto drove up and with a dash Prescott was out of the yard and in the machine.

The mother startled, was only an instant behind him.

Mrs. Prescott clung to the runningboard and as the machine started up began to scream for help. She managed to climb into the seat beside the chauffeur and as they passed Tenth and Pacific avenue, she shouted to some passing boys to telephone police headquarters that a man was stealing the baby. Police were sent after the auto, but it had gone beyond the city limits.

At 5 o'clock this evening Mrs. Prescott returned. She is under the care of a physician, and unable to see anyone. It is learned, however, that Prescott carried her and the baby to Ocean Park, where his parents reside. It is probable some legal action will be taken tomorrow by Mrs. Prescott's parents.

NEW CHAPTER.

Application has been made to the Grand Chapter of the Eastern Star for permission to organize a new chapter in this city, jurisdiction of the Long Beach chapter having been waived in the matter. The request is made by E. P. Dewey and the required twenty non-affiliates. The new chapter, however, will start with a much larger charter list as a considerable faction of the old chapter will join the new lodge. The reason for the new chapter is the large membership of the Long Beach chapter, which at present numbers 375. At the last meeting of Long Beach chapter officers elected were: Mrs. W. A. Tucker, Worthy Matron; Dr. W. J. Cook, Worthy Patron; Mrs. C. L. Hoover, Associate Matron; Mrs. Gertrude Snyder, Secretary; Mrs. Toothaker, Treasurer; Mrs. E. M. McClintock, Conductress and Mrs. Forrest Whittaker, Associate Conductress.

NEWS BRIEFS.

George H. Bixby contemplates improvements costing $10,000 at Los Cerritos. He is going to plant 10,000 trees, using acacias, blue gum and other varieties and border the driveways with them. The frontage in the vicinity of El Rodeo clubhouse is to be prettily parked according to plans drawn by a San Francisco landscape gardener.

Rev. W. A. Watts, for two years pastor of the local Methodist Church South, has gone to Miller, Cal., and the pulpit today was occupied by the new pastor, Rev. J. M. Mobley, who comes here from the Georgia conference.

A rally of the Grand Army people will be held at the Auditorium Tuesday evening, at which plans will be presented for the proposed Memorial Hall which the old veterans intend to build in Long Beach. The plan will be presented by Rev. O. H. L. Mason, who is a Spanish War veteran. A programme of music and readings will be given.

Plans are being prepared for a modern theater building in Long Beach. The city has two theaters at present, but they are small and located on the strand. The promoters have a choice site selected on East First street and say the building to be erected will cost about $100,000. It will form one of a chain of playhouses to be operated by the Consolidated Amusement Company of Los Angeles.

While at play with other children Clifford Scovil, aged 5, fell and suffered the fracture of his right leg above the knee. The injury is so severe that the little fellow will be laid up for about six weeks.

In commemoration of the fifteenth anniversary of the club members of Ebell will celebrate tomorrow with a reception and luncheon at Hotel Virginia. Covers will be reserved for 150 guests. In the receiving line at the reception will be all the past presidents of the club except Mmes. Adelaide Tichenor and J. J. Penny, who are at present touring the world.

DANCE FOR SAILORS.

Algerine, the British Sloop of War, Excites Hospitable Feelings Among the San Pedro People.

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 12.—The baby man of war hooked on to the Catalina wharf at San Pedro, is cared for by seven officers and 105 men. It is run on different principles to the Oregon entirely and is quite a pretty sight. The Daughters of the Empire give a dance next Tuesday evening for the entertainment of the officers of the Algerine, the name of this minor British bulldog of the seas. The officers are also invited by the Cawston Ostrich Farm to visit that institution next week and be entertained with ostriches and tiffin.

A fraternal society, known as Sons of Saint George, have arranged to entertain sixty of the crew of the Algerine at a smoker on Monday evening. An uproarious, nautical time is anticipated.

Next Wednesday the Algerine moves South to the half-civilized tribes that inhabit South America, the object being to show the power of England to these people for there are some thirteen million English sov-reigns invested down there, so it is just as well occasionally to show a little force for the edification of these people.

WILD WEST'S LAST STAND.

Final Round-up at Praeger Park Tonight—Indian Girl and Cowboy to Wed at Venice.

After what the proprietors declare to be one of the most successful engagements of their world tour, the 101 Ranch Wild West Show will depart from Los Angeles after tonight's performance. The usual matinee will be held at 2 o'clock. The main tent was crowded to capacity at both performances yesterday. The aggregation, however, after completing its other Southern California engagements, will return and take up winter quarters at Venice.

When the big show goes into winter quarters a romance of many years' duration will come to a happy termination. Princess Winona, a full-blooded Sioux, and a graduate of Carlisle, will be married to Wayne Beasley, a cowboy.

The Indian girl and the cowboy met on "101 Ranch" in Northern Oklahoma. The girl is a protege of Joe Miller, the principal owner of the show, and she met Beasley when he first went to work as a cowboy on the ranch. Princess Winona is one of the principal attractions of the show. She is declared to be one of the foremost women marksmen in the world.

MANHOLES BLOWN OUT.

Explosion of Gas in Sewer Is Being Investigated—Window Panes Broken by Concussion.

An explosion of gas in a sewer at Seventh and Santa Fe streets yesterday morning blew the covers from seven manholes and broke windows in several buildings in the vicinity. Opinions differ as to whether the explosion was due to the ignition of illuminating gas which may have leaked into the sewer, or to sewer gas.

The seven manholes were lifted instantaneously and thrown about ten feet into the air, and flames burst from the vents. The concussion was deafening. No one was injured.

Investigation will be continued today to determine the cause of the explosion.

FOUND DEAD IN BED.

Carpenter Living Alone Dies Suddenly and Neighbors, Missing Daily Appearance, Start Investigation.

August S. Boehme, a carpenter living at No. 223 Ivar street, Hollywood, was found dead in his bed, yesterday morning, by persons living in the vicinity who had been attracted by his failure to appear about his little cabin early in the morning.

The police were called from the Hollywood sub-station and they entered the place and found the body lying on the bed, the man apparently having died during the night.

Boehme has a brother living in San Diego, but no other relatives known to his Hollywood acquaintances.

UNDELIVERED TELEGRAMS.

Telegrams are at the Western Union office for: Mrs. E. H. K. Lowman, Mrs. Sadie Coleman, Miss Georgia Brown, Miss Minn. Zuelow, Miss Georgia Collins, Miss Eva Hay, Florence C. Thorbus, Mildred Duarte, Dr. N. F. Vantrump, W. C. Clark, P. E. Van Cittors, E. Johnson, Dick Blinger, Michael J. McNally, E. L. B. Godfrey, E. G. B. Julian, and A. S. Small.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

The memorial services for Charles N. Crittenden, founder of the Crittenden Home, will be held at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, at the First Congregational Church. Through an inadvertence it was stated yesterday that the services would occur yesterday afternoon.

TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE.

The Mission Fiesta, which has been conducted at the old Plaza Church during the past week, will be brought to a close this evening. Rev. Father Reas, pastor of the church, says that the receipts have been highly satisfactory in view of the many other attractions concurrent with the festival.

G.A.R. RECEPTION.

Members of all local G.A.R. posts and those of neighboring cities and hundreds of representatives of the Women's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans, Ladies of the G.A.R. and Daughters of Veterans attended the receptions held by the Los Angeles Veterans' Fife and Drum Corps yesterday afternoon and night, at Luna Park, to commemorate the victory achieved by the corps at the recent annual encampment held at Rochester, N. Y.

WOMAN'S TERRIBLE DEATH.

Porterville Woman's Clothing Ignited By Oil Heater, Burns From Her Body in Hotel.

PORTERVILLE, Nov. 12.—While ironing in her apartments in the Glenwood Hotel this morning Mrs. Frances Cosgrove, an entertainer of a local theater, set fire to her clothing and received burns from which she died four hours later. Mrs. Cosgrove had lighted an oil heater, on which she was heating her irons, as well as using the stove to heat the rooms during the chilly hours of the early morning. In moving about the room her garments floated over the top of the stove, took fire from the blaze and as she was dressed in a silk negligee costume, under which was flimy lingerie, in a flash she was a mass of flames.

Completely demented by her danger she opened the door into the main hallway and ran screaming toward the staircase. H. Moore, a traveling salesman whose apartments were on the same floor, ran toward her with a heavy blanket, but when he attempted to wrap her in the covering she thrust him away and ran to a linen closet at the end of the hall. James Wilson, the proprietor of the hotel, with the assistance of Moore, finally caught the frantic girl and held her by main strength while they wrapped her in a couch cover and extinguished the flames. In the meantime physicians had been summoned, three doctors arriving almost immediately. Dr. H. W. Oakley and Dr. J. Tracy Melvin remained with the woman during the remaining hours of her life and gave her every possible attention, but to no avail. An examination revealed the fact that she was terribly burned from ankles to her neck, an indication of her terrible injuries and the torture she underwent being shown by the fact that the steels of her corsets were literally burned into her flesh.

AN ENGAGING ATTRACTION.

Battleship Oregon Draws Many Visitors.

School Children Will Be Taken Aboard Today.

Venetians Want Log Cabin License Revoked.

VENICE, Nov. 12.—The big battleship Oregon today drew several thousand visitors to the beach. Many of those coming today availed themselves of the opportunity to go aboard the ship that made history and assisted in changing the map of the world on the historic trip around the horn. As if to make amends for the boisterous condition of the surf yesterday, the sea was as calm for several hours today as the fabled mill pond and the gasoline launches experienced no trouble in making landings and handling the crowds.

Tomorrow morning the school children of Venice will be received aboard the ship, and tomorrow night the officers will be guests at a ball to be tendered at the dance hall on the pier. At the same time the sailors will be extended the courtesies of many of the pleasure places. Today the officers enjoyed an automobile tour to all points of interest along shore.

The Oregon is scheduled to remain here until Tuesday, when she will depart for the North, making stops at ports on the way. One of the purposes of this cruise is said to be to create an interest in the navy, with a view to securing recruits. The department is known to be in need of active young men, and it has been found that one of the easiest ways to enlist their interest is through the opportunity afforded the boys to visit and inspect the battleships.

A proceeding rather out of the ordinary is observed in the circular here of a protest addressed to the County Supervisors requesting that the Log Cabin resort in Rustic Canyon be closed. The protest is to the effect that the place in question is conducted in a manner so open as to bring odium upon the entire beach. As Venice is more than five miles from the resort in question, with Santa Monica intervening and extending as far north as Santa Monica Canyon, those who profess to see no wrong in keeping the canyon resort open do not hesitate to attribute an ulterior motive to the fathers of the petition.

REPARTITION PLANNI

[BY A. P. NIGHT W

BRUSSELS, Nov. 13.—Reports have been current for some months that a grand repartition of Africa was under consideration by interested powers, to which some color has been lent by certain observations by the French Premier in the course of a recent speech.

These have taken more definite form, and it is reported on good authority that the proposed scheme provides for the withdrawal of Belgium

GALE IN NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The storm and cold wave from the West advanced rapidly eastward yesterday on the wings of a gale that reached a maximum velocity of seventy-two miles an hour in this city, and did considerable damage.

COTTON IN THE COLD.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The southwestern cotton belt is in the grip of the coldest weather experienced in this region in many years.

APPLE CONGRESS.

DENVER (Colo.) Nov. 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] For the opening day of the American Apple Congress in Denver today, more than 2000 visitors from about twenty States, which have representation in the exhibits at the auditorium, are here.

BURIED IN SNOW.

IDAHO SPRINGS (Colo.) Nov. 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] One death has resulted here since the blizzard visited this locality. N. K. Lartigue, a miner, 65 years old, and a veteran of the Civil War, was found almost buried in the snow. He had been dead several hours.

GOVERNMENT TO MAKE ROAD MAP.

CREWS GATHER MATERIAL NEAR SAN BERNARDINO.

That the Desert Country Can Raise Pumpkins Equal to the Indiana Product Was Proven by an Apple Valley Rancher—Santa Fe Will Make Improvements.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 13.—Three government engineering corps commence work tomorrow on the desert completing surveys and gathering engineering data from which to make a United States mineral and road map. Engineer Rase, in charge of one crew, will commence at Barstow; Engineer Thomas Height, will with his crew survey the Ludlow section and Engineer Guy Bedwine and party will work in the Goffs district.

These three crews are splendidly outfitted, having the latest scientific instruments for their work, and are provisioned for a long campaign. Last summer other crews worked similarly throughout the Nevada desert, completing the big survey for that section of the Colorado River, while other crews surveyed the Arizona desert country, passing just the other side of Needles.

That the desert country is equal to raising "some pumpkins," was made evident today when Harold Young brought in from Apple Valley a giant pumpkin which tips the scales at fifty-two pounds, and is seventy-five inches in circumference. He states that on his homestead he has a large number of similar pumpkins. He has tried dry farming, but not successfully, except in raising potatoes. Other desert ranchers have been more successful with dry farming methods.

The local offices of the Santa Fe are making up the annual budget for this division, the improvements asked totaling a cost of $250,000. This big sum is needed for enlargements and improvements of the mechanical department. One of the buildings asked for, is a blacksmith shop, which will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000, and additional covered tracks for the car track department are needed. Heretofore the Santa Fe has been princely in its generosity toward this section, and the belief is that the budget will be passed as reported.

The funeral of Joseph Krausman was held today from the residence, 750 Seventh street. Services at the house were conducted by Jacob Jonas, representing the Congregational Emanuel, of which the deceased was president. The Masonic fraternity had charge of the rites at the cemetery.

The Gate City Hiking Club, composed of first, second and third-year High School boys, taking the technical course, has reorganized by the election of the following officers: Levi Lima, president; Ray Canady, secretary and treasurer; Edward Sullivan, sergeant; C. F. Fraley, reporter. The club is planning a long hike for Thanksgiving Day.

San Diego Speed Ordinance Applies to Doctors and Fire Engines, According to Recent Opinion.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 13.—When an alarm summoned the fire department to a burning lodging-house on Seventh street this afternoon the auto machine, of which the department has several, did not dash to the scene at a speed of twenty miles or more an hour, as they have been wont to do, but scrupulously obeyed the ordinance limiting speed to twelve miles an hour on streets and six at crossings.

REPARTITION OF AFRICA PLANNED BY POWERS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BRUSSELS, Nov. 13.—Reports have been current for some months that a grand repartition of Africa was under consideration by interested powers, to which some color has been lent by certain observations by the French Premier in the course of a recent speech.

These have taken more definite form, and it is reported on good authority that the proposed scheme provides for the withdrawal of Belgium from the Congo, which will be divided between Great Britain, France and Germany.

In compensation, according to the reports, Belgium is to receive the Grand Ducky of Luxemburg and territory along the left bank of the Scheldt, and Holland is to receive counterbalancing colonial concessions.

These reports will form the subject of an interpellation in Parliament, which will reassemble on Tuesday.

Tripoli.

RETURNS PASS TO ITALIANS.

German Says Their Conduct Was Shocking.

Declares He Saw Soldiers Drag Arab Girl.

Approves of Everything that McCullagh Reported.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Having seen that attempts are being made to discredit the accounts of Italian atrocities in Tripoli, cabled to America by Francis McCullagh, Otho Von Gottberg, the war correspondent of the Berlin Lokal Anzeiger, who returned his pass to Gen. Caneva and left Tripoli in disgust and horror at the same time Mr. McCullagh did, rather than be forced to maintain silence as to the acts he had seen, has sent the following letter to the London bureau of the New York World. It was received today:

"I saw the atrocities McCullagh saw and has described. My impression is that his statements are not strong enough.

"Near the Esparto factory of the Banco Di Roma at Tripoli, the Italians burned a native village. I visited the spot and saw two sick, old women, lying on the ground near the corpses of several other women and men who had died of gunshot wounds. Further off, was a sick boy of 12 or 14. Further off again, and at the gate of the Italian field hospital, lay a young Arab girl.

"With the exception of one of the old women, who had a bullet wound in her left shoulder, these Arabs had obviously been very ill long before the attack by the Turks and Arabs upon the Italian defenses and evidently could not have taken any part in the assault upon the works or in the firing upon the Italian troops from the rear.

"Under my eyes and with the evident approval of an Italian officer, some Italian soldiers dragged the Arab girl along the ground by her legs. When the poor little creature's clothes gave way and exposed her body, the soldiers only laughed and uttered ribald, indecent remarks.

"On being reprimanded by an onlooker, a foreigner not an Italian, the soldiers let go of the girl's legs and began pulling her along by the arms. On being told again that the girl was very ill, they left her lying on the ground.

"The girl begged piteously for a drink of water. Army physicians, officers and soldiers looked on from the hospital gate. None paid any heed to the suffering. None gave any attention to the other sick persons who were dying on the ground before them.

"By the Red Cross regulation the army physicians were bound to assist these sick Arabs, but they did not. They were busily engaged in photographing for their own amusement an execution scene.

"Five men and a boy of 14 or 15 years of age had been rounded up by the soldiery in the adjoining Arab quarter. They were put to death without any trial whatever.

"I returned my credentials to Gen. Caneva because I would not witness such scenes as were taking place and be compelled to remain silent about them."

Four additional covered tracks for the car track department are needed. TOO FAST AND TOO SLOWLY.

San Diego Speed Ordinance Appears to Doctors and Fire Engines, According to Recent Opinion.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 13.—When an alarm summoned the fire department to a burning lodging-house on Seventh street this afternoon the auto machine, of which the department has recently, did not dash to the scene at a speed of twenty miles or more an hour, as they have been wont to do, but scrupulously obeyed the ordinance limiting speed to twelve miles per hour on streets and six at crossings.

Meanwhile physicians, that might have been saved by the quicker arrival of the fire fighters was being destroyed. The low speed was the result of a ruling by Judge Puterbaugh in the Police Court a day or two ago. He held that the law against speeding applied to everybody, even to doctors hastening to the dying and to fire apparatus rushing to a conflagration, and that all speeders were subject to arrest and punishment. Whereupon Fire Commissioner Dodson ordered his department to observe the ordinance to the letter, the result being this afternoon's anomaly of fire engines not making their best time to a fire. The loss at the lodging-house was not heavy, but the incident is causing much comment.

Santa Ana.

WOMAN STRUCK BY CAR IS INSTANTLY KILLED.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 13.—While out for a Sunday afternoon stroll with her 4-year-old daughter, Mrs. Minnie Giese, wife of Ferdinand Giese, stepped in front of a Pacific Electric car and was killed. She was carried about one hundred yards and was hurled down a steep embankment. The accident occurred half a mile this side of Benedict, about 2:30 o'clock and within 100 yards of where the woman lived on a ranch. Mrs. Giese was deaf and did not hear the car coming, while the child with her, not realizing the danger, failed to give her warning.

The motorman blew the whistle on approaching the crossing, which was not a regular stopping crossing and beyond which the woman and the child were walking toward Benedict. and in the same direction the car was going. The car did not lessen speed until suddenly the woman stepped from beside the track into the space between the rails. That instant the car struck her. The little girl had not followed her mother and the step of the car missed the child by an inch or two and by that inch or two she escaped death. Mrs. Giese was held by the fender for a few seconds and then the body fell to one side down an embankment to a ditch fifteen feet below. The woman never knew what struck her. Her head was mangled, her face deeply gashed, her back broken and both legs broken.

She was 39 years old and had lived at Benedict for twelve years. The body, in charge of Coroner Winbigler, was brought to Santa Ana by a Pacific Electric car. The inquest is at 4 o'clock tomorrow morning.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Owls' Entertainment.

An entertainment, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, dancing and good things to eat, will be given by the Los Angeles Nest, No. 1286, O.O.W., Wednesday evening in Turner Hall.

Eagles to Smoke.

Invitations have been issued to the members and friends of Los Angeles Aerie, No. 102, F.O.E., to attend a smoker to be given by that lodge in Eagles' Hall, No. 320 South Main street, at 8 o'clock tonight. Entertainment will be provided by the members.

Meet for Charity.

The annual meeting of the Ladies of the French Benevolent Society will be held at Christopher's Broadway cafe at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The society is a charitable organization. Its officers are: Mrs. L. J. Christopher, president; Mrs. Jules Viole, secretary; Mrs. Louise Naud, treasurer, and Mrs. Fusenot, honorary vice-president.

To Tell of Ancient Greece.

"A Modern Wanderer in Classic Greece" is the subject of a lecture to be delivered tomorrow night by Dr. Arthur Phelps, pastor of the Central Baptist Church, at the East Los Angeles Baptist Church, corner of Manitou and Workman streets. This will be thethird of a series of lectures on travel being given in the East Side Church.

World's Week of Prayer.

The first local meeting of the week of prayer being observed all over the world by members of the Young Women's Christian Association, was held in the Y. W. C. A. building yesterday afternoon. The young women were addressed by Mrs. J. S. Nordell, whose subject was "Prayer, What it Means to the World." Another interesting address was delivered by Mrs. Amelia Johnson, who spoke on the work of the Young Women's Christian Association in foreign lands. Tuesday and Friday of this week meetings will be held in the association building from 12:15 to 1 o'clock p. m. All young women in the city, whether members or strangers in the city, are invited to attend these meetings.

Among the people from Santa Barbara who spent yesterday in the city were George C. Sherman, stockman, and C. Tapson of the quicksilver mines, who stopped at the Nadeau.

A. C. Bowles of San Francisco and J. H. Schermerhorn of New York are at the Hollenbeck. The former is the Pacific Coast manager and the latter vice-president of the Dixon Lead Pencil Company. They are making a tour of inspection.

TWO HOUSES BURNED.

EAGLE ROCK, Nov. 12.—Fire Saturday afternoon destroyed two dwellings on Stanley avenue, at the foot of Kenilworth avenue. About 3 o'clock, Mrs. J. Henderson, who is 75 years old, went to a mail box two blocks away, and returning a few minutes later found her home on fire. She is unable to give any reason for its starting. There being no adequate water supply near, the house burned to the ground in a short time, with nearly all of the household effects. A two-story house, unoccupied, within twenty feet, and belonging to C. B. Kellam of Los Angeles, caught fire, and was completely destroyed. Mr. Kellam had put papers in escrow last week for a trade of his property. The total loss was about $4000.

Art Auction for the Artistic.

On account of retirement from the studios branch of her business, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Burton, of 811 South Hill street, has sold her stock and will distribute her collection by a public auction sale. To those who appreciate the possession of art objects not duplicated by the thousand and not obtainable in hundreds of places, this sale will be welcomed. Mrs. Burton's skill and artistic taste in the creation of things beautiful is not alone known in California, but examples of her handicraft grace the homes of many grand homes in other parts of America.

Miss Nellie Francis,

A cowgirl in the employ of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, now exhibiting in this city, who was perhaps fatally injured by a wild buffalo, while she was attempting to turn a stampede and save the Indian tepees on the circus grounds yesterday.

Real Wild West.

RISKS DEATH TO SAVE REDSKINS.

COWGIRL PERHAPS FATALLY HURT BY BUFFALO.

In Attempt to Avert Stampede of Maddened Animals at Circus, Rider Is Charged and Trampled. Tepees Are Overturned, but Inmates Escape Without Injury.

Shortly after the great crowd swarmed out of the main tent of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show yesterday afternoon there was a stampede among the steers and buffaloes and in an effort to turn the infuriated animals from the tepees of the Indians, Miss Nellie Francis, a cowgirl, was run down and perhaps fatally injured. Two steers rushed through the Indian camp, turning over the tepee of Mary Eagle, a Sioux squaw, who had given birth to a papoose earlier in the day. Both escaped injury.

At the time of the stampede practically all of the show hands were eating their supper at the cook tent. Miss Francis had remained behind to be of assistance to the squaw. The moment she saw the cattle headed toward the tepees she realized the danger. Jerking her lariat from her belt, she took her stand directly in front of the charging animals. This partially checked the stampede but while her attention was turned to one wing of it a buffalo charged her. She was hurled upwards, her fall being broken by a heavy net fencing which surrounds the enclosure. She sustained internal injuries and a broken left arm and right ankle. She was given emergency treatment in the hospital tent, where her recovery was last night considered doubtful.

MRS. COOK IS NOW AGED 39
Letter from Crane, Missouri, Full of Good Advice For American Girls.

CRANE (Mo.)—"There is not much pleasure in life, if one has to be sick all the time," writes Mrs. J. D. Cook of this place. "So many women suffer from girlhood on, all through life, who could be spared such suffering, and live in comfort, if they would only try Cardui, the woman's tonic, as I did.

"I was 16 years old when I first took Cardui. Now I am 39. Whenever I was poorly or felt real bad, Cardui always brought me out all right. I have faith in it. I know what it has done for me, and I have seen what it has done for others."

No one can know so well as you, whether you need a tonic or not.

If you feel weak, tired, languid, lazy, and generally "out of sorts" you know you need a tonic—we know you need Cardui, the woman's tonic.

Cardui's strengthening effects quickly show themselves in many ways.

It is mild, non-intoxicating, non-mineral, harmless.

It will pay you to test it for yourself, today.

Call for it at any one, out of 40,000 pharmacies.

N.B.—Write to: Ladies's Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent in plain wrapper, on request.

Baby's Voice
Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers.

The Thirteenth Accident.

RODGERS FALLS AND IS HURT IN SIGHT OF GOAL.

Daring Ocean-to-Ocean Aviator Plunges More Than Hundred Feet to Earth and Miraculously Escapes Death—Machine Is Total Wreck—Birdman Says "It Was Not Properly Inspected"—May Try Again.

CALBRAITH HARRY RODGERS failed to finish his ocean-to-ocean trip in his Wright biplane yesterday afternoon by landing at Long Beach and dipping his skids in the Pacific. He fell with his machine on the James Orr ranch, a mile east and a mile south of Compton, about 5 o'clock, and was injured. His biplane is a total wreck. The fall was caused by the engine suddenly stopping, due to mechanical trouble.

Disaster overcome the daring young aviator just as he was about to grasp the victory within reach. The last lap of his journey came to an end just as the pale green waters of the Pacific became discernible to him straight ahead, through his goggles.

More than 4000 miles lay behind Rodgers. Only ten were yet to be covered before he would alight in the midst of waiting thousands of men and women, among whom were his wife and mother.

He had just left a pretty little valley to the east of Covina Junction, where he had been forced to alight because of engine trouble. Although warned that he was taking desperate chances in ascending with his engine working badly, Rodgers said:

"It is not safe. But I don't want to disappoint the crowd at Long Beach."

The next minute he was up in the air, the suction of his machine carrying with him the cheers of the thousands who had been attracted to the place by his sudden and spectacular descent.

THE ACCIDENT.

Rodgers was flying low, not more than 100 feet high as he passed to the east of Compton. He was getting ready to make a graceful and high ascent that all Long Beach might see him when he came within vision of the sea resort, when the unexpected—but always looked for—end came.

James Orr, the owner of the ranch, was the only witness of the accident. He states that the first intimation he had that Rodgers's engine was not working properly was the sudden cessation of its hum. Then he saw Rodgers lean forward and tug frantically at a lever. The engine seemed to stop dead, the forward end of the planes tilted and an instant later the whole plunged to the earth. Orr estimated last evening that the total fall was about 150 feet. He did not have sufficient air space in which to volplane, or did not act quickly enough to use his planes to glide to the ground.

The biplane struck almost upon its nose, and with sufficient force to catapault Rodgers from his seat, face first into the soft ground. A second later he was lost from view by the biplane toppling over on him. The engine sank into the ground to his right. Had it fallen upon him he would have been killed.

The impact of the fall and the turning over the machine twisted supports, bent stays, broke wooden parts and tore the silk of the planes into ribbons.

Although partially unconscious, Rodgers had sufficient presence of mind to attempt to crawl out from under the wreckage. He was struggling and kicking to free himself when Orr reached him. He pulled Rodgers out from under the machine and was examining him to see whether any bones had been broken, when a party from Pasadena rode up in an auto. They were en route home from Long Beach where they had awaited for hours the coming of the aviator.

RUSHED TO A DOCTOR.

They placed Rodgers in their machine and rushed him to Dr. A. L. Holcombe's residence in Compton. Here the aviator's injuries were found to consist chiefly of bad bruises and possible slight internal injuuries. No bones were broken.

About that time it was learned that the special train which carried the Rodgers party to Long Beach earlier in the day was en route to Pasadena in quest of the aviator. Lou Page, the Deputy Constable at Compton, was sent to the crosing to flag the train.

Seeing that he could not make it in time, he called up the towerman by telephone and had him stop the special. Rodgers was placed aboard it and rushed to Pasadena.

Thousands of people who had crowded into Tournament Park at Pasadena cheered the young aviator as he rose in the air to start on the last lap of his trans-continental trip. After casting about for a few moments for his bearings, he pointed the nose of his biplane in the direction of Long Beach, and started southward at a high speed.

AT LONG BEACH.

THOUSANDS WAIT IN VAIN.

At Long Beach 75,000 people patiently waited from noon until long after the sun had sunk below the Palos Verdes Hills watching for the coming of Rodgers. He was scheduled to arrive at 4:15, but the crowd came early to secure good sightseeing positions and they lined the bluff from Pine avenue to Alamitos avenue and flowed thirty feet deep along the walk of a thousand lights, held back from the beach by strands of wire and a full force of police and State militia. The upper and lower decks of the 1800-foot pier were a black mass of humanity from end to end while the promenades of the big auditorium were similarly congested. The housetops of all the buildings along the front were full of anxious watchers and they waited patiently.

On the beach every preparation had been made for the arrival of Rodgers. A telephone wire gave direct connection with the Associated Press to whom Rodgers was to announce his arrival and by which it was hoped to keep in touch with the aviator on his southbound flight.

Among others waiting were Capt. Charles Elliott of the United States cavalry, the only regular officer south of Monterey who had been delegated to receive the message from Gen. Grant to Maj.-Gen. Arthur Murray, commanding the Pacific division, and Lieut. A. T. Beauregard, flag officer of the United States cruiser California, who was deputed to receive the message from Admiral Keuntz of the Atlantic fleet to Rear-Admiral Thomas. Secretary Camp had been deputized to receive the message from Mayor Gaynor to Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles and bore a message of welcome to the aviator.

Another distinguished personage was Mrs. Pauline Stearns and her son, Nathan, who left New York two weeks

BELL COMPANY'S HEAD, HERE, FORETELLS 'PHONE MERGER

THEODORE N. VAIL, of New York City, president of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, and the Western Union Telegraph Company—the parent corporation controlling the various Bell telephone companies in the United States, and Canada—arrived in the city yesterday with the members of his family, and a party of friends and business associates. Principal among his following was Charles S. Gleed, president of the Missouri-Kansas Telephone Company, with headquarters at Kansas City, principal owner of the Kansas City Journal, and a director in the Santa Fe Railroad. With Mr. Gleed is Hal Gaylord, business manager of the Kansas City Journal.

Upon arrival at the Hotel Alexandria yesterday, the telephone magnate was met by E. C. Bradley, vice-president and general manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, controlling the Bell companies at San Francisco, Los Angeles, and other Pacific Coast cities; and a number of other telephone company officials.

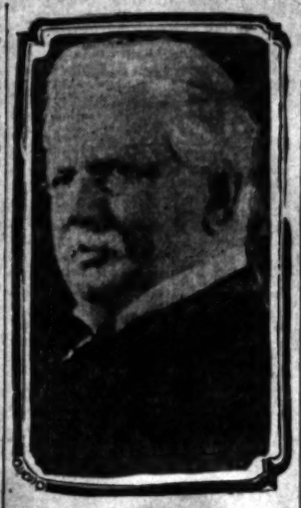
Apropos of the much-talked merger of the independent companies, and the Bell companies, in San Francisco and Los Angeles, Vail said: "It is inevitable that there will be but one company here. Two companies are a nuisance, and the public won't stand for them.

"There has been a tremendous advance in the telephone world recently. Last year we thought it remarkable that we completed a workable line through from New York to Kansas City. Now we have a dependable long-distance service between the Atlantic Coast and Denver. It would not surprise me a bit if we would before many years, we will have practicable working long-distance lines between New York and Los Angeles, and other points on the Pacific Coast."

Besides the Bell long-distance system between New York and Denver, the company, of which Vail is the head, controls by holdings of stock, leasing of instrument or otherwise, all of the Bell telephone companies in the United States and Canada, including, of course, the company at Los Angeles.

With Vail in his private car Elysian is Mrs. Vail, Miss Vail and T. B. Bowen, secretary to the venerable Gleed are Mrs. Gleed, Miss Gleed, Edgar Park, a New York capitalist; M. H. Gaylord, owner of the Kansas City Journal; Mrs. Gaylord and Miss Gaylord.

This is the first visit Vail has made to Los Angeles since 1882. Two years prior to that was the first time Gaylord ever saw Los Angeles. He has visited the city several times since



Theodore N. Vail,

President of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, better known as the Bell, with which the local Sunset Company is allied. Vail arrived in the city yesterday in company with a number of capitalists and business associates from the East, and was yesterday in conference with local telephone officials. He stated that the merger of the two local lines is inevitable and it is understood that his visit here has vitally to do with the projected consolidation.

"Unsafe, But I Can't Disappoint Them"

Sea-to-Sea Aviator Calbraith P. Rodgers,

Who fell with his machine and was injured yesterday, within sight of his goal, the waters of the Pacific. The accident occurred about two miles from Compton, where, according to its only witness, the biplane turned with Rodgers and he fell more than one hundred feet. The machine is a total wreck, but Rodgers, though still dazed at a late hour last night, is not thought to be dangerously hurt. The aviator was warned before his start that the biplane was untrustworthy, but he refused to disappoint the thousands who awaited him at Long Beach.

THEIR'S TO DO, NOT TO ORATE.

LECTURES SEEM NOT TO BE OF POLICE SPECIALTIES.

Sunday-school Pupils, Expectantly Agape, Gaze in Startled Wonder at Only Policeman They Ever Saw in Ignominous Flight from Church Door and Away.

That giving speeches to Sunday-school pupils is not the work of the police, was the opinion of Patrolman Phillips as he sprang through the front door of the church at North Broadway, and Daly streets, leaped upon his trusty motorcycle, and chugged away to safety yesterday morning.

As the rules of the department do not require that officers lead church services, Sergt. Pratt said he guessed he would have to sustain Phillips in his contention, though he had not obeyed orders.

A telephone message was received at the East Side Police Station from the superintendent of the Sunday-school of the East Los Angeles Congregational Church, and requested that a police officer be sent to speak to the children on the "Evils of Intemperance."

Sergt. Pratt looked his men over and decided upon Phillips. Pratt had his reasons.

"They want an officer at the church on Daly street," Pratt said. "Hurry over there, Phillips and do what they ask you to."

"Count on me," Phillips answered as he placed a big revolver in his holster, a pair of handcuffs on his belt, and a "black-jack" in his hip pocket, and leaped upon a motorcycle.

Phillips spared not the city's gasoline and within a very brief period he had dismounted at the church and was entering in true gendarme style. Forward he marched to the platform and with a salute to the gentleman leading the singing, said, "At your service, sir."

"Ah, yes. You are the officer I sent for. What's the name? Phillips? Well, now, Capt. Phillips—" the patrolman felt a sudden swelling in the chest and he thrust forward that portion of his anatomy to conform to the higher rank. "I want you to tell the children about the evils of intemperance."

"What? Make a speech?" exclaimed Phillips.

"Exactly. It's nice of you to come."

Phillips made no comment but the door being handy, he made one of the best getaways on record, and when the Sunday-school pupils ran to the door to learn the cause of the officer's sudden departure, there was naught on the horizon, but a cloud of dust, and the odor of gasoline.

ORGANIZE ALEXANDER CLUB.

Citizens of precinct No. 174, which embraces the territory between Normandie and Western avenues, and between West Adams and Jefferson streets, will meet tonight at the home of Miss Helen Wisler, at Harvard boulevard and Twenty-ninth street, for the purpose of organizing an Alexander club. All men and women of precinct No. 174, who are interested in the election of Mayor Alexander as the next Mayor of Los Angeles, are urged to attend this meeting. Those who are not interested in the present Mayor's re-election are also invited in order that they may learn the reasons which prompt the organization of the Alexander club.

GOLD PIONEER CROSSES DIVIDE.

TYPE OF STURDY MEN WHO ARE RAPIDLY PASSING AWAY.

Came to California in Fifty-two Following the Great Discovery and Later Bought Large Ranch Here. Lived to See City Swallow Up His Farm.

John Henry Snyder, an uncle of former Mayor M. P. Snyder, president of the California Savings Bank, and for many years a resident of this city, died at the Clara Barton Hospital yesterday afternoon, aged 84 years, of general debility. He was taken to the hospital several weeks ago where he would receive constant attention, but he grew gradually feebler until the end.

Snyder was born in North Carolina. He joined the gold rush to California in 1852, and prospected and was generally interested in mining. He then turned his attention to Southern California, and about 1865, he bought 160 acres of ranch land where is now Vernon Square, and Western avenue. For a number of years, Snyder lived in Pasadena, and for ten years he resided at Ocean Park. He leaves no family, his wife and two children dying many years ago.

Snyder was a picturesque man and had many interesting experiences to relate of early life among the gold hunters of California. The marvelous growth of Los Angeles, always amazed him for when he bought his ranch it was out in the country. Today the site is practically covered by pretty bungalows, and is a live suburb of the city.

The funeral will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, the service being conducted from Pierce Bros. undertaking parlors. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

SEVERS RIVETS ON CELL BARS.

Plan of Prisoners to Escape Foiled by Jailer.

Friends Aid Desperate Man to Arrange Flight.

Revolver and Knives Found in Concealment.

After having matched his wits against those of a man whom he considers the shrewdest prisoner ever confined behind the county bars, Jailer Gallagher foiled a plot to escape early Sunday morning, thereby preventing a possible jail delivery and perhaps serious injury or death to several.

Joseph Pierson, who was arrested in Chicago August 22 on a charge of having assaulted and robbed H. T. Reid, a local diamond merchant, in the Grant building June 23, formulated the plot and with him are believed to have been associated two other prisoners in the County Jail in the scheme to cut their way from their cells, assault the guards, shoot the turnkey if necessary, and escape through the doors.

Rivets in the steel cell were cut through, a revolver and cartridges and two knives were found within reach of the prisoner, and bits of evidence were found in hidden places. But no discovery was made of the means by which the steel rivets had been cut.

Pierson is in desperate straits, as he faces a probable life sentence in San Quentin for the attack upon Reid. W. C. Rogers, who confessed to having been Pierson's accomplice, is in San Quentin serving a life sentence.

It came to the ears of Jailer Gallagher Saturday that Pierson had confederates outside the jail who, if it came to a last resort, would do away with Reid by any means possible to prevent him appearing against Pierson at the trial. This information leaked out through Pierson making a confident, Gallagher said, of a "false friend" in the jail. The man was himself a prisoner and according to the "ethics" of crime was bound by the

LOVING AND TENDER CEREMONIES TO BE HELD ON NEXT WEDNESDAY

At Hollywood Cemetery, When and Where Will Be Dedicated a Noble Monument to the Dead of "The Times" Who Fell at Their Posts on the 1st Day of October, 1910—Workmen Now Placing the Stone and the Bronze Tablets Thereon.

The massive and majestic monument, with its telling bronze tablets, which the owners of the Los Angeles Times have built to perpetuate the names, the memories, the virtues and the tragic deaths of the twenty faithful men of this newspaper's working force, and which is to stand, let us believe, so long as granite may endure, in Hollywood's beautiful cemetery grounds, will be dedicated on next Wednesday, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, with appropriate ceremonies. These will be described more minutely in a later issue.

Men and women—and their name is Legion—who sympathize with the dead, and with the cause for which they fell at their posts of duty, and who hold to the same faith in which they died, are invited to be present without further notice.

Those who were present upon that unforgotten occasion six years ago—November 15, 1905—at the same spot, with reverent intent and hearts touched, are especially included in this invitation, as are all who stood before the graves of the honored dead on that other memorable day, October 9, 1910.

Rev. Robert J. Burdette will deliver the oration and further announcement of the ceremonies and their features will be made in due time.

'Twas a Grand Day.

WORKERS VISIT SHRINERS' SHOW.

Fifteen Thousand Employees Throng Coliseum.

Gate Receipts Set a Record for the Exposition.

Elks to Celebrate Tonight in Forest Paradise.

Employees Day was celebrated at the Shrine Auditorium household show yesterday, and throughout the day 15,000 employees of the 218 exhibitors visited the big exhibition. Although Saturday was Baby Day, there was no dearth of pretty babies and fond mothers yesterday, the women and children having accompanied the army of employees.

The employees enjoyed themselves every minute of the time, listening to the music, filling their pockets and baskets with all manner of household goods and studying the many booths to find out how many different articles Los Angeles produces for the market.

"A fair like this is certainly very educating," remarked Mrs. J. Z. Small, "for it gives one an opportunity to see so many things that otherwise one might never have time to see. It is like placing every store and factory in Los Angeles in one building. It gives one an idea where to go to buy things and tells what things will cost. I hope there will be few women in the city who will miss this show."

The women spent most of their time at the fashion show in the balcony, while the men lingered about the automobile exhibit, the sporting booths and the mechanical exhibits. The babies were everywhere, admiring the strange and the beautiful, collecting samples of postal cards and candy plums and converting the big building into a fairyland.

In one of the various annexes an interested circle of men, women and children stood around a big cage that contained the orang-outang.

"They say those things are human," said an old man to a gray-haired woman who accompanied him. "Hum! They're no more human than we are." The old people walked away disgustedly, while the crowd laughed uproariously.

Besides the employees there were thousands of others who visited the show yesterday, and Mr. Keeran said that the gate receipts broke the record for any previous day. Thousands of bars of soap, samples of breakfast foods, candies and many other articles were given away, and in the cakeroom, W. E. Bush did a rushing business selling tickets on the cakes.

Tonight the Auditorium will be converted into a forest, when the Elks will take charge of the fair. Invitations have been sent to more than 10,000 Elks in Los Angeles and in various parts of Southern California, and a large attendance is expected.

Prominent Elks will be in charge of the cakeroom, the big grocery store and other departments.

Thursday the merchants and manufacturers, who have been exhibiting their wares at the Auditorium for the last week, will give a big parade through the principle streets of the city, winding up at the Auditorium. Hundreds of employees will participate in this procession, which is to be in motion at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Up-to-Date.

PASTOR WOULD PLACE MACHINE IN BAPTIST TEMPLE.

Power for Good Is Mighty, Says Dr. Brougher, but He Strongly Condemns the Theater in Comparison—Modern Innovations Are Being Accepted by Churches.

That moving picture shows are becoming a mighty power for good in the world is the conclusion of Rev. Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, pastor of Temple Baptist Church. In an unusual sermon last night he said he hoped the church officers could soon see their way clear to install a moving picture machine in the temple. In comparison, however, he strongly condemned the theater.

Dr. Brougher said that church people were adopting modern ideas and adapting them to the religious institutions. There was a time when the organ in church was condemned, he said; now orchestras and other innovations are freely accepted.

Dr. Brougher talked on "Sidelights on the Footlights." He said in part:

"We live in a world in which good and evil are mixed. This fact presents many perplexing problems. It is not always easy to know just what is right and what is wrong. When we come to examine the theater and the modern moving picture show, there is quite a difference of opinion concerning the nature of the two.

"The moving picture show, under the careful supervision of men and women who have high moral ideals and a true conception of what is really educational as well as entertaining, is becoming a mighty power for good in the world. It is taking the place of the old stereoptican method of entertainment and is of greater interest because of its ability to present the various scenes of a story in action. When it was first introduced many of the pictures were coarse and vulgar, while others were absolutely immoral.

"In view of the fact that children were so largely the patrons of the moving picture show, parents did wake up and insist upon a higher grade of moral purity being maintained in the pictures presented. As a result, in most cities the moving picture shows are on a higher plane by far, morally and educationally, than the theater. It is still possible to elevate the moving picture until nothing shall be presented that will not cater to the highest and truest development of our young people.

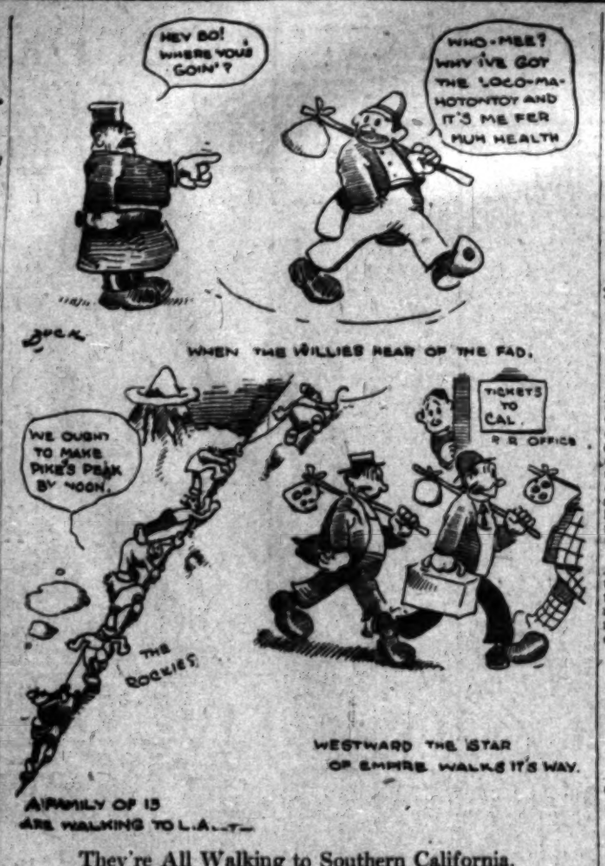
"Just as soon as the officers of Temple Baptist Church can see their way financially to do it, I hope that we can put a moving picture machine into the temple, that can be used in connection with our Sunday-school and educational work. Already there are some produced that present in the and entertaining way, the scenes of Bible times. There are other pictures of great moral and educational value that could be used to great advantage in connection with the church's social life.

"I am glad that moral people and Christian people are beginning to realize the importance of keeping the amusements of life clean and elevating. There is no reason why we should surrender to the devil all the bright and happy things of life. There never was a scheme invented for blessing the world that the devil did not get hold of it first and use it as a means for destroying men and women. There was a time when Christian people surrendered most of the music to the devil. They would not have an organ in the church, and when it came to a violin or a brass band, then they were sure that they belonged to the devil.

"Today, however, Christian people are making use of every musical instrument in the world for the purpose of praising and serving God. Let our city censors of the moving picture shows attend to their duties faithfully, and keep the pictures as well as the places where they are exhibited clean, and they will become one of the mightiest influences for good in our city.

"I wish I could say as much for the theater. Historically the theater as an institution has never catered to high moral ideals. The modern theater as an institution is no better. You know it is possible for an occasional performance to be on a very high moral plane and still the theater, as a regular thing be vicious, morally. I wish it were possible for our cities to appoint men and women of high moral character and noble ideals to censor every play that is presented on the stage today. It might be possible, if a united and determined effort were made, on the part of all good people, to elevate the stage and make it the means of blessing the world. At the present time no one can deny that the majority of plays presented in our theaters are immoral in tendency. It is said that Booth undertook to establish a moral theater in New York city and it failed and paid five cents on the dollar. Henry Irving tried the same plan in London, but the management had to change the policy in order to save it from bankruptcy. There is not a theater run purely as such that will not admit to its footlights some plays at least that are—immoral in tendency.

"There is positively no hope for the redemption of the stage so long as so-called decent people will patronize plays that they know to be positively immoral. If cultured people and people who claim to stand for good morals in a community would utterly refuse to attend any theater that permits immoral plays upon its stage, then we might hope some day to change the character of the plays



They're All Walking to Southern California.

It's the latest fashion—not to come to Los Angeles—but to walk there. If it's across the continent so much the better. The farther the hike the greater the fame, according to the present idea. Not fewer than twenty transcontinental hikers are reported on the way now.

From Eight to Eighty.

WHOLE FAMILIES VIE IN TRANSCONTINENTAL HIKES

IF THERE is anything the matter with you, walk. If there isn't anything the matter with you, so much the better. You can walk farther in that event. The main thing is to walk. Walk. Hike. Keep it up as long as you are able to put one foot in front of the other and reverse the process.

Or at least that is gospel as most lately interpreted by various and sundry of Southern California and those heading this way—chiefly the latter. The saga of the long road bids fair to become a recognized genre of literature. The disciples of Weston are multiplying and are flocking abroad in the land—on foot, of course.

From St. Louis an entire family, thirteen in number, are walking to Los Angeles as a cure for tuberculosis. The head of the household, W. S. Cousins, lost his wife a few weeks ago from consumption. At the bidding of his physician to take his flock and live in the open, that they might be spared a like fate, Cousins sold his home and property, except for what his thirteen children and himself could carry on their backs, and started to walk to the Coast. They are taking the journey by easy stages and expect to finish it in one year. The children range from 8 to 23 years of age and four of them are girls.

More remarkable still is the feat being attempted by Jesse H. and Warren H. Buffum of Boston, who are walking across the continent to test the respective merits of vegetarian and meat diets as means of supporting physical endurance. They crossed the line into California on Saturday and hope to conclude their journey by the end of the coming week.

The test is being carried on under the direction of Dr. Dudley A. Sargent, physical director of Harvard University. The conditions are that the elder brother, Jesse, must stick to a general diet, eating as much meat as he has appetite for, while the other must follow a strict vegetarian diet throughout the trip. Both must sleep out of doors, in good and bad weather, and must refrain from the use of alcohol. At the time of their last physical examination Warren, the vegetarian, appeared to have slightly the better of the test, though the difference in their conditions is not striking.

Abraham Weller, 80 years old, left the Starke Hotel, San Bernardino, yesterday morning to walk to St. Louis. Sixty-five years ago he led a party of argonauts across the West, from St. Louis to San Bernardino, walking the entire distance. Though Weller is a well-to-do farmer, owning several farms in the Sacramento Valley, he is obsessed with the desire to again go over the old trail before death calls him.

Stephen Stan, who recently arrived in this city from a three-year walk around the world and who claims the record for that feat, announced yesterday that a walking contest to San Francisco will shortly occur between himself and Julius Rath. The latter reached Los Angeles last Monday on a twenty-year hike in which he hopes to cover 500,000 miles, all but 3000 of which he says now stand to his credit.

Good Business.

PRICE IS FIXED FOR BEET CROP.

GROWERS DECIDE ON FIVE DOLLARS A TON.

Increase of Fifty Cents Over This Year's Figures Gives Basis for Annual Contracts About to Be Promulgated—Larger Acreage to Be Planted as Result.

The Southern California Beet Growers' Association has settled the price at which sugar beets shall be sold next year and the secretary of the association, Jay E. Randall of Artesia, sent out notices yesterday to all the Southern California local associations that the price for the coming year will be $5 per ton for beets testing 15 per cent. sugar, with an increase of 30 cents per ton for each additional per cent. above 15. This is an increase over the prices paid the early part of this year of 50 cents per ton.

The advance in price was secured by delegates from the association at a meeting with the factory operators several weeks ago, but it was not accepted by the association until Saturday evening, at a meeting in the office of the president, John Carson, in the Trust & Savings building, this city. At that meeting were present the managers of all the sugar factories in Southern California, as well as the members of the committee from the association.

The association comprises the owners of about 40,000 acres of sugar beet land in Southern California and is now being incorporated. It has local associations in all the sugar beet growing communities of the southern part of the State, which associations meet monthly to discuss matters concerning the growth and marketing of sugar beets.

There is annually produced in Southern California over 700,000 tons of sugar beets, which are manufactured into sugar by six factories, being those of the American Beet Sugar Company at Chino and Oxnard, the Los Alamitos Sugar Company of Los Alamitos, the Southern California Sugar Company of Santa Ana, the Anaheim Sugar Company of Anaheim and the Holly Sugar Company of Huntington Beach. The coming season there will be a new factory started at Santa Ana by the Santa Ana Co-Operative Sugar Company. There is at Hynes, to be erected by the Anaheim Sugar Company.

The advance in price of beets for the coming year, which the association has secured from the factories, will mean the planting of a much larger acreage to sugar beets than has been customary heretofore. Southern California sugar beets contain a higher percentage of sugar than those grown in any other part of the world and the business of manufacturing sugar from beets promises to become one of the greatest industries of this section. The growing season being so long in this climate is the principal reason for the rapid growth of the business.

The members of the Beet Growers' Association are greatly pleased with the increase in the price secured for the coming season and in the next month a large part of the acreage represented in the association will be contracted to the various factories.

Looks Ahead.

NO EXEMPTION FOR ONE YEAR.

OLD SOLDIERS MUST PAY ON PRESENT ASSESSMENT.

Constitutional Amendment Not in Force Until Reappraisement Is Made Next March—Is Prospective and Not Retrospective—District Attorney Gives Opinion.

Constitutional amendment No. 48, providing for the exemption of property of soldiers, sailors and marines and their wives and widows, to the extent of $1000, will not become operative until the next tax assessment, according to an opinion given by Dist.-Atty. Fredericks to County Tax Collector Welch. On this point Welch has received many inquiries, and to determine the matter he wrote to the District Attorney for an opinion on the effect and operation of the amendment.

Fredericks states that he does not think the amendment has any effect upon this year's taxes, the general rule being that constitutional amendments shall be construed to have a prospective operation only, and will only be construed to have a retrospective operation where there is a plain intent apparent to that effect.

He cites the case of Gurnee versus the Superior Court, in 58 California, page 88, where the effect of a constitutional provision, providing for the place of trial of civil actions, was before the court for consideration. The court held that the Constitution should be construed as operating prospectively and that this provision did not affect actions pending at the time it was adopted. The court held:

"It is a well settled rule of construction, applicable alike to constitutions and statutes, that they are to be considered prospective and not retrospective in their operation, unless a contrary intention clearly appears."

This case was cited and approved in the later case of Watts versus Wright, 66 California, page 203.

"Under this principle of construction," the District Attorney declares, "it has been held that constitutional provisions, limiting the power of taxation do not apply to assessments or obligations contracted prior to the adoption of such provisions, and it has been held that constitutional provisions conferring additional power of taxation do not apply to taxes levied prior to the adoption of such provisions. So, constitutional provisions restricting the power of municipal corporations to make expenditures, do not apply to contracts executed prior to the date of the adoption of the constitutional provisions.

"Constitutional provisions requiring officers to take certain oaths apply only to officers taking office subsequent to the adoption of the provisions. And provisions against persons gaining residence in certain public institutions do not apply to persons who had gained residence prior to the adoption of such provisions.

"Many other examples of similar nature might be cited, but we think from the adjudicated cases that we may clearly conclude that in this case the constitutional amendment should receive a construction that will allow it to operate prospectively only, and not retrospectively, so as to affect the taxes assessed and levied at the time it was adopted."

BETTER UNDERSTANDING.

Christian Science Lecturer Tells Audience How Healing Is Accomplished in Harmony with Scripture.

Bliss Knapp, C.S.B., of Boston, gave a lecture on Christian Science at Simpson Auditorium yesterday morning before an audience that crowded the building. He was introduced by G. M. Giffen, first reader of the First Christian Church, and said in part:

"It is recorded that Jesus could 'do nothing of himself, but what he seeth the Father do.' The ability of this gentle Nazarene to obliterate disease and sin was, therefore, the result of what he knew about God, and surely he knew more about God than any other man who ever trod the globe. The ability of his disciples to perpetuate Christian healing was also the result of what Jesus taught them about God.

"Even so, the ability of a Christian Scientist to heal the sick and sinning through prayer is wholly due to a better understanding of God, who is the divine principle of man's existence. This is in agreement with the Scriptural command to 'Acquaint now thyself with him, and be at peace.'

"This Christian Science text-book is not a Bible, and it can never displace the Bible. Its sole purpose is so to unlock the spiritual meaning of the Bible as to reveal the power of its eternal truths, in order that all may employ them for healing and reformation."

QUESTION OF UNMARRIED PEOPLE A VEXED ECONOMICAL ISSUE IN THE CHRISTIAN WORLD.

DR. CHARLES EDWARD LOCKE at the First Methodist Episcopal Church last evening, in the course of his present series of sermons on "The Home Circle," preached by special request on the subject "Bachelor men and Bachelor women." TRUE COMPANION FROM MEN WHO DESERT THE CROSS FOR THE DOLLAR MARK.

Rev. D. F. Howe, pastor of the Westlake M. E. Church, preached today night from II Timothy iv:10, "For Demas has forsaken me, having loved this present world." His theme was "Deserting the Cross for the Dollar Mark." He said in part:

"Paul, old, infirm, a prisoner at Rome with a sentence of death hanging over him, finds himself deserted by Demas, once his friend and fellow-worker in the cause of Christ. And why? Because he loved the present world. In other words he turned his back on the cross for the sake of the dollar mark.

"How many fathers and mothers there are all that is good in their children to an early religious life rather than living before their children an absolute indifference to the church and the Sabbath-school, while their children are growing up without any moral or religious instruction whatever. What is the verdict of God on deserters? Just like the world's verdict. What does the world think of Benedict Arnold, of Judas Iscariot, the first man to desert the cross for the dollar mark? What does America think of the men who in 1861 deserted the flag, making a bee-line for Canada, and then sneaked back to enjoy the fruits of other men's sacrifice?

"Why does God plead so with backsliders to return to Him? Because He knows the awful end ahead of them. What does He urge the deserter to do? 'Repent and do your first works over.' It is said that Benedict Arnold when near death wanted to die in the old uniform that he deserted. Those who have deserted the cross for the love of the world better get back into the old uniform before they face death."

REV. W. LEON TUCKER.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.

MEN IN CHURCH OF GOD NEED DELIVERENCE FROM COMMERCIAL TO SPIRITUAL.

At Calvary Baptist Church yesterday morning the pastor, Rev. W. Leon Tucker, preached a missionary sermon and took another one of the missionary offerings which has placed Calvary Church in the lead of missionary giving. He said in part:

"Many people think that the missionary movement belongs to some time. It is neither modern, medieval nor ancient—it is eternal. It did not begin with Carey 100 years ago, nor with Peter at pentecost 2000 years ago, nor with Abraham when he was separated from the nations, but in the heart of God in the eternal ages.

"The missionary program is not human, therefore it does not depend upon human power. It is not a human institution and therefore does not depend on human ingenuity. It is a divine program and depends upon Divine propaganda. The programme and progress of missions is the fascinating study of the universe because it is the fact of God. No one is fit to preach the gospel to the heathen whose mind is not superior to riches and pleasure, aye, even to life and death itself.

"What the men in the church of God need today is deliverance from the commercial to the spiritual. Many men live as if life were to 'save a sum instead of to save some.' Some are jealous of being successors of the apostles. I would rather be a successor of the Samaritan woman, who, while the apostles went for meat and forgot souls, forgot her water pot in her zeal to spread the good tidings.

"A non-missionary Christian has just as definitely broken the divine commandment as the man who goes and robs his neighbor has broken the laws as between men.

"Shame on the thousands of men who drop only a few coins into the pierced hands of the Savior to aid in the task for which He died and yet claim loyalty to Him."

DR. CARTER.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH. ...

GOSPEL SERMON THEME OF PASTOR IS RURAL ENGLAND" OF THE LONG AGO.

"Rural England" was the theme of the gospel sermon at the First Baptist Church Sunday evening by the pastor, Dr. C. M. Carter. He told of the British flags, hanging in the cathedral at Chester, which were carried by the then young men of Chester at the battle of Bunker Hill. He said in part:

"It gives one a peculiar sensation to see British flags honored as precious relics of that battle when one thinks of them as having been carried by 'the enemy.' But God in His providence separated the growing colony beyond the seas to be the mightiest nation of earth. May it be true to its manifest destiny as a nation set up of God for mighty works. China's awakening today is from the inspiration from this great republic rather than the empires of the older lands.

"In Chester, one of the quaintest of English cities, is 'Providence House,' where the plague was stayed in answer to prayer, the old 'rows,' where stores open both on the street level and also up-stairs on the block-long balconies. Here in this tower King Charles I watched his army defeated and his cause lost at the battle of Rawton Moor. Not far from here, at Hawarden, lived that greatest of English statesmen, W. E. Gladstone.

"At Warwick is the finest specimen of medieval castle yet remaining. It belonged to the son-in-law of Cromwell, and thus was spared. It is filled with ancient armor and all manner of interesting relics.

"Kenilworth, made famous by Sir Walter Scott in his immortal story, is a most picturesque ruin near Warwick. It is covered with ivy vines and romance. But, more than all, it stands as the living lesson in dead stone, of the folly of fools in sacrificing virtue for earthly pomp and circumstance. Long, long ago passed Queen Elizabeth with all her court, and the dead lie now on a dead level, but the riches of God never moulder nor are stolen, and His glory fades not away.

"At Oxford John Wesley studied and here Methodism received its name. Among these colleges have walked in their young manhood the great of earth, but none greater than this man who gave his life in unselfish service to God and to his fellow men. Here is Addison's Walk, the beautiful memorial of the man who wrote choicest English to the glory of God."

REV. C. T. MURPHY.

ST. ATHANASIUS CHURCH.

RELIGION OFTEN SEEMS TO DEMAND SACRIFICES OF ESSENTIALS OF LIFE FROM POOR.

In St. Athanasius Episcopal Church Rev. C. T. Murphy yesterday morning preached on "The Cost of Religion to the Poor." His text was from I Kings 17:13: "Make me a little cake first, and afterward make for thee and thy son." He said in part:

"Here we seem to see a sturdy beggar coaxing the last morsel of food from a starving widow and her babe. But the rough-looking tramp is Elijah the Prophet. He is acting by God's command, and not only keeps her household alive through the dreary years of famine, but brings her the higher help of the blessings of true religion.

"Religion often seems to demand a sacrifice of the essentials of life from the poor. The expense of maintaining the church usually falls upon those who apparently can least afford it. This is not a calamity, but a blessing, for in no other way can religion benefit the poor. Wealth can do much in preparing for and in supplementing religion among the poor, but wealth can never originate religion in anyone—nay, it more often stifles spiritual life. Every soul must pay for its own religion—a religion that costs nothing is worth (in real spiritual value) just what it costs.

"How many persons regard the church as an expensive luxury in a community! They feel it is an imposition upon those of small means to ask them to help support it. They say, 'You ought to get some rich man to pay these charges, then we'd all come to church.' This opinion makes the 'church tramp'—the ecclesiastical parasite upon this Christian civilization. My friend, a rich man cannot pay for your religion. He can only by grace of God pay for his own. Your offering to the honor of God's name must come out of your own pocket; your spiritual comforts can come only from the sacrifices you yourself make.

"The religion of Jesus Christ is the supreme need of the poor. Before that Lord all stand equal. There the dignity of manhood is continuously reestablished. There the certain hope is revealed when relieves the heart of its bitterness, and gives courage to endure. There alone may be found the food and drink which can preserve alive either rich or poor in a land starving by reason of spiritual drouth.

"The gospel is the one witness that cries out effectually for justice for the poor. No reform movement apart from Jesus Christ ever has or ever will bring relief to the weak and down-trodden. For what the poor need is not the temporary help of money, but moral power."

DR. JOHN ALBERT EBY.

FIRST UNITED BRETHREN.

PUBLIC SINS OF THE STREETS DRAW YOUNG MEN AND BOBYS TO THEIR DESTRUCTION.

In the first of a series of sermons on "The Sins of Today," Dr. John Albert Eby of the First United Brethren Church, spoke of the public sins on our streets. He said in part:

"It is pleasanter to speak of our virtues and the delightful things regarding our city and our civilization, but because I hate sin so thoroughly and love the souls of my fellow-citizens, I try to speak the words of warning that must be spoken if a preacher is to fill the office of a modern prophet.

"There is no use in shutting our eyes to evil and trying to imagine that it does not exist, because when we open our eyes we find it there as real and persistent as ever. Safety lies not in ignoring the evil but in overcoming it with good. That we cannot do unless we set our faces like flint to recognize the evil and refuse absolutely to let it have dominion over us.

"The cities of America are the centers of crime and all forms of sin and evil. The street life of our people, especially our boy life, is the awful road that leads the thousands to lives of crime and ruin. The fight we are making is not that boys and girls should be kept off the street, but that the street should be made a safe and decent place for all our people.

"I am appalled at the amount of public profanity one hears among boys and men on our city streets. Mark you, I do not say our city is worse than others. In fact I believe Los Angeles is far above the average American city in public morals, but there is great room for improvement. No gentleman will swear, at any time, but to use profane language in public places, where the cursed oath may fall into the pure soul of a little child, is beneath the lowest of the low.

"If you must swear, young man, wait till you go to your own room at night, turn out the light for the shame of your own manhood, go there where only God and your own soul can hear, then swear if you must or if you can. Public profanity is a crime. It makes the ears tingle, the cheeks blush with shame, the heart sadden, the blood boil with indignation, when a decent man or woman must listen to the profane babbling of a swearing man or boy.

"Then there is public drunkenness. What a blot on our civilization! Think of a nation consuming twenty-two gallons of malt and spirituous liquors for every soul in all its borders every year. Think of thousands of miles of saloon fronts open to young men and boys of America. The awful sight of far more young men carousing in the saloons of this country than are to be found in all our churches on any Sunday, is enough to make a lover of our youth and their future grow sick at heart.

"Oh, sinful America Why should the flower of our youth be thus sacrificed to this fearful and stupendous public nuisance, the open saloon?

"I once saw a parade in an eastern city on a Saturday with ten thousand workingmen in line. They carried banners which said: 'Our children cry for bread!' But that same crowd of men marched to one of the city parks and consumed more than 1400 kegs of beer that very day. Fewer children would cry for bread if fewer fathers spent their money for that which is not bread.

"Let us unite to drive sin and sickness from our city by making it the safest and cleanest city on the continent. Let us make our public places have as clean and helpful an atmosphere as may be found in the most refined Christian home in the city. Let us make the streets a safe place for boys and girls. Let us overcome evil with the good. Parents, teachers, men and women, boys and girls unite in this fight for purer atmosphere in all places of public meeting for pleasure or work. At play or work we need to compel conditions that will be uplifting, invigorating and spiritually decent."

DR. CAMPBELL.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

DEFINITE PURPOSE FOLLOWED OUT ARRESTS DOUBT AND OFTEN CONVINCES THE SKEPTICAL.

Choosing for his theme, "The Power of a Definite Purpose," Dr. Edward Campbell said in part at the First First Presbyterian Church yesterday:

"The land in which our Lord lived and the country that witnessed His marvelous career was made to resound with a triumphant strain during the three short years of His ministry. Coming from the northern section of the country returning to Jerusalem, the city that was much in His mind, He set His face steadfastly in order that he might complete the work which he had carried out so bravely and enthusiastically thus far. To the great regret of His disciples who acted in the capacity of an advance guard to prepare the way for His coming, the people of Samaria refused to receive him and treat him courteously because His face was set toward the Holy City and His determination had formerly been announced, to fulfill his mission as the Savior of men.

"He did not tarry long in the city where the inhabitants rejected Him, because He was fully determined and persuaded in His own mind that nothing should stand between Him and the accomplishment of the fixed and definite purpose of His whole life. Calling upon His disciples, James and John, to refrain from becoming angry and irritated at the actions of these people who refused to receive Him into their city, He pushed on toward the consumation of His crowning work in which He suffered on Calvary, urged on by the power of a definite and fixed purpose to do His duty whatever men might do or say.

"First a fixed and definite purpose in a good cause attracts men, wins them to it when otherwise they become indifferent; second, a definite purpose persistently followed out arrests doubt and often convinces the most skeptical; third, the power of such a purpose has manifested itself in history and secures confidence in the great work of the church."

REV. GEORGE A. HENRY.

WEST ADAMS METHODIST.

RELIGIOUS REALISM DEMANDS THAT WE RECOGNIZE THE ELEMENT OF FAITH.

Taking "Religious Realism" as his subject, and his text Acts xvii, 27-28: "The Lord is not far from every one of us; for in Him we live and move and have our being," Rev. George A. Henry, pastor of West Adams Methodist Church, said in part yesterday:

"I use the term 'realism' to indicate the drift of a prevailing mood of the present epoch. In its religious aspect this realism is a return to the realism of Jesus. That Jesus was a realist in the sense in which He placed supreme emphasis, not upon the externals of religion and life, but upon the quality of the spirit, upon the attitude of the will, no reasonable person will question. In the historic development of a body of Christian doctrine, to whose more or less well-defined creedal statements the faith of believers has been called upon to submit, a gradual departure from this spiritual realism of Jesus may be historically traced. But the modern era, however, is witnessing a return to Jesus in this, as in many other things.

"The middle of the nineteenth century may be named as marking the beginning of one of the most widespread battles of the entire modern period, which dates from about 1720 onwards. From 1859, when Darwin published his Origin of Species, until about 1874, when Green published his edition of Hume ,the popular mood at the universities, and, indeed, in all the centers of intellectual life, was the evolutionary mood. For about twenty years evolution was the romance of the thinking world. The world was drunk with it.

"The mechanical philosophy, of which Spencer was the admitted champion, had no theism to offer but that of a 'lifeless stare.' The repudiation of the possibility of miracle, the sneering contempt for prayer, the flippant dismissal of belief in personal immortality, were rampant in those ribald years. Nevertheless the well-nigh universal doubt of the past century is now known to have been a discipline of incalculable worth to modern religious thought. In spite of all this doubt, distrust of religious certainty, this out and out agnosticism, the dominant mood of the present epoch is an unmistakable return to faith in God. As an eagle soars upward by the impact of his primaries against the resisting air, so against the resistance of this doubt modern Faith beats her higher flight into the open sky of noonday opportunities.

"Religious realism demands that we recognize the element of faith—the will to believe—in all our thinking. Where we cannot prove, we believe. Where we cannot demonstrate—we choose sides. This element of faith cannot be escaped; without it the mind is both helpless and dumb."

REV. W. E. TILROE.

BOYLE HEIGHTS M. E. CHURCH.

FINAL CERTAINTY IS, CHRISTIAN RELIGION STANDS OR FALLS WITH THE SUPERNATURAL.

"Some Christian Certainties" was the subject of the sermon by Rev. W. E. Tilroe at the Boyle Heights M. E. Church yesterday. The text was Luke 1-4: "That thou mightest know the certain by the things wherein thou hast been instructed." He said in part:

"One great certainty is that the Christian religion precedes the Christian book. The Bible is the output of the gospel rather than the gospel the output of the Bible. Neither a book nor a saint is any other than a path to God. If one will catch a vision of the truly commanding greatness of the Bible and then remember it is but bud and blossom of the gospel, he will realise anew the benediction of Christianity.

"That the Christian religion stands every test of advertising is another certainty. Luke says that many had taken in hand the writing of those things which Christians most surely believe. They wrote as being witnesses and ministers of their message; the first hand authority of men on the ground was back of all they had to say.

"It has lived in the limelight. Whatever else has happened the children of men have not been able to forget it. Christianity stands every test of culture.

"The final certainty is that the Christian religion stands or falls with the supernatural. The writings of Luke are said to be the most utterly classical of all the sacred Scriptures. They give evidence of the largest scientific spirit extant in their time. Greek and Roman scholars of their day were believing more absurd things than were ever chargeable to the Christians. As plain record of current events the theory of Luke is among the gems of all literature. Yet written down in regular order as matters of course, are the most unusual and unbelievable things.

"Jesus of Nazareth at twelve years of age astonishes the doctors of Israel. Grown to man's estate He is tempted of the devil, heals the sick, and raises the dead. At the noon of his years brought to a violent end he rises from the grave and by and by leaves the habitations of men by ascending the skies in the clouds. We follow readily enough when the writings tell of the commonplace. We are expected to follow just as readily when their tale is of the marvelous and supernatural. What real reason may there be that we should swerge and halt only at the miraculous? Likely as not the chief glory of the Christian's faith is its vision of other worlds."

REV. J. A. GEISSINGER.

UNIVERSITY M E. CHURCH.

THE NEWER SPIRIT HAS ALREADY REGISTERED ITSELF IN THE WRITING OF HISTORY.

Rev. J. A. Geissinger preached at the University Methodist Church last night on "The New Epoch for Civilization." He said in part:

"We seem to be passing into a new epoch in human history. We have for several centuries and especially for several generations lived in a scientific age. At the beginning of the modern age, which we set off from the mediaeval time because the latter was largely a time of ignorance and superstition, stands Francis Bacon, who saw most clearly something of the meaning of the natural order and its possible service to man. Thus came investigations, discoveries and inventions and such names as Darwin and Huxley and Marconi and Edison. We have been busy subduing the earth and making the winds and the waves do our bidding. The Hottentot runs from the lightning; the modern man makes the lightning run from him. When men began this work of harnessing natural forces to human uses a new epoch began in the history of the world.

"Our interest now seems to be turning from what we call the natural world to the world of man.

"The newer spirit has already registered itself in the writing of history, which no longer concerns itself exclusively with the thoughts and escapades of kings, but with the movement of the people. We marvel at the uprisings in Mexico, Turkey and even in China; yet none of these are more significant than the uprising in these United States. Politically even the dullest must be aware of the movement towards democracy. We are putting political power back into the hands of the people, all the people, and in California we have conceded that even women are people. We still believe in representative government, but we have grown weary of the manipulation of this form of government by coteries of interested people who disregard the rights of all the people, and so there is on among us a vigorous movement to let public sentiment find its way into political channels, and the statesmen who are wise will try not to dam back the rising tide, but give it reasonable direction.

"Still this spirit is not confined to political affairs. It has touched the deeps of our being. And as a result, a finer smypathy, a humaner mood, a deeper passion for justice and for service have come to us. It should be ours not to let this newer spirit waste itself. The need, now, is for men of vision, of reverence, of wisdom, of the sacrificial spirit."

PASTOR RUSSELL'S WEEKLY SERMON.

LONDON TABERNACLE, Nov. 12.—Pastor Russell, addressing large audiences today, declared, "Divine Love is the greatest thing in the universe," and by the close of his discourse his large audience seemed fully in agreement with his presentation. His text was "That in the ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His loving kindness toward us in Christ Jesus." (Ephesians II, 7.) He said in part:

Following in the footsteps of our fathers, who handed down to us our present-day creeds, we have misunderstood our gracious Creator. We studied astronomy and declared the Creator almighty; we studied geology and confirmed the decision. We studied zoology and anthropology and declared that the Creator was all-wise, as we came to appreciate Him. We noted the adaptation of our various organs to our use and comfort—the hand, the foot, the eye, the ear, the circulatory system, the nervous system, and the power of the will over these.

We said to ourselves, truly man is fearfully and wonderfully made, truly his Maker is a God infinite in wisdom and skill. We examined the subject of man's moral sense, and although we found it impaired we have been astonished to note how even the most selfish and depraved have an instinct of justice, a sense of right, whether they follow it or not.

"LOVE DIVINE, ALL LOVE EXCELLING."

Then we said, Whence came this noble principle of justice as the backbone or moral quality in our race? The only reply was that in this particular God originally created man in His own moral likeness, and that a measure of this moral quality has persisted notwithstanding the fall through disobedience into death and its consequent demoralization through sin and weakness.

Looking further, we perceived that the noblest specimens of our race possess still other qualities closely associated with justice, but outranking it. The noble quality which overtops all the rest we term love. It is love which makes the heart tender, sympathetic, helpful and happy; it is love that makes home, whether exercised in a palace or a hovel. It is love which backs up justice and insists that no ill shall be worked toward a neighbor. It is love that is on the alert to assist by word or act all of those needing aid. It is love that inspires us to the boldest acts of heroism. It is love that prompts the giving of time and strength, of means and even life itself on behalf of its object.

All freely admit that love is the greatest, the most blessed quality possessed by humanity, and that without it even paradise could not bring happiness. We ask, Whence came this quality of love, and from what fountain can we receive the fresh supplies so much needed by so many of our race? The answer is that the great Creator Himself is the fountain. "God is love." This all-wise and all-powerful and all-just one is pre-eminently the "God of all grace." "The Father of mercies." "The Fountain of blessing."

"Love divine, all love excelling,
Joy of heaven, to earth come down;
Fix in us Thy humble dwelling,
All Thy faithful mercies crown."

"SHOW ME THY GLORY."

The ancients had the correct thought, that they had caught but a glimpse of the divine character and its glory; hence their prayer, "Show me Thy glory." The same should be our sentiment. In the clear light now shining upon God's Word we perceive that it will require the entire outworking of the divine plan of the ages to illustrate or make known to humanity the real character of the Heavenly Father. Only the very few can by faith accept the divine promises and trust in their ultimate fulfilment and see far down into the future the full shining forth of God's character, perfect in its wisdom, justice, power and love.

We may not judge the infinite love in all respects by human comparison, but we may know that our difficulty in the matter is that the human comparisons can only imperfectly represent the Infinite. We see the excavation or perhaps the foundation walls, or perhaps the first story of a structure; but if we were to judge wholly by these imperfect parts it would be manifestly unfair and we should be deceiving ourselves. The only way to judge of the builder's capacity and intentions would be to see the architectural drawing and to study the details—and then we may but very imperfectly appreciate the whole. Is it not thus in respect to the great Maker's present work and ultimate designs? The poet has well said:

"Judge not the Lord by feeble sense,
But trust Him for His grace,
Behind a frowning providence
He hides a smiling face.
"His purposes will ripen fast,
Unfolding every hour;
The bud may have a bitter taste,
But sweet will be the flower."

If we stand beside a great sculptor with his freshly chosen block of marble, we may at first feel shocked to note the apparent roughness and carelessness with which he smites off large pieces of the stone, as though bent on its destruction. But let patience have her perfect work, and gradually we will see that the sculptor has not been careless or indifferent in respect to a single blow.

All the while that he seemed so reckless he was working according to the ideal before his own mind. With his mind's eye he saw his ideal in the stone, and blow after blow, chip after chip merely revealed to our eyes what he had purposed in himself from the beginning of his work. Not until his work was finished could we comprehend fully the ideal. Is not this principle still more true of our Creator? He tells us that He is "working all things according to the counsel of His own will," which He purposed in Himself "before the world was." (Ephesians I, 11; iii, 10, 11.)

The great Master Workman of the Universe will eventually show both to angels and men all the various attributes of His perfection—His wisdom, justice, power and love. Meantime, "None of the wicked shall understand," but in the end of this age the wise will increasingly understand His saints, of whom it is written, "The secret of the Lord is with them that reverence Him." "He will show you things to come."—Psalm xxv, 14; John xvi, 13.

NOW APPLY THE PRINCIPLE.

Let us apply this principle to the work of our great Creator. Let us see how far it has already progressed. In what state of development is the divine plan today? What will be procured to complete it and to manifest divine wisdom, justice, love and power? Only by a careful examination of the Great Architect's revealed plan can we judge at all of the degree to which His purposes have already attained perfection.

The wreck and blight of human interests resulting from Father Adam's disobedience progressed for twenty-five hundred years before the first step was taken in the divine programme on man's behalf. That first step was merely the making of a rough outline drawing with various crude illustrations which merely hinted at one or another of the Creator's glorious purposes. This rough outlining was done during the sixteen hundred years we call the Jewish age.

Israel as a nation pictured all the world of mankind who will ultimately come into fellowship with God. Their one tribe of Levi typified the Household of Faith, "the Church of the First-born" of this gospel age, through whom all blessings will come to the remainder. The select Levitee, the priests, typified the Royal Priesthood of the better Mediator. The sacrifices by which that covenant was established, and that people brought into harmony with God, typified the better sacrifices of Christ, which began with our Lord and have continued in His faithful followers who present their bodies living sacrifices, wholly and acceptable to God through Him. (Romans xii. 1.)

Israel's Jubilee year typified the great Times of Jubilation soon to come, "the blessing of all the families of the earth"—the "Times of Restitution of all things," to be inaugurated at the second coming of Christ and the establishment of His Kingdom. Manifestly only those who could understand these roughly sketched drawings could comprehend to any degree the great divine plan of the ages.

With this gospel age God began a great work which is yet far from finished and which as yet does not show forth fully to mankind in general His justice, wisdom, power of love. The work of this age, according to the Scriptures, is the selection of both the Church, which is "The Bride, the Lamb's Wife," and "the virgins, her companions, who follow her." (Psalms xiv, 8-18.)

The Bible declares that Jesus, the Redeemer, having finished His sacrifice, passed into glory—beyond the veil—to the right hand of divine Majesty. It declares also that when this age shall be completed all the faithful followers of Jesus will pass to Him beyond the veil and share His glory and His kingdom and immortality on the heavenly plane. But how few there are who see this much of the divine plan; and if they cannot see this much how could they be expected to see still further into the future developments of the divine programme?

As the sentence of death came as the result of one transgression, but involved the race, so one sacrifice for sin, by the "man Christ Jesus," was sufficient to be a ransom-price for the sins of the whole world—a man's life for a man's life. Thus as condemnation came through one man unto death, so justification is provided through this other man unto everlasting life.—Romans v, 14:18.

OFFSETS ADAM'S SIN.

But although so broad a foundation for human salvation was laid by the great Master Workman, the message and the blessing therein have not been granted as yet to the majority, but to the few—"He that hath an ear to hear, let him hear;" "As many as the Lord your God shall call;" "No man can come unto Me, except the Father which sent Me draw him." And this calling and drawing, though in one sense free, is in another sense restricted to those who are in the heart condition of being drawn and of hearing the call. All others remain blinded to the divine invitation by the God of this world. (II Corinthians iv, 4.)

Evidently those now being drawn and "called" are not the whole world, but a select class. Those who prove themselves faithful to the end are styled "the very elect." These are the royal priesthood who, as priests, will be associated with Jesus in His glorious, world-wide empire which "shall rule from sea to sea and from the river unto the ends of the earth," for the binding of Satan, the overthrow of sin, and the uplifting of sinners. But we are to clearly distinguish between the present work of selecting the royal priests, the bride, the lamb's wife, and the work for the world, which these will accomplish after their glorification on the spirit plane.

We must thus distinguish, because looking upon the revealed plans of the great architect of the universe, we perceive that thus He has arranged—the church, as the bride of Christ, is to constitute "a new creation," "partakers of the divine nature—like unto her Lord. These on the plane of glory will have a station "far above principalities and powers and every name that is named."—Eph. i, 21; Rev. iii, 21.

Whoever can see this to be the divine plan must with the eye of faith look down to the future and behold the church—"changed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye," because "flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God." Here is love, wondrous love, in lifting up members of the sinner race to glory, honor and immortality. Who can comprehend such love as this which the Father has bestowed upon Jesus and the "little flock" of His followers who walk in His steps?

In the thousand years' reign of Messiah's glorious empire, colaboring with Him in the overthrow of sin and death—in the release of humanity from these powers of evil, by restoring in them to human perfection, the bride of Jesus (the church) will have a glorious share. Glory, honor and immortality will be her portion. The great architect has not further revealed His plans in respect to the work of Christ, and His bride during the eternity beyond His Messianic reign. We merely know that when He shall have finished that work He will deliver up the kingdom to God, even the Father. (I Cor. xv, 24.)

But then, in the "ages to come," God will show forth the exceeding riches of His grace, and His loving-kindness toward us in Christ Jesus." Oh! how much is meant by those words, "exceeding riches of His grace!" Mind, heart, nor tongue can measure the depths of those words, when we remember the infinite greatness of the Father's mercy which guarantees His promise. Can any one imagine anything more mighty, more influential in all the universe than love divine?

ANGELENO LOSES HOME.

STRATHMORE, Nov. 12.—During the absence of all of the family but a small son and daughter, the beautiful country bungalow of Dr. Kittredge Wheeler of Los Angeles, situated on his orange orchard just east of Strathmore, was burned to the ground today, entailing a loss of $7000, on which there is but a small amount of insurance. While the monetary value of the furnishings of the home is not great, in the den there were scores of objects which Dr. Wheeler had picked up during several tours of Europe and their value cannot even be estimated.

FOR YOUR HAIR
Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our endorsement to Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our stores—The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Portland, Seattle and Spokane.

SHE'LL BRING HIM HOME.

A pretty Los Angeles girl is to travel 2000 miles to marry her lover in an eastern state. His folks expect her to settle down there among them, but you just watch. We'll bet a dollar against a doughnut that she will have the boy on the train for Los Angeles before the winter is half over.

NEW MEXICO.

After all New Mexico did not go entirely bad. Making up for a Democratic Governor is a distinctly Republican Legislature. The new State's first lawmaking body is of the utmost importance and the people are fortunate in having placed their early legislation in the hands of able men who represent sound governmental principles.

THE LAST STRAW.

We are about to be afflicted, so to speak, with the proverbial last straw that broke the camel's back. Not content with filling every available inch of the circumambient atmosphere with unnecessary noises from the capacious wind compartments of local orators, the Socialists are now to import Lincoln Steffins for service on the local hustings. God save us!

DANCING.

It is a pleasure to note that so many Los Angeles children are taught the art of dancing by schooled and competent teachers. Dancing is not only a delight to both the performer and the onlooker, but it is also a most excellent form of exercise. And above all it imparts a certain physical grace to the human form divine that can be acquired in scarcely any other way.

THE DRAGON.

The Chinese revolutionists are finding out that the old Manchu dragon still knows how to use both its claws and its teeth. The immemorial graftern who have fed and fattened around the throne for lo, these many years, will not separate themselves from a good thing without something like a struggle.

GREETINGS.

Greetings to our esteemed fellow-countrymen of Oregon, Montana, the Dakotas and the entire Northwest, which land of granaries is now deep in snow and chill with wintry blasts. We send word to them of blue skies of balm, flower-flamed hedges and soft sea breezes. Come down, brothers, to Los Angeles; the weather's fine.

THE SLOGAN.

The old "get together" slogan which made Los Angeles great is now more appropriate than it ever was. There is a graver need for the people of this town to get together in this crisis than there has ever been in the past. Los Angeles is threatened by the curse of socialism. Let us get together and crush the serpent's head, once and for all.

THE ARABS.

When one considers all the fighting the Arabs have done, and how they have been slaughtered for years and years by English, French, Germans, Italians and all, the wonder is that there are any Arabs left. Never was there a braver people on the face of the earth, and it seems a pity that they have not been more peaceful in their dispositions, or that they could not have been left by their foes to enjoy peace.

BORN HERE.

China's rebellion seems to have had its foundation in the education of Chinese in the United States. The long hatred of the Manchu was smarting in the Chinese heart, but it took the quickening of western enlightenment to arouse the children of the Dragon to action. Now that success stretches her hand to them it is the Chinaman whose education has been in American schools and in American diplomacy who is planning the new government.

ENTER PORTIA.

Within the past few weeks the public here has become familiar with women jurors, while the people of other Western States have been long familiar with the same spectacle. But it has been reserved for our sister State of Washington to present the nation with the first woman judge.

It appears that the lady in question presided over the destinies of a suit at law in the city of Vancouver recently. The reports indicate that she displayed ability and wisdom. She even silenced garrulous female witnesses. Thus in the strange days in which we live Portia herself enters incarnate upon the busy stage.

THE BACK OF THE LOT.

In the back end of an ordinary Los Angeles town lot a man can raise sufficient vegetables for his table nearly every month of the year. He can also raise his winter supply of grape-jam and jelly, figs, berries, honey, oranges and dozens of other things, not to speak of an occasional broiler for his Sunday dinner. And eggs.

Yet it is a strange fact to contemplate that all over Los Angeles you will find hundreds of town lots which are not utilized for these purposes. Here is the kindly soil, the sun and the rain, irrigation facilities from the city's water supply, God's goodness in every form—and a supreme indifference to it all on the part of people who have had Southern California placed in their hands but who have not learned how to play on it.

OUR MERCHANT MARINE.

We have no merchant marine at all commensurate with our position as a nation. Several methods are suggested of recovering in this respect the position which we held before the Civil War. One method is to effect such change in the navigation laws as will enable American owners to buy foreign-built ships. This would be strenuously resisted by American shipbuilders, for owing to the lower wages earned by foreign workmen a ship can be built on the Clyde for half the cost of its construction in Pennsylvania, or Maine, or on Puget Sound. Yet even with this advantage but few ships are constructed in this country, not more than enough to supply the loss caused by wrecks, and not enough to keep pace with the commercial growth of the nation. Yet even free ships would not place us on an equality with European countries whose sailors receive but half of the wages paid to those who work on American ships.

A second method of recuperating our lost shipping is by differential or preferential customs duties on goods imported from foreign countries in American ships. Such a measure would be a violation of the treaty made between England and the United States at the close of the war of 1812, by which a policy was agreed upon of "reciprocity upon the deep seas." This policy of ocean reciprocity has been incorporated in similar treaties with every maritime nation in the world, and for us now to recede from it would destroy our commercial relations with the whole world, and the nations would make differential duties against us.

A third suggestion is that when the Panama Canal shall be completed no toll shall be charged for American vessels passing through the canal. This course would be a violation of our treaty obligations with Great Britain, with respect to an interoceanic ship canal, and would also be objectionable to other nations who, under "the most favored nation clause" are entitled to the same treaty rights as Great Britain.

At last the only immediate and practicable method of restoring our commerce is that of ship subsidies which is adopted by the maritime nations of Europe. England appropriates annually for various subsidies to her shipping more than $10,000,000. We maintain our navy at a cost of $130,000,000 per annum and we have no ships for transports in time of war.

It is to be hoped that Pacific Coast Senators will not oppose but will favor a liberal mail contract between the United States and the owners of the large steamships now building which are designed for freight and passenger traffic between New York and this Coast via the Panama Canal. It is certain that if such assistance be not granted and a flat rate be charged on all vessels of whatever nationality passing through the canal, our commerce will be carried on as now in foreign ships.

TO TRAIN THE IMAGINATION.

For good or evil, as it is used or misused, the imagination is one of the greatest forces in making or marring the fortunes of a nation. Beside the real miracles springing from this fount of inspiration the magic of the conjurer is but a clumsy and mechanical device. Rarely taken into account by any educational system, seldom or never encouraged as part of a business training, the imagination, nevertheless, exercises an overwhelming influence in all practical mundane affairs.

The success of a big department store or dry goods emporium is fashioned by the chisel of the imagination as truly as were the figures of the Venus de Milo or the Apollo Belvidere; great cities and systems of government are created by it as definitely as were Shakespeare's "Hamlet" or Dante's Divine Comedy. Political parties depend on it to give tone to their views as thoroughly as did Turner or Rembrandt to give color to their canvases. In short, the creative power in man may almost be summed up in the use of this comprehensive quality.

The development, then, of the imagination is a matter of supreme importance; the training of this divine gift and the directing of it along wholesome and ennobling channels ought to be a leading feature in every educational curriculum; as necessary for the bricklayer as for the poet. For as this subtle power is a mighty weapon for good in the hands of the well disciplined, so its abuse is equally dangerous when employed by the ignorant or unscrupulous.

It stands to reason that every great creative power, when misapplied, may become an equally potent agent for destruction. This is especially true of the imagination. Charlatans, adventurers, agitators, quacks, firebrands, false prophets, self-seekers and unbalanced fanatics depend on a distortion and disfiguring of this God-given faculty to work their selfish ends or to draw their foolish conclusions. A striking demonstration of this truth may be seen in the present campaign being waged in Los Angeles by the forces of disorder against the ever-increasing prosperity of our city. One has only to listen to the arguments used by the orators of the Socialist party to see how this playing on the untrained imagination is being used as a lever to throw all established ideas of right and wrong out of gear and to twist askew the machinery of government.

For real grievances they propose imaginary remedies; and real remedies for imaginary grievances; they fail utterly to make the two connect. Were the use of the imagination systematically trained in youth the wholesale fabrications of interested agitators as well as the Utopian dreams of wrong-headed idealists could never have any hold on the hearts of the thinking multitude. Among the many charges that can be laid against socialistic teachings this degrading of the imaginative faculty is not the lightest. Among the most salient shortcomings in our present educational system the neglect to train the imagination is one of the most serious.

Those whose noble schemes have failed, whose enthusiasms have declined, whose visions and dreams have faded, those who are weighed down by temporary depressions or swayed by passing gusts of cynicism are willing to turn in quiet desperation to the doctrine of pessimism preached by Socialist agitators. Yet it is simply flying to evils that they know not of. An imagination trained in youth, as the muscles of the athlete are trained, the brain of the business man, or the dexterous hand of the mechanic, would have prevented the decline and failure, the depression and cynicism, on which human weaknesses the disrupters of society pin their only hopes of success.

A Very Tasty Display.

UNFAIRLY BRANDED.

Tradition is responsible for many popular errors; humor keeps alive notions incapable of serious proof; but one of the most unfair brands applied to any one single class of people seems to have originated in the fairy tales of the nursery. The abuse of stepmothers as a class has too long outlived its origin.

The portrayal of the cruel stepmother in some of the favorite folk lore and fairy stories, by being impressed on the plastic mind of the child, has inoculated society with a prejudice against them as a class. In "Cinderella," "Jack, the Giant Killer," and many other imaginative stories written for children, the cruel stepmother has typified the evil genius of the world. And the children, while they never come across real gilas slippers or giants or sky-high beanstalks, know that stepmothers actually exist, and the inevitable epithet "cruel" sticks to the name.

Stepmothers on occasions have no doubt acted cruelly toward their stepchildren; so have uncles and guardians often taken advantage of their helpless charges; even parents, unfortunately, have been known to ill-treat their own offspring. But no one thinks of branding all uncles and guardians and parents as unworthy because of these isolated cases. Why, then, should stepmothers be so generally maligned?

The very fact that children through these nursery books have been led to look upon all stepmothers as naturally vindictive renders the already delicate task undertaken by the woman who generously offers to act as their foster mother a hazardous and often heart-breaking venture. When trouble does occur, through their preconceived notions the fault often lies with the children themselves, and not unseldomly the father is more to blame than the second wife. He has the chief duty to prevent discord and the unpleasantness of family jars; certainly to let the stepmother as an interloper bear all the odium of any ensuing strife, argues a want of chivalry on the part of the man who persuaded her by the power of love to take his responsibility ohto her alien shoulders.

In the majority of women the mother instinct is very strong; and to this instinct, unless it is thwarted by its object, the state of the motherless little ones naturally appeals, especially when they belong to the man who has sworn to honor and protect her. From the education of the child the fairy tales dealing with cruel stepmothers might advantageously be expunged.

UNCLE WALT.

The Post Philosopher.

"The road is fierce," one pilgrim said, complaining; "the doggone hills are most absurdly high; it's always sizzling when it isn't raining, and storms are brewing in the northern sky. The road is fierce; its obstacles affright me, my feet are full of sandburs and the like, and farmer's dogs come running out to bite me, and so, methinks, I'll cease to hit the pike. I'll just sit here upon this granite boulder, and wait and watch, and hope for better things, and passing pilgrims, stronger far and bolder, may give me handouts as they pass, by jings." "The road is good," one pilgrim said, serenely; "I like these hills, they test my wind and brawn." And on he skipped, with carriage high and queenly, heart unafraid, and face toward the dawn. He sang glad songs, he cut up happy didos; whene'er he met a man he won a friend; he braved the storms and chased the barking Fidos, and won the guerdon at the journey's end.

LOS ANGELES TIMES ILLUSTRATED WEEKLY.

Important changes in the magazine are impending, announcement of which was made in yesterday's issue, to which attention is called. These changes will be inaugurated with the beginning of a new volume, January 6, 1912. New and more attractive features will be introduced, and the scope and field of this favorite adjunct of the Sunday Times will be materially enlarged. It will be made a publication specially suited for circulation abroad, at a separate subscription price and separate and apart from the regular issue of the Sunday Times when called for; yet it will, as heretofore, be served with the Sunday paper to regular subscribers without extra charge.

The Jewish people inhabiting the Tripolitan country and its hinterland have inhabited and traded in that part of North Africa since a time dating back into the dim ages of the past. Tripoli is today a comparatively poor country, and the little trade that is done there is mainly in the hands of the native Jews. Some nine-tenths of them, however, are paupers. The Jews take an active part in commercial intercourse with Turkey and other European countries, exporting cattle, skins, carpets, ivory, ostrich feathers, and especially dates, figs and alfa grass. From Europe they import corn, flour, cloth, haberdashery, fancy goods and ironmongery. Although the Jews have done everything possible to push trade far into the hinterland the Turkish government has not given them the slightest encouragement in the way of the building of railways. While the trade of the lands on either side of Tripoli—the Egyptian Sudan and Tunis—have been fostered by the laying out of roads and railways, Tripoli itself does not possess an inch of railway, and is devoid of decent roads.

THE CHATTERBOX.

Los Angeles has always been a hot town for the religious neophyte. Secretly, I have long entertained a grave fear lest so many initiates should suddenly break through into the great light that a large majority of our population would be translated after the happy and effective manner of the late Elijah, leaving the city in the hands of a few who might possibly fail to make good in the ultimate occult test.

To this hour I remain convinced that only one thing in the economy of the gods has saved us from a wholesale immigration to the land of promise. It happens that the rules of the gods include common honesty and that the transport of mortals to the realms of the immortal are common signs of human character. Sitting around in the dark with our eyes shut, either when in a charmed circle or when entirely alone, never rushes a man through the cosmic gap to where celestial wings are beating. Our only chance is the square. It isn't a mystical square, by the way, but simply the shadow of a wholesome human being who is measured full length on earth because he is in an upright position. That man is a master who is happy because he does right.

We are, I believe, to have the real goods in the line of novitiates, initiates and near divinities somewhere Pasadena way in the early sweet bye and bye. It is whispered among a few of the elect, select and otherwise prepared that Annie Besant is coming to Pasadena for good and all. I am told the brilliant, if somewhat stolid, head of one of the world's societies of Theosophy will build herself a pleasant residence in the city of millionaires and sunkea gardens. Furthermore it is whispered that her followers will straightway erect a theosophical temple near her new home. This will give Southern California double-barreled theosophical facilities. With the Purple Mother holding forth at Point Loma and Mrs. Besant commanding an army of T. S. people from the Pasadena shrine, all sorts of vibrations are to pour forth from this sunny land upon a benighted world.

It isn't really a benighted world, of course, with so many secret and public religionists ramifying its quarters with their mental batteries. I am not laughing. I have seen it work. China illustrates my point. Their present rebellion is not exactly on a new-thought basis, but it goes with that modern political upheaval which is the corollary of modern religion, modern philosophy and modern science.

At the risk of being guilty of a cheap "I told you so," I am obliged to do certain of my friends justice in confessing that they gave me from three years to six months' warning that the present how-d'ye-do in China was happy on the way and likely to break forth at any hour. A woman who is now in Japan doing metaphysics, after having thoroughly inundated Honolulu with a tidal wave of enlightenment, told me a year ago that from a metaphysical basis the big blow-up in Chinese politics could not possibly miss fire another two years. Two of my informants were newspaper men. One of them studies philosophy, god-culture, short-storyism and Chinese photography at San Francisco. He refused a good berth on an eastern paper six months ago because he wanted to be on the Coast with an ear on 'Frisco Chinatown when the rebellionists went into business. It was a ground-floor proposition with him and now he is selling the magazines pictures of rebellion leaders which the magazines will print in 1920 and pay for in 1951. I always did admire a man who could see his nose before his face when it came to a business turn. A police reporter in Los Angeles gave me the tip a year ago that the Chinese here were cheerfully contributing for the shakedown on the other side.

I perceive that a Chatterbox has too much leeway for chattering and that I am missing a lead to the important announcement that Christian Larsen is now blazing among us. Christian has been the real light of the American illuminati for so long that it is a shame for him to go around with the rosy complexion and shiny bright pompadour of youth. Nobody in America excepting Ella Wheeler Wilcox has been able to put over the soul-stuff with the same eclat as Christian. Even Elizabeth and William from their modest doorstep in Holyoke have been unable to produce the joyful yawps with which Christian has signalled the neophyte who had two good silver dollars to exchange for a peep into the unseen through the cosmic lens. Sometimes this lens was called the Cosmic World and sometimes Eternal Progress, but Christian put it over every time until his revelations were too much commercialized by over-zealous business managers. He is really and truly one of us now, henceforth and forever, and purposes publishing three of his magazines from Los Angeles on a strictly heart-cultural, mind-illuminating, Great-Within basis, without the commercial stigma to involve the sensitive soul of the truth-seeking reader.

Besides, we can never tell when the inside of rather curious mental processes is going to break on the outside in some visibly important work. To my mind the biggest book written in Los Angeles last year came from the pen of a corporation attorney who was once on the Supreme Court bench here. I won't name the book or the author at this time, for I may want to use the same subject later to acquaint the public with his remarkable versatility in science and art, and I don't want to present a limited view at this time. What I wish to say is that here is a man, apparently given over to biology and civil law, who suddenly breaks chancery chains and telescope lenses to utter a pronouncement on immortality which half of scholastic Germany has acclaimed from university platforms to be one of the great words of the age.

I insist that the process by which such books are evolved and through which such ideas are liberated borders on methods that are frankly occult in tenor.

I also insist that, as crazy as some of these societies, schools and orders may appear to the average healthy-minded person, they are laying the foundation for a sunburst of genius in Los Angeles that in another generation or two generations will startle the world. I mean that the hidden thought of this city at the present time is doing much to pave the way for the richest Renaissance the world has known. I call upon Babylon, Alexandria, Athens and Florence to make way for the great western queen of an opulent art.

The antipathy against the United States on the question of reciprocity and an interchange of trade relations has not gone so far that the country will bar out red, white and blue poker checks.

WOLGAST BREEZES IN AND OUT OF TOWN AGAIN

Help! Police!

FIREMEN WIN AT BASEBALL.

Defeat Police by Close Score in Exciting Game.

Leach Pitches Fine Ball in All but One nning.

Stelzeride Hammered Hard in the Fourth.

BY GREY OLIVER.

Firemen, 7; Police, 6.

For the second time in three years the ball team of the city fire department trimmed the policemen yesterday at Washington Park and as a result the fund of the Firemen's Relief Association will be enriched by a fair sized sum, the entire receipts less the necessary expenses being for the fund.

As a framework for the game the distinguished men present to grace the occasion were Police Commissioner Charles Wellbern, Councilman Andrews, Fire Commissioner G. W. Stockwell, Clerk Charles McKeag, Police Chief Sebastian and Fire Chief Eley, all of this city, and Police Chief Snyder of Riverside. Dozens of policemen and firemen were present, some on leave of absence and others who spent their day off at the game.

Thousands of tickets were sent out and it will be impossible to even estimate the receipts for several days.

Strange to say there was very little hitting in such a game, for Leach, the heaver for the Firemen, pitched very good ball and both Stelzeride and N. Beals for the Police were very fair. Leach stuck the entire game out and held the Police to six swats. Stelzeride began the show for the Police, but got such a drubbing in the fourth inning that he retired in favor of N. Beals, who finished the game. Four runs and four hits were made off Stel and three runs and three hits off Beals. Beals fanned seven men in four innings and hit one, and had not a little hard luck pursued him he might have won for his team.

In the second with one out, Mungen, for the Police, singled to left and went to second on Smith's out at first. McCarron's Texas leaguer put him on third, Mac going to second on the throw in. Then Stelzeride grounded to short and Hendrikx not only juggled this but threw the ball so wildly to first that both Mungen and McCarron scored. In the fifth, two singles, Cantwell's pass and Cummings's out at first scored another run for the Police.

Stelzeride for the Police got by the first inning all right, but Lind, the first man up for the Firemen in the second inning, ripped off a triple over first base and a moment later scored on a wild pitch. In the fourth Sepulveda Texas leagued to left and scored on Johnson's triple to right. After Ling had popped to short, Clark doubled to the left fence, scoring Johnson. Clark ran to third on a wild pitch and scored on Leach's out at first. These two runs were too much for Manager Tyler of the Police and he took Stelzeride out and put in N. Beals in the fifth.

This bird fanned Hendrikx, the first man up in the fifth, and then soaked Healey with the ball. Healey ran to second when Haben was fanned and scored on Sepulveda's triple over first. Johnson followed this by hitting a left field single off his left ear which scored Sepulveda. In the sixth with two out, Tuttle swatted to right, stole second and ran to third when H. Beals made an overthrow on this steal. Hendrikx's grounder was thrown to first by Harry Beals, but Mungen dropped the ball and on this muff Tuttle scored the final run for the Firemen.

The Police made a big spurt toward victory in the seventh by making three runs, but were just one shy at the end of this round and finished one shy when the game ended. N. Beals walked, Brother H. singled to right and stole second. A moment later Johnson tried to catch N. Beals off third, but Ling allowed the throw to get away from him and N. Beals scored. Brother got to third on this and raced to the plate when Cummings drove the ball to center for a single.

Cantwell for the Police at short looks like a real ball player and he handled his eight chances without a skip. Hendrikx also showed a lot of class at short for the Firemen. Johnson and Sepulveda led in the hitting with a triple and a single.

On the whole the game was well worth watching and the same teams with the same kind of playing would certainly draw a good sized crowd of fans on any diamond.

JOE RIVERS SHOWED BIG IMPROVEMENT IN HIS WORK

De Witt Van Court Pays a Critical Visit to the Camps of Freddie Welsh and Joe Rivers and Gives a Candid Opinion—Freddie's Condition Is Great—Wolgast Not to Second Conley.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

JOE RIVERS started to work at exactly 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Shaw's gymnasium, and if anyone thinks that he has gone back, it would pay him to take a trip down to the beach and watch him work.

The three extra pounds that he fights at this time has made a new Joe Rivers out of him. He boxes speedier and cleverer than ever, and hits so hard that he has about put his brother Andy out of the running for a while.

Andy is a faithful fellow and is always willing to help Joe all he can, but complained that he had a sore arm, nose and hand.

Joe showed what a great eye he had when he boxed with Battling Chico. Chico is one of the fastest little 116-pound boys in the country and his speed is a great help to Joe. Little Chico can make his hands move so fast that it is hard to follow them, but Joe seemed to have no trouble in pulling his head out of the way, or blocking his blows.

Rivers appeared to better advantage yesterday than I have ever seen him. He is also in much better humor than he has been in any of his previous fights, which speaks well for his fine condition.

Joe Levy is trying to arrange a match with Abe Attell if he wins the fight with Conley. The only hitch at the present time is the financial end of it.

Levy is holding out for a percentage. He said that he believed a fighter was worth just what he could bring into the house.

About two hundred people watched Rivers at work. Shaw's gymnasium is a good place to work, but the fighters complained of the dust and dirt. The proprietor would do well to have all the dust removed, as it is a bad thing for the boxers and very unpleasant to visitors.

Louis Hahn did his usual work today, but is not working very hard, as he is down to weight and is taking no chances of going stale.

Harry Burns, who is managing Hahn, is anxious for Louis to win this fight, as he wants a match with Bob Waugh of Texas. He is looking for the semi-final to the Wolgast-Welsh fight on Thanksgiving Day. Hahn is matched to fight Eddie Denis in one of the preliminaries to the Rivers-Conley fight next Saturday.

WELSH AT WORK.

The big auditorium out on the Venice pier was filled at 3:30 o'clock yesterday, when Freddie Welsh made his appearance to start on the hard three-weeks' work that he has before him for his match with Ad Wolgast.

Before he had been going half an hour, they were standing three deep around the back of the hall and at least one-third of them were ladies.

Welsh is a most entertaining fellow in his work. While he does not play to the grand stand, he has a system of his own in doing his training stunts that are full of ginger and in-

WOLGAST MEETS WELSH, BOXES HOBO DOUGHERTY.

Champ's Manager Does Not Want Eyton for Referee Because He Is an Advocate of the English Style of Boxing and Is Opposed to Infighting — Wolgast to Leave Today—The Moving Pictures.

BY R. A. WYNNE.

AD WOLGAST, the lightweight champion of the world, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday morning at 7:30 over the Salt Lake in company with Mrs. Wolgast and his manager, Tom Jones.

The party was met at the train by Mrs. Jones, who has been living during the summer at Santa Monica, and the party left in Wolgast's automobile for the beach, where they had luncheon. Wolgast and Jones came to the city and went to Jack Doyle's camp at Vernon, where they had been billed to spar one or two rounds.

Wolgast was bubbling over with good spirits and did not seem to show the slightest effect of his long 2000-mile trip. He was as eager as a school boy to get back into the ring, as he has been loafing on his farm in Michigan for the last several weeks.

"Hobo" Dougherty, a staunch friend of Wolgast, was present at Doyle's, and with little loss of time Wolgast slipped off his street clothes and donned his fighting trunks and leaped into the ring. He was like a young colt turned out to pasture after being in the stable for months.

After two rounds of hard fighting with Dougherty, Wolgast slipped into his rubbing room and had his first rub-down in over two months.

On the rubbing table the little champion seemed to want to talk and kept up a continual flow of language, giving his opinions and views on everyone and every topic impartially.

CONLEY DIDN'T BOX HIM.

Wolgast likes to fight and shows it unconsciously in every move and word. He feels that he has been done an injustice when some fighter or other refuses to fight him.

Yesterday while he was being rubbed, he heard that Frankie Conley, who is training for his Rivers fight at Doyle's, had begun boxing in the pavilion with Fred Corbett.

"Why did not Conley box with me?" queried Wolgast. "I would not have hurt his eye. That fellow Corbett is likely to punch him on the bad eye and open it up, while I would have been careful and not hit him there."

There you have it. For no reason in the world except that he likes to box and fight the lightweight champion of the world was peevish because a little hard working prize fighter had not boxed with him instead of with someone else.

Wolgast looked to be in perfect condition. His great hard corded arms and shoulders seemed covered with a satin skin. His waist was narrow and his eyes were as clear as a debutante's. His spirits were almost exuberant and the one fly in his ointment seem d to be Packy McFarland.

"That fellow did me out of $35,000," said Wolgast, querulously, as Dougherty was rubbing him. "I had fixed up the fight in Milwaukee all of the war through and then it did not occur."

There were a few moments of silence and then Wolgast again broke out.

"I refused an offer to go in vaudeville for twenty weeks at $1400 a week when I was in New York, because I don't think that it is the right thing for a champion to do. A champion should fight and fight often and when he is through fighting, then go in vaudeville if he can make money all right."

THE REFEREE QUESTION.

Tom Jones, his manager, entered the room at this time and took charge of the conversation.

"We are not making any statement that we will not fight if Jack Welch is not made referee," said Jones, "and what is more, we never made that assertion. We like Welch and he should in fact be chosen as the third man.

"Wolgast and I don't want to take the attitude of being sore at Eyton as we are not, and the only reason that we prefer Welch is that he is a more experienced man and will not become muddled while in the ring.

"Eyton prefers the English kind of boxing, which does not favor infighting and that one thing would make him less favorable as a referee than Welch. But we will not make a stand in that, matter just now.

TO WHEELER'S SPRINGS.

"Wolgast will leave Monday for Wheeler's Springs, where he will spend the next seven days in the mountains riding and walking about through the woods. Wolgast is in excellent condition at present and could fight in three days' notice. We will return to Los Angeles Saturday of next week and will train at Doyle's for the last six days before our fight with Welsh. I will stay over in Los Angeles until Tuesday and then go to Wheeler's Springs."

In the meantime while Jones was talking Wolgast had been prepared for his shower. As he walked over to the little alcove where the shower apparatus is located, Jones peremptorally ordered him not to take the shower as it was too cold for him and to only wash his face and hands.

Wolgast agreed readily and Jones turned away. In a few moments he looked over again and there stood Wolgast placidly taking his shower both as though he had never been ordered by his manager not to do it. Jones sputtered a little bit but Wolgast continued his shower until he was through and then had a rub at the hands of Dougherty.

Wolgast's automobile was waiting in front of Doyle's and immediately following his rubbing Jones, Wolgast and Dougherty left in the machine for Ocean Park.

MOVING PICTURE DEAL.

Today Jones will have a conference with the fight club and completa all arrangements for the contest. There is a deal on between two moving picture concerns and the fighters to have pictures taken of the contest. This will be closed today. It is expected that between fifteen and twenty thousand dollars will be offered for the picture rights.

AD MEETS WELSH.

En route to the beach the Wolgast automobile encountered a well-built young fellow wearing an old blue sweater, who was trotting along the road. He was accompanied by a little girl on a bicycle. It was Freddie Welsh taking his daily run.

Wolgast recognized his future opponent in a moment and leaning away out of the automobile yelled at him:

"Hello Fred."

Welsh slackened up for a second and then yelled back:

"Hello Ad," and immediately settled down to his dog trot again.

There was no fuss and feathers about the greeting between the two young fellows. Each sized up the other shrewdly in the few seconds while they were calling out greetings and then continued each in their respective ways.

FINE HOCKEY PLAYED ON VINEYARD FIELD.

In anticipation of the clash with Santa Monica on Saturday, November 18, some fine practice work was done by the local hockey club at Vineyard Station yesterday. The ball was bullied off about 2 o'clock, and for the first thirty-five-minute half the orange and blacks had no trouble in scoring five goals against two for the blue and white, due mostly to the alert passes of Miss Millier and the swift drives of Allen.

In the second half both teams showed at their best in the real art of the game of hockey, that of combination team work, and this together with one or two most fortunate "stops" performed by the ever-ready Miss Crosby, brought the score to seven for the orange and black against five. In the last half of the game, Miss Crosby was unfortunate enough to be hit by a hard-driven ball on the knee, which necessitated her dropping out of the game.

Miss G. Barnes and G. Jackson, two new members of the local club, show surprising aptitude in the intricacies of the game. In Watson, E. Davis, Blue and Macleod, the Los Angeles club has four valuable new members, all of whom have played on first-class teams in England.

Next Saturday a picked team from the Los Angeles club will meet one of Santa Monica's best, and both will endeavor to secure the cup to be presented by A. Hamburger. Those who will play for Los Angeles are: H. Mansfield, Capt. J. F. W. Allen, A. R. Yorston, H. F. Bowning, G. Jackson, E. Davis, Macleod and Blue, Misses Millier, Crosby, Barnes and Mrs. Blomfield.

TWO WHEEL RECORDS BROKEN AT OAKLAND.

OAKLAND, Nov. 12.—Two records were broken at the motorcycle meet here today.

Joseph Walters covered five miles in 3:27 and ten miles in 6:58. Charles Balke finished second in the ten-mile event and Paul Armstrong third.

CO. A WINS SHOOTING HONORS OWING TO DEFAULT

THE shoot for the battalion championship of the Los Angeles battalion went to Company A by default Sunday. Companies C, F, and B preferring to let the crack team of A take the match without having to shoot for it.

Dopesters could figure no show for any other team in the schedule, but in view of the high record of some of the companies in qualifying men for State medals, it was thought that they would at least put teams into the field, even though defeat was sure.

The schedule called for teams of five men and two alternates to represent each company, the course including 200, 300, 500, 600 slow fire, skirmish and rapid fire.

The winning company of the battalion is to shoot against the champions of the Second and Third battalions for the regimental championship, the shoot to be held this month.

Although the match was taken by the A Company team by default, the members of the team shot through some of the ranges to get the practice. Scores were low on account of the high, gusty wind. The feature of the shoot was the work of Fraser with 44 at 200, 44 at rapid fire and 44 at 600 yards. For the total, Crossman was high man.

The scores:

	200	600	Rap-id	Skir-mish	Tl.
E. C. Crossman	41	43	43	88	214
R. J. Fraser	44	46	44	83	217
G. T. Kellogg	39	47	45	85	201

How To Defend Yourself

The Ordinary Walking Stick Can Be Used in Self Defense if Properly Handled.

Here Are some Methods of Using Your Cane if Attacked on Street.

By The Marquis of Queensberry

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

[Copyright: 1911: By the Marquis of Queensberry.]

THE fist is the most natural human weapon and in competent hands, or rather, on competent hands, is a most deadly weapon. But competent hands are rare. Men in these days are too indolent and too secure, or fancy themselves so to be. They are not interested in boxing sufficiently to practice the art. Their attitude toward this sort of thing in general is that of the spectator. Being men of reasonable sobriety and temper, they do not look forward to physical encounters.

But in times of peace prepare for war. You never can be sure that some raw red ruffian is not going to mistake you for an intimate enemy and implant upon you a blow modeled upon the kick of a steam hammer. It is interesting to note that of a party of twenty-five clubmen assembled one evening recently twenty-three had either been held up on the streets or had suffered burglary at home. Of the twenty-three only two had made any resistance.

For those men who are not experts with their fists the cane presents itself as a serviceable weapon of self-defense. The walking stick is not as good as a sword or a club and its utility is limited. But it happens to be the only weapon a man ordinarily carries and so a consideration of its possibilities is worth while.

* *

Useful Cane Must Have Weight.

In the first place, remember there are canes and canes. A swagger stick would be of little use against an intoxicated human ox who wanted to remove $5 cents from your person by force. So also of the hooky looking but brittle canes that are so deceptive. A cane to be useful in a row must have weight and elasticity. A walking stick of snakewood may be admirable. A mahogany stick or any of the strong, heavy woods will do, as will also some of those with steel backbones. There should be no fancy handle screwed or glued in place. The handle should be a continuation of the wood. It should also be a bent handle, so that in striking it cannot fly out of the grasp or be jerked from the hand by some one coming up from behind.

The cane, as has been said, has its limitations. The saber or the rapier can reach any part effectively, but the cane has neither edge nor point. It also lacks the concentrated weight of a club. The clothes protect against it and take something from the severity of the blow.

At two points, and two only, can the cane be relied on for deadly work. These are the side of the head and the back of the hand. A quick, strong blow at either of these points is almost sure to disable an assailant.

* *

Blow on Top of Head Wasted.

Don't waste your precious moment by hitting your assailant on top of the head. His hat will protect him there and, besides, his skull is too thick. The blow upon the hand, especially upon the back of it, will paralyze that member. If some rough comes at you with a knife in his hand, or a bludgeon, or even a revolver, you can disarm him. In the case of the revolver, of course, do not think he will not shoot. If you find yourself covered it is too late to act unless you are willing to take a chance. But there is sometimes an instant after the thug springs upon you before he really has you covered. If you are sure of yourself and quick enough you may be able to disarm him. It is almost impossible for any man who has received such a blow across the back of the hand to retain his hold. There is a small chance that he could pull the trigger—unless, and don't overlook this possibility—he pulls it an instant before the blow lands.

There are several other vulnerable spots. A blow across the forearm, on the thumb side, may disable if it is heavy enough. There is also the point on the upper arm where the muscles leave the bone unprotected; this is favorite clubbing spot for the policeman. You could jab a man in the stomach but the effect is not likely to be great, especially as the thug more often than not operates on an empty stomach. A jab in the face likewise might help. You can't hurt his legs because, for one thing, you can't get at them. The crazy bone is also out of your reach. The back of the neck is likely to be protected by the coat collar.

Cane for Quick Work.

One advantage of the cane as a weapon is the facility with which a blow may be delivered. It is not necessary to step wood with it. A short blow is necessary for quick work, and nothing but quick work is of avail. A short swing of the arm with plenty of wrist play is what is wanted. It is the wrist that brings the blow home. In fact, a blow may be delivered with a cane perhaps almost quicker than with the fist. For this reason such a blow is hard to dodge.

An active man with a good cane need not fear an assailant with an ax or a spade. The ax is unwieldy and its reach is not great. The spade is probably the more dangerous. You could not parry a blow from either with a cane, but you could get in a whack across the temporal bone or the back of the hand before your rampant assailant could swing his implement.

The cane is at a disadvantage against a club or a piece of lead pipe. These have the advantages of concentrated weight, heft in a lump, whereas the weight of the cane is too generally distributed. A man trained in the use of a stick should be able to give a good account of himself against a ruffian with a knife. But in all these cases it is necessary to strike first. If you are knocked down don't try to use your cane afterwards. Unless you are on your feet you can do nothing with it.

Above all things don't let the other fellow get hold of your stick. You may not be able to recover it and he may jerk you into reach of his corrugated knuckles before you know what has happened. If you strike quick and hard it will be difficult for any man to grab your cane. After your blow has landed remove the stick out of his reach instantly. The cane can also be used to a certain extent to ward off blows. Of course this cannot be done against a weapon of weight, but against another cane it may be used almost as a sword would be in fencing.

It may be remarked by some people that the average man doesn't carry a cane, but to this I would reply that in any big city it does not pay to go out at night without a stick of some kind. This, however, would doubtless be hard to impress upon the minds of most men because of the general belief that only the "dandy" carries a walking stick.

* *

Story of Ginger and Pepper.

I can almost remember when the cane was the general thing and when few men went without them at night and many people in good circumstances carried them in broad daylight, and they were people who were by no means "dandies."

One can never tell when an attack will come. They come usually when least expected, as that seems to be one of the fortifications the thief takes—taking his intended victim by surprise.

I am reminded of a story I heard when in Australia which applies in this case. An old townsman had been advised in his youth to carry a small quantity of red pepper concealed about his person at all times to defend himself against the possible attack of a mad bull, this being a big cattle district. He was also advised to carry some ginger to throw into a mad dog's face. He carried the ginger religiously for many years, but did not see fit to carry the pepper, as he claimed his animals were harmless.

It so chanced that he was walking in his pasture one day when a mad bull attacked him and almost gored him to death. He did not have the pepper when he wanted it, and he had been told that the ginger would have no effect on a mad bovine. This story illustrates the value of being prepared.

In my article next week I am going to give some photos and diagrams showing how women may defend themselves with an ordinary parasol or umbrella in case of attack on the street. Women have been known to fatally wound assailants with the timely use of the umbrella rod, and I have gone into this matter carefully and have found the best and most simple rules to follow out.

Do not let your pride hold you back in preparing yourself for the use of the cane. When you are cracked on the head some fine night you might regret the inability to use your cane effectively, or the absence of any cane, and then you will remember what I have said here.

1. If a ruffian grabs you by the wrist bring your cane down across the back of his hand. Put a lot of wrist motion into the blow. It will paralyze his hand for the moment and he cannot hold you.

2. If he strikes straight down at you with his own stick, guard your head as with a sword. Hold your cane more nearly horizontal than a sword, however, for it has no guard and his blow may be deflected against your fingers. Stand with your right foot forward, weight about equally divided, leaning slightly forward and stiffening yourself. You can parry a blow for your temple in the same way, only holding the cane vertically.

3. After you have stopped his blow at your own head you have a chance to hit him in return over the ear. The instant you feel the contact of his stick start your counter blow. His cane will be stopped and you can whirl your own cane out in a swinging blow against his temple. In striking, keep your thumb out along the back of your cane, as you can guide your blow better in that way.

4. If he springs out upon you with a weapon from your right, hit him across the back of his hand. He will drop whatever he is holding. Don't waste time by raising your cane too high; put the force into it with the wrist. But strike hard. As he raises his hand he will expose the back of it for an instant. That is your time. If he holds a revolver be sure that you strike before he has you covered.

5. If your assailant springs upon you from your left you cannot reach the vulnerable part of his hand. If, on the instant, you jab him in the chin you may bewilder him long enough to enable you to follow up with a blow across the side of his head or the back of the hand holding the weapon. But you are at something of a disadvantage.

On Saturday and Sunday the co tentants for the club cup were thine down to the point where George Schneider is to play S. C. Dunlap an Dr. Frost to play Shirley Ward.

In his match with E. H. Bagby George Schneider won by 3 up and and those who witnessed his form and his exceptionally consistent ol throughout, predict him as the ultimate winner of the cup. Mr. Schneider is one of the most popular of the players and his win would cause very general satisfaction.

During a practice on the putting green on Saturday afternoon Mr. Schneider holed several balls from of the green and appeared to be in pos session of a most unerring eye—i he is able to keep this standard w he will certainly prove a most for midable opponent for S. C. Dunlap who is a fourteen-stroke man.

In the match between Shirley Wat and F. D. Hudson, the latter was de feated by 3 up and 2, and S. C. Dun lap beat W. S. Morse 2 and 1. Dr. Frost also defeated W. J. Chick with the same score.

An 18-hole match play tournament against bogey was also a feature of Saturday afternoon's programme. C. B. Knappe winning with a score of 3 down. J. A. Jayne was second with 4 down and R. J. Cash and F. H. Edwards tied for third place with 5 down.

Those who took part in this tournament were Ed B. Tufts, L. T. Bradford, W. Fredericksen, George Stackpol, G. B. Ellis, F. M. Coffin, A. Crutcher, J. E. Cook, L. D. Sale, George J. Kuhrts, C. A. Henderson, H. M. Eichelberger, S. P. Hunt and S. S. Parsons. In addition to the winners mentioned above.

And they all played such very poor games that they declined to hand in any scores, with the exception of Mr. Tufts, who is brave enough for anything.

Talking of Mr. Tufts, there is a most fetching picture of him hanging in the caddie house in company with Mr. Nat Wilshire, Judge Fredericksen (with a mustache) and one other. This work of art represents a triumphal team of golfers, arranged in picturesque attitudes round a silver pot of lordly dimensions—and I was tremendously impressed.

Nat Wilshire stands up behind the group with the radiant air of a Caruso about to enthrall a vast audience, Judge Fredericksen kneels in a coy coy attitude, and the mustache was a great improvement—there is so much character in mouth, isn't there? But it is Mr. Tufts that is the making of the picture. Lounging gracefully at full length, resting artistically on one elbow, his pose is for all the world like the fairy queen in the pantomime.

And I do wish Mr. Cash had won the tournament. Arrayed in a pale mauve shirt, a red tie and white stockings, his hair waving prettily across a most intellectual forehead, one could picture him making such a graceful bow to his cheering admirers and perhaps adding that dainty touch of kissing his hands. But it was not to be.

The band during afternoon tea and for dancing in the evening is proving a great attraction at the club, and with the added coziness of a great fire in the assembly room, the clubhouse certainly looks most inviting these chilly evenings.

Annandale Country Club.

On Saturday a ball sweepstake, 2-4 club handicap, was played on the Annandale links, J. V. Eliot and E. W. Wright tieing for first prize with 79, both playing from scratch. This is 6 up on bogey. A. S. French came next with 79, 5 up, and the next best score was that of E. R. Williams with 85, 1 down.

Other lingerers on the links were Edward Eliot, T. B. French, Rev. W.

Comparing the scores of the Los Angeles and Annandale Club players one is impressed with the large percentage of "ups" at Annandale and the preponderance of "downs" at Los Angeles. And having due regard to the accepted rating of the various players one can't help thinking that bogey is not so very terrifying at Annandale, but that it is a really genuine bogey at Los Angeles.

Annandale is to be the scene of portly financial gaiety on Wednesday evening when the First National Bank of Pasadena entertains its most worthy employees. The occasion is the election of a new president and it seems to be a matter of "Le roi est mort, vive le roi."

CHESS NOTES.

R. A. Hasen of San Diego, has won his game against O. Barnett, of Los Angeles, in section one, of the second Southern California chess correspondence tournament, which result ties Hasen and C. H. Stone, of Redlands with the present score of two wins and no losses, and closes Barnett's score for the round at one game won to three lost.

The three games pending between Hasen, Stone, and Rohde will close the round in their section, and will also decide the section winner among the three.

Players in section two have finished only four of their ten games; Section three games are all finished, and but two are pending in section four, where the outcome of Ruth's game with Struve will determine Ruth's chances of playing in the final round.

Second place in the mutual tournament, now held by Enwels with a total of twenty-two and one-half points, depends upon the issue of four games between Holt and Frazier, which will end the contest. Holt has won nineteen and one-half games, and can pass Enwels by taking three games, and winning or drawing the fourth from Frazier.

The third Southern California chess tournament will start December 1. Entries may be made with C. F. Pierce, conductor, Y.M.C.A., Los Angeles. The entry fee of $1 for each competitor will be devoted to prizes, according to programme, to be announced with schedule to be arranged when entries close at date mentioned. Entries now listed include Harry Leipsic, E. S. Gray, F. H. Hall, George E. Hart, Rev. C. B. Hilton, Prof. O. T. Johnson, Rev. E. B. Adams, R. A. Hasen, and A. G. Pearsall.

Players of the Texas State Chess Association are seeking a twelve-board match by correspondence with experts of some other State, and San Diego enthusiasts announce themselves ready to do their share in meeting the call. There is nothing slow or dispiriting about those San Diego chaps. For every game lost they want two in revenge, but they do not lose many.

The postponement of the American international master's tournament until next October gives the world's experts an opportunity of competing at the second San Sebastian tournament next February. Many had considered it impossible to take part in the New York meeting in January, immediately preceding the Spanish event. It is now uncertain whether Capablanca will return to this country before the end of the European contest, as his proposed home-coming in December would entail a hurried return across the Atlantic in mid-winter—a trip which cost Pillsbury at least two first prizes.

Both the lounging room and the main dining-room have high ceilings, which extend through the two floors.

The library proper, together with the attached reading-rooms, occupies a space of 31x48 feet. Eventually the library will contain all of the standard works of fiction, as well as a complete reference library. The daily papers and current periodicals will find a place on its tables. Writing desks with their equipment will await the convenience of the member. This room will be comfortably furnished in Spanish leather. It is exceptionally light and sunshiny, and is separated from the dining-room and lounging-room, which it overlooks, by glass partitions with casement windows. A member may here enjoy entire privacy, and quiet, and at the same time, if he so desire, keep in touch with the social life of the main rooms.

The two private conversation rooms adjoin the library itself of which they really form a part, being available for quiet study or private writing. They are furnished in semi-office style, with desks, and comfortable chairs, and will be especially appreciated by members who wish a quiet conference with a friend or guest, secure from interruptions of any nature.

The billiard-room has space for twelve tables, although four more could be added, if necessary. This room is reached either from the main stairs or elevators, or direct from the lounging-room which it overlooks, by means of a separate stairway for that purpose. From the billiard-room can be obtained a fine view of the lounging-room and library. Immediately adjoining is a small lavatory for the convenience of the users of the billiard-room.

On this floor is also located a banquet-room capable of seating sixty people. There are three private dining-rooms, as well. These rooms overlook the dining-room, from the upper part of which they are separated by glass partitions with casement windows which may be opened if desired. These windows are hung with appropriate draperies, by means of which any degree of privacy may be attained, or, if preferred, the windows may be opened, thus affording a full view of the dining-room itself. These rooms, as well as the banquet-room, are served from a service-room adjoining, which contain hot and steam tables and a Bain Maria, and connects direct with the kitchen by a 3000-pound automatic elevator, thus affording a service equal, if not superior, to the main dining-room. The rooms described, grouped in a harmonious whole, complete the social department of the club.

OXNARD WINS GOOD GAME FROM FILLMORE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OXNARD, Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With a hard wind blowing, making fast play impossible, Oxnard defeated Fillmore today, in Fillmore, by a score of 4 to 2. Seaton, for Oxnard, pitched a great game, striking out twelve men. George Stovall, also made his initial appearance on first for Oxnard.

Mordacai Brown of the Chicago Cubs, scheduled to pitch for Fillmore, missed connections.

Batteries—Oxnard: Seaton and Brooks; Fillmore: Concannon and Whalen.

Umpire—Finney.

Attendance—800.

Hunt to Go East.

Word comes from the East that Patsy O'Rourke of the Sacramento team has traded Pitcher Ben Hunt for an infielder on the Philadelphia National team. Hunt was the highest priced player in the Coast League this season with his salary of $500 per month. Half of this sum was paid by Sacramento and the other half by the Boston Americans.

Delhi's Team Wins.

Red Delhi's Harris & Frank team defeated Kittie Brashear's Pomona club yesterday at Pomona by a score of 5 to 3. Jim Hawley, of the winners, pitched a fine game all the way and held Pomona to five scattered hits. Delhi's men took a lead of four runs in the second inning and after that remained in front all the way.

The Marquis.

RANDOM REFLECTIONS ON THE SPORTS OF THE DAY.

BY MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.

[Copyright: 1911, By the Marquis of Queensberry.]

I have just been told a most amusing story anent the Queensberry rules. It is so funny and outrageous that were it not for the source from whence it comes it could be incredible, but when I tell Times readers it comes from the great old baseball player and sportsman, Ted Sullivan, they will, like me, believe it.

A wise negro who lived down in Virginia in a big colored community, wanting to get rich quick, struck on the idea of posing as my late father's agent, just at the time when the boxing craze was at its height in New York, and the same craze had just begun to spread among the darkies in Virginia along the Rappahannock river. He gave out that Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons and others paid as high as $5,000 to $10,000 to my father for the use of his rules, according to the importance of the match, and that he was the sole agent for the disposal of the rights of using the Queensberry rules. He demanded and got from $50 to $200 per fight form the other negroes. He thoroughly frightened the darkies by telling them it was illegal to use the rules without a license, as they were patented. He declared that the United States government protected my father in his rights to the rules, and showed a cable signed Queensberry, giving him the sole right to deal in the rules.

For months this ingenious darky collected a handsome revenue along the oyster towns of the Rappahannock river. Did you ever hear of such nonsense? But more power to the darky's elbow, for he was clever enough to fool his brothers to such an extent he deserved all he got.

Darkies have a great sense of humor, but they don't always like being fooled themselves, and if you ever do pull off a real joke on a darky beware. He will never forgive you. Some twenty-five years ago I was playing at being a cowboy out west, and on the ranch we had a negro called "Green." Green was a comical looking little man, and he had lost all his toes by getting them frost bitten in a blizzard, and this, added to his peculiar appearance, as he walked in a most uncouth way. He was one of the vainest men I ever saw. He loved to dress up and then go and show himself to the white folks.

Green always boasted of his wonderful bravery and of the strenuous things he would do if ever attacked by highwaymen. One day when he had gone to this self-same high river to fetch the mailbag I lay in a creek one mile from the ranch and held him up with a shotgun, using blank shells. I fired two barrels over his head and bade him throw the mailbag out, which he did, and galloping the horses home in the wagon, reported that he had been held up by a band of six armed and masked men.

When I trotted in twenty minutes later with the mailbag his rage was awful to see, and he had to be held back for fear he would attack me with a razor. Before that he had been devoted to me, but afterwards never forgave me for making a fool of him, and I verily believe that if I had not left shortly afterwards for another ranch that he would have rather more than shaved me with his razor some dark night.

I have had some more interesting news from my expert friends in London as to the latest doings in the boxing world. My correspondent sees nearly everything and "goes about" a great deal, so his views can be taken seriously.

In view of what I have written recently on the wonderful way French boxers are coming on, these notes are peculiarly interesting.

Speaking of the welterweight championship recently brought off, he says:

Hunted from pillar to post and told by various leaseholders to take his fight elsewhere, White eventually brought off the bout between George Carpenter and "Young" Joseph at 1 King's Hall, a small theater, as a rule used as a picture show place. I would rather have had White's purse than the money taken at the door. Not that the public did not turn out, for they came there in thousands only to find the place packed two hours before the big fight came off.

It ended just as I predicted. The London Hebrew was outclassed from the first round, and after taking any amount of gruel his seconds threw up the sponge at the end of the tenth and Carpenter was hailed the welterweight champion of Europe. And a good boy to hold the title, too.

A boxer has never impressed me more, and if he could only make the weight again, Dave Kid, I can assure you, would have to go all the way to win.

Carpenter is now a middleweight. True, he made 146 pounds or a pound under our welter limit for the recent match, but both men scaled in at 1 o'clock and the pair was not in the ring for nine hours later.

Carpenter has won the bantam light and welterweight champions of France. I didn't reckon this anything beyond that he managed to put to sleep one after another of his rivals. Carpenter is growing and he is already a perfect specimen for a youth of 18 and possesses height, reach, and a punch in every way superior to Joseph.

I never hit a man when he is beaten, but I would say I expected Joseph to make a better show. He took a frightful hiding and fought the last few rounds in a semi-comatose state.

The power of Carpenter's right is remarkable. His blows went smashing through Joseph's defense, and you could positively hear the mits tearing their way through as if muscles and sinews were going through an express sausage machine.

Carpenter is still growing, both in fame and size. Harry Lewis has sparred with him, in fact, he is American taught, and thank goodness, and I say this with the hope that it will be taken in the spirit with which it is meant, he has not adopted the modern methods of American ringcraft. He is clean, as clean a scrapper as ever you set eyes on, and George Carpenter is going to be a champion of the world. Contradict the statement that he is a Parisian. He is the youngest son of a coal miner and is a cross between a Belgian and Frenchman. He likes the game and is a credit to it, too.

Blink McClosky is doing well among the second raters over here. Kingsland, I should have thought, was a back number, but he was starred at "The King Black Friars" the other night with Blink. Kingsland deliberately fouled his opponent in the third round for he butted the American in the most open-faced manner. The "human goat," even after the referee had yelled out: "Kingsland, you are disqualified," the hot-headed fool went in for another lunge at his one-eyed opponent. He had to be torn away by the officials.

It was altogether a wretched show. McClosky got a splendid reception. At the best Blink is no oil painting, but why on earth doesn't he remove that stubble beard of his? He always has about ten days' growth.

Johnny Summers will be beaten by Dixie Kid for sure. The man who bested Jimmy Britt (he was not in his prime) has not been doing well lately and was lucky to draw in a recent ten round bout. The contest will be held in Liverpool on November 9, the scene being the Liverpool stadium.

Let's draw a veil over the heavyweight brigade in the recent army and navy championships. A more painful exhibition it has seldom been in my lot to witness. Goers all, lot of them, but as for boxing—ring down the curtain. The refereeing also was awful at times. That good souls undoubtedly did their best, but why put them to judge something they know nothing about. Their decisions remind me of a certain so-called sporting journalist, who after watching our old billiard champion, John Roberts, make a break of 540, wrote that the veteran was not at his best, as during the whole innings he did not have to overcome a single difficult stroke.

Jack Johnson has taken his first degree in Masonry. He was initiated at Dundee. John Barron says that "Little Arthur" in all probability will never face up for the second or third degrees.

Refereeing in Paris lately has been bad, and Sid Stagg, after swamping Lacroix, was disqualified by M. Van Roose. Messrs. Vienne and Breger have been bad sufferers from incompetent judging. Roose apparently mistook a legitimate return blow for the pivot punch. Stagg was from here to the moon in front on points when the incident occurred. Roose has written a book, "How to Box," at least he has put his name to it.

ODIVA AND MECHANICIANS.

Labor Made Necessary by an Unusual Act.

Blue Prints and Charts Come to the Orpheum.

Tank, Filled, Weighs Sixty Thousand Pounds.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

We are familiar with the show that has two baggage cars, sometimes we get one in which all the show girls live at the Alexandria, and the hard-working regiment of stage-hands behind the "great scenic production" has been worked into senility by the awe-stricken press-agent.

But——

The thespianic art that has to be accompanied by a set of blue-prints, a printed chart of directions and an actual mechanical engineer is rather a new thing in theatricism-de-luxe.

That's Odiva, at the Orpheum.

She will begin to splash this afternoon, but a force of ironworkers, glass-mechanicans and aquatic scientists have been sozzling around in peregrination fixing up her tank a long time before this.

Odiva works in a tank with a glass front, which permits her to display her aquatic feats to the satisfaction of the audience, at least in the point of a good view. This tank necessarily is carried from city to city, and in order to make quick jumps, she has two of them, one being sent ahead. The materials that go to make it up—for it, is of course shipped "knock down"—fill a baggage car completely. Accompanying the tank from city to city is an expert hydraulic engineer, who superintends the stage crew and extra carpenters who build the tank. Also carried are duplicate glass plates in case one is broken, duplicates of the trusses, wooden sides, etc., and a complete putty-making machine—for 150 pounds of putting are required after the tank is built, to make it water-tight.

The tank itself is shaped like an elongated or flattened letter U, with the straight side, of glass, toward the audience. The floor is built of boards six inches wide and four inches thick, clamped together with steel hoops one and a half inches in diameter. The round part of the tank—away from the audience—is made up of fifty-eight upright timbers, each seven feet high, and four by six inches. It has no top. It is constructed to rest on ten lengths of heavy steel pipe one and a half inches in diameter, for it must be moved back and forth, and these act as rollers under it. The front is made of four glass plates, five by seven feet, one and a half inches thick, each weighing 500 pounds. These are translucent French plate, so that the movements of Odiva may be seen plainly. After the fifty-eight uprights are set in place, and the steel framework that holds the glass plates is adjusted, eight steel hoops, of round construction, one and a half inches in diameter, are clamped about it and adjusted time after time, by set screws, till they hold the whole structure so closely together that it is almost water-tight. But it will not do to take any chances, so the 150 pounds of especially made putty is used to calk every possible joint, seam and crack.

The tank, when filled, weighs thirty tons—60,000 pounds. No stage ever made would hold that weight in the small space it occupies, so with the plans sent to the stage carpenter comes a complete blue print, not only of the tank and its construction, but of the shoring up needful. For this work, thirty-nine heavy timbers, four by six inches in size, are placed under the stage, each resting on stringers of the same size, and holding up braces which underlie the stage floor. These must all be placed in a space 15x20 feet, as that is twice the size of the tank, and the limit of its movement.

The water in the tank is changed every so often, hence pipe connections must be made to fill it; also waste connections to empty it. These are all specially constructed, and must be installed before the tank is erected. The water in the tank must be kept at 70 deg., so special steam connections must be so made that the steam will discharge into the tank.

Probabilities.

YALE FOOTBALL ELEVEN MAY WIN SEASON'S HONORS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Football has reached its semi-final stage. In the Middle West, in fact, the week end may see the championship of the "big eight" in that section decided, and also the championship of the "big four" in the East claimed.

The Minnesota eleven, whose uninterrupted succession of victories in the Central West have made that team well liked, meets the strong Wisconsin team at Madison Saturday, and if the former wins, the championship of the intercollegiate conference goes to Minnesota. If the Minnesota men lose and Wisconsin meets defeat by Chicago a week later, the three teams will be tied for the premier honors.

The championship of the old "big four" in the East will also likely be claimed as decided if Princeton wins from Yale next Saturday, as the Tigers already have taken a game from Harvard and have not met defeat this season. Princeton's victories over Harvard and Dartmouth, however, have been by the smallest margins and the Tigers have twice been tied—by Lehigh and the navy.

For these reasons and Yale's showing (all against teams which Princeton has not met) Old Eli already is fancied for final honors. She has, however, met one defeat by the army, but her oldest rival, Harvard, twice has been beaten, by both Princeton and Carlisle. Pennsylvania has been eliminated by three defeats.

Outside the so-called "big four" there are several eastern colleges whose record promises some basis for championship boasts. The Carlisle Indians, who have beaten Harvard, and the West Point cadets, who defeated Yale, have not suffered defeat.

In the tabulation which follows, the one thing conspicuous is that not an eleven this year presents a wholly clean slate.

	Scored.	Opponents.
Yale	158	9
Harvard	93	22
Princeton	173	19
Brown	169	36
Dartmouth	134	17
West Point	76	3
Annapolis	112	11
Pennsylvania	101	93
Cornell	92	25
Carlisle	246	25

No Chance for Cal.

Cal Ewing comes out with the statement that he expects to get Overall of the Chicago Cubs to pitch for the San Francisco team next season. He has the same chance that Hen Berry has to get Mathewson, unless Overall goes to playing outlaw ball. No two towns in the outlaw league could pay even Overall's salary.

Bill Hogan, formerly on the Oakland team and then with the Athletics and later with the St. Louis Americans, wants to come back to the Coast and would like to play on some of the teams here. He says the big leagues are not what they are cracked up to be, and that there is too much hot weather there.

For Good Purposes.

CONEY ISLAND'S TRACK TO BE SOLD OUTRIGHT.

WHILE there have been offers for the property of the Coney Island Jockey Club at Sheepshead Bay in parcels since it has been advertised for sale, the directors will not consider any offer unless it is for the entire plant. Such was the trend of the remarks made by Victor Schaumberg, secretary of the association, when he was at the races at Belmont Park last week.

"There is nothing new in the situation," said Mr. Schaumberg. "There has not been an offer for the property as a whole and any offer for portions will not be considered. If, as it is claimed, the people do not want racing, then the Coney Island Jockey Club is going to get out of the business, and when it does, it will go out all at once. There would be no use of selling the property in pieces, for then there would still be the worrying over the remainder. It is all or nothing.

"William K. Vanderbilt will be home shortly," continued Mr. Schaumberg. "In fact, I think that he is already on the ocean. It is not probable that there will be any change in the status of the affairs of the club when he returns, however, for he was fully acquainted with what was done. No, the Coney Island Jockey Club has no other place to race in case its present judgment in selling—and the place should be sold—goes wrong.

"If I am not wrong, the people themselves will be the first ones to miss the place. It has been a public park for years when there was no racing, and everyone was welcome to use its shade trees and seats to their hearts' desire. However, there is no use in crying over spilt milk and it looks as if it would be a long time before racing would pay from the interest that has been shown at this hunt meet."

Christine Battelle,

Local musician, who will be heard in concert at the Hotel Hinman, tomorrow evening, with Mrs. Mabelle Lewis Case.

JOE RIVERS IMPROVES.

His work has developed him so much that he looks at least ten pounds heavier than when he last appeared in Venice. The broad shoulders and development around his back and arms are very noticeable. His neck looks to be at least an inch larger.

After doing his rope-skipping and shadow-boxing, he did his stomach exercise; then boxed three rounds with Montana Kid, who, by the way, is an ideal boxing partner for Freddie.

Monte is very clever, and a good hitter, and later when he gets into better condition, we are sure to see some clever work with the gloves that will be hard to beat. Welsh is always very considerate with his boxing partners, never taking any unfair advantage of their condition. At the same time he lets himself out occasionally, just enough to let you know he is there. He then boxed three rounds with Kid Percy.

LOOK OUT, WOLGAST.

While many perhaps look for Wolgast to win, they are liable to get a big surprise. Welsh is not only a wonderfully clever fellow, but a very hard one to hit in the clinches. He has a great head when it comes to figuring out a fight, and I hardly think that he will give Wolgast the fight that he wants. Moran gave Ad just the fight that he wanted, but Welsh is too clever to be drawn into any such kind of a trap.

Wolgast was down to the beach for a few hours yesterday, and was looking the picture of health and strength. He said that he was going to the mountains for a while. And also said that he would not second Frankie Conley in his fight with Joe Rivers. Ad has always been a modest fellow, and is not looking for that grand stand stuff. He much prefers doing the fighting and let others do the talking.

Eddie Dennis boxed two rounds with Dick Wayne and two rounds with Mike Fuhoas at the St. Ignatius Club yesterday afternoon in the presence of about 100 people. He and Wayne also played a game of handball, punched the bag and skipped rope for about an hour. Both of these boys are anxious to win, as it means that their future will depend on their coming contest.

The sum of $33 apiece is what the Cleveland players made out of the Ohio championship series just closed. The Reds got about $125 each. The total receipts for the six games amounted to but $942.75. Out of this the Cincinnati club receives $2,053.33 and Cleveland $1035.55. The National Commission realized $941.36. The series was not nearly as profitable as expected. It is probable the inter league games will be discontinued.

FEATURES.

PUBLISHED REGULARLY more pages of news and other reading matter and a larger volume of advertising than any other paper extant.

SCOPE AND AIMS: Independent, uncompromising, unmuzzled, unpurchasable, unafraid and unincumbered. THE LOS ANGELES TIMES is devoted to the great principles of Liberty under Law, Equal Rights in all fields of lawful human endeavor, Industrial Freedom, and to the upbuilding of Los Angeles, the State of California and the great Southwest.

AS TO LABOR: The Times champions the principle of "equality of opportunity," with all that it means to independent labor and the average good citizen. It is the unrelenting friend of all honest toilers—of all unshackled law-abiding workers everywhere; and while never denying the right of workmen to organize lawfully, it is the unyielding foe of lawless, unscrupulous, monopolistic and exclusive labor organizations, because they are the selfish enemies of their own class and the common industrial weal. Our position is unassailable, and will be maintained. The long record of The Times as a just, liberal, reliable paymaster is unassailable. During the period between August 1, 1890, and September 30, 1910, there was paid to our loyal and well-satisfied non-union workmen, in salaries and wages, the tellingly aggregate cash sum of $4,668,132.86—mainly to skilled labor.

CONSERVATION: The Times stands for the conservation of human life and character, with all their tremendous potentialities; for the conservation of home and country; of the Flag and its glorious traditions; of national life and national honor, with their present possibilities; of true, old-time, advanced and enlightened moral conditions; for the conservation of a brave, virtuous, patriotic citizenship, without which no nation can be great and good.

SWORN CIRCULATION: Daily net average—seven days, Sundays included—for 1890, 15,891; for 1897, 19,528; for 1898, 26,121; for 1899, 25,731; for 1900, 26,726; for 1901, 32,442; for 1902, 39,920; for 1903, 36,346; for 1904, 37,790; for 1905, 41,139; for 1906, 39,526 copies; for 1907, 32,311 copies; for 1908, 33,700 copies; for 1909, 34,954 copies. Sunday average for 1910, 55,182 copies. Daily and Sunday average for 1910, 37,639 copies.

AGENTS: Eastern Agents, Williams, Lawrence & Cresmer Co., Brunswick Building, 5th ave., and 34th st., New York; 824-825 Harris Trust Bldg., 111 W. Monroe st., Chicago; Washington Bureau, 49 Post Building (THE TIMES on file.) San Francisco Office, Room 1206 Call Building; R. J. Bidwell, Representative.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES will hereafter be on file for the use of TIMES readers in the office of the American Express Company, as follows: Berlin: 58 Charlottenstrasse, S. W. Paris: 11 Rue Scribe. London: 6 Haymarket.

TELEPHONES: Counting Room, Subscription Department, Editorial Rooms, City Editor and Local News Rooms—Sunset Main 8200, Home 10091.

TERMS: Daily, Sunday and Magazine, 75 cents a month, or $9.00 a year. Daily without Sunday, $7.00 a year. Sunday ($1.50) Magazine, $2.50.

POSTAGE: On the regular week-day issue (1 or 2 parts) 1 cent; on the Sunday issue (3 parts) 2 cents.

The Play.

NEARLY A HERO AT THE HARTMAN.

COMPANY WORKS HARD TO REVIVE POTPOURRI.

"Flower of the Ranch" Seen at the Lyceum, With Good-sized Company—Incidental Theatrical Fact and Comment—"Seven Days" to Be Seen Again.

BY JULIAN JOHNSON.

Ferris Hartman, at the Hartman-Grand, is trying his luck this week with one of Sam Bernard's shows, viz.: "Nearly a Hero."

"Nearly a Hero" falls into the common category of contemporary musical comedies; it is a show made for a person, a purpose and a place, and, as such, it lacks originality and inspiration—speaking plainly, it is dreary, very. But, it has all of the old-time expedients for success, and most of the things generally considered essential, allowable and expected where the plot unwinds to a tune.

Ludwig Knoedler, a tailor, has his "rent in the rear"—far "in the rear," in fact, and at the rise of the curtain it looks like a problem drama, for Gamster Ludwig is cursing capital, bewailing his hard luck, and wondering where he will get the necessary to prevent absolute ejection into the street.

At this point, fate, the author, salvation and the second comedian get up together, and Ludwig, if not saved, is at least reprieved. Jabez Doolittle —the heartless landlord, who is accused by Knoedler of having his money waterproofed so that he can take it in the water when he goes swimming—has been out for an innocuous joy ride, and has been caught. He therefore invents a story of having lingered on the waterfront to save a drowning man.

"Where is the drowning man?" asks malicious matterfamilias. Opportunity offers Ludwig by the forelock and he takes the sharp plunge into chill silence.

"I am the man," says he. Neither he nor Ludwig are removed from the shadow of doom, but there is at least a stay of execution.

Now the plot becomes really musicomedyacid, for it twists and turns so that even Sherlock Holmes would have to call Dr. Watson and find kind applause down out of the gallery.

In the end, Ludwig recommends that Jabez tell the truth—somt advice which the author might take to heart. Jabez explains that he meant nothing wrong and really did nothing wrong, there is a spunky reason, and Ludwig, who in the meantime has invented and later assassinated a noble brother, remains a tailor, with his rent removed around from the rear to the front, and considerably more at peace of mind in all respects.

Mr. Hartman's German comedy is his own affair. Ludwig, in his hands, is invested with many a quaint turn of speech and gesture.

Myrtle Dingwall is just her pretty self in an inconsequential ingenue role. Vilma Stech has her largest speaking part so far, as the sweetheart of the phoney baron, and she takes off the assignment in a very pleasing and shapely style. Lucile Porter, miscast in a role evidently built for a woman of much more mature worldly wisdom, does the best she can do when completely out of her native element. Edna Martin and Emma White have appearances as dashing and songful young persons in short skirts. Percy Bronson is the necessary juvenile.

There is a display of gowns much above the average in the programme, but none of the costumes is as stunning as the unheralded, unadvertised creation worn by Josie Hart in act two.

The chorus is alert and hard working, yesterday apparently needing several performances for a smoothing-out process.

The product of the pen of the author and collaborator in the "Time, Place and Girl," "Goddess of Liberty," "Miss Cinderella," "Wildfire," Prince of Pilsen," "Fortune Teller," "Babes in Toyland," "Wizard of the Nile," "Peggy from Paris," "Mandarin," "Three Twins," "Ninety and Nine," "Flower of the Ranch," by Joe Howard, was assured success even before it made its initial bow to Los Angeles theatergoers at the Lyceum last night.

While it proves to be radically different from Mr. Howard's previous successes, it still has enough of the author's characteristic vein, both in score and lyrics, to make it another general favorite, and the first-night audience stamped it with the seal of approval.

There is quite a plot, the scene of which is laid in California, and some really melodramatic bits are weaved into some merry comedy. Sprightly music and an agile chorus keep the ball rolling in brisk fashion, and dull moments, if, in truth, there are any, are few and far between.

Jess Harris is a scream. His role is that of Skivers, a tenderfoot, but in plain English he is nutty. Harris makes his part a whole show by itself.

Betty Caldwell, who presents the title role of Little Flower, the sprig of a girl who can't read, but can play the love game just the same, is a close second for first honors. She is pretty, and sings capitally, and in the last act shows that she can dance, too. "The Oceanus Roll," as she sings it, is one of the hits of the show, and earned the most applause at the hands of the first-nighters.

James Baber, as the sheriff, is also entitled to special mention.

James Forbes's comedy, "The Traveling Salesman," continues its record-breaking pace at the Burbank Theater, where yesterday it opened the second week of its run.

In writing this significant play of the happy-go-lucky American "drummer," Mr. Forbes has not only provided three hours of fun, but a unique and enjoyable love story, with just enough of the melodramatic to make it all the more interesting.

Forest Stanley's characterization of Bob Blake has clearly shown this actor's capabilities for clever comedy work, while Nana Bryant has created a delightful and altogether charming portrayal of Beth Elliott, the telegraph operator and station agent in the small town where the scenes of the piece are laid.

"The Melting Pot," Israel Zangwill's remarkable play, in which Lewis S. Stone and the others of the Belasco company have scored an artistic as well as popular success, will tonight enter upon its second week. The Belasco company's presentation of this play has created favorable comment and there is every indication that the second week of the piece will be larger in the matter of attendance than the first ten performances. The company now have in preparation the first stock production of Billie Burke's comedy hit, "Mrs. Dot," which will show Bessie Barriscale in Billie Burke's original role.

At the Mason Operahouse tonight "Seven Days," the champion farce by Avery Hopwood and Mary Roberts Rhinehart, will be seen again.

"Seven Days"—than which no better farce has been written since "Charley's Aunt"—made a great conquest of laughter here last year, and equal success is predicted for the present engagement by its confident promoters.

Bizet's "Carmen" was repeated by the Hamburger Majestic Theater last night, and an audience which filled even more than the allotted capacity of the house listened eagerly to the strains of the French composer's Spanish music.

"La Boheme," which one famous critic termed "the most human opera ever written," will pass before the eyes of Hamburger Majestic spectators tonight, and the gay-sad little love stories of Rudolf and Mimi, Marcelle and Musetta, will again sound forth in vocal narration. The peculiarly intimate quality of Puccini's music, its exquisite sympathy, and the composer's faculty for casting the golden glamor of romance over even the most everyday episodes of life, has rendered him not only world famous, but subject to artistic immortality.

The cast will include Ida Fassio as Mimi, Sciaretti as Rudolf, Giovacchini as Marcelle, Adalgisa Giana as Musetta and Antonio Sabellico as Schaunard. Guerrieri will direct.

Madame Marsella's trained cockatoos furnish the featured number on the Pantages programme starting this afternoon. Madame Marsella is alleged to have succeeded beyond any other trainer in awakening the dormant intelligence of her pets which not only seem to enjoy their own performance, but also appreciate the applause of their audiences.

Hugo, known as "Bandow's only rival," and "the cannon ball king," will amuse with sensational heavy weight juggling. The Hiatts, European musical favorites, Four Lubins, a juvenile quartette of singers and dancers, the Roma trio of modern troubadours, and Louis Ba[illegible] and Fannie Van, with "A Case of Emergency," the Nichols sisters in their black face songs and the Four Floods will remain. The orchestra will feature Weber's "Invitation a la Danse" and the motion views will give one a good idea in pictures of what is going on in the world generally.

The Rae-Broache company, presenting a new comedy, "Bottle 6-40-9," with the original "poker fiend" as the central figure, and Nellie Brewster and her Amsterdam Quartette in the musical episode, "In Love," as the two features, a brand new bill will be shown at the Empress Theater this afternoon.

Will Cressy is the author of "Bottle 6-40-9." Nellie Brewster and the Amsterdam Quartette have something new in the musical line.

In third place will come the Venetian Four, followed by Niblo and Riley in their "Revelation in Burnt Cork." Miller, Eagle and Miller will furnish thrills with their "high-in-the-air" gymnastics and Charles Bartholomew, the "Dublin Dandy" will be seen in his entertaining series of characterizations of London Music Hall favorites. Exclusive of these acts will be the comedy motion pictures.

Heading the bill at the Orpheum this afternoon will come Odiva, the Samoan water queen, diver, swimmer and doer of aquatic feats. Others include Mabelle Adams and C. H. O'Donnell, in "Zila," a playlet from the French—Miss Adams having ample opportunity to show her skill as a violinist; Agnes Scott and Henry Keane, in an idyllic episode called "Drifting," from Miss Scott's pen; Sammy Burns and Alice Fulton in a series of unique dances, comprising a sextette of numbers with a different costume scheme for each, and Mme. Panita, flute virtuosity, and Fannie Van, with "A Case of Emergency," the Nichols sisters in their black face songs and the Four Floods will remain. The orchestra will feature Weber's "Invitation a la Danse" and the motion views will give one a good idea in pictures of what is going on in the world generally.

What a Smart Array of Practical Dresses!

This illustration sketched from life by our own artist pictures—

—a "chic" dress of English imported serge, in two tones of blue—

—the basic blue is of navy, offset in the trimmings by the softer "old blue"—

—and enriched with a touch of gold here and there;

—yoke of filet lace, and smart side ruffle;—

—priced at $75.

—Second Floor, Rear—

—in all the new modes;

—a veritable Fashion "revue" — a comprehensive showing of gown styles, with an appropriate model for 'most any occasion!—

—such is the all-inclusive scope of modes our Ready-to-Wear department is able to display—the handsomest outputs of the domestic makers and the rare creations of Parisian "couturiers" — reflecting the latest ideas with an ultra-elegance that is, to say the least of them, indeed captivating.

—The richer, darker shades prevail—such as in blues, blacks, and the coronation tones;—

—priced at $15 to $125.

—Particular attention is shown in the fitting of gowns. Our fitters are experts,—your costume will cling as modishly as if 'twere a costly creation by your own modiste.

—Second Floor, Rear—

Real Seal, Walrus and Elephant Seal Hand Bags at Only $5.75!

JUST think of that!—and if you're a leather "connoisseur"—if you actually realize the true worth of these bags,

—by all means come early;—

—for there are only a few—and these few we'd prefer to place in the hands of appreciative purchasers.

—"No-Sag" bottoms;—

—gold, gunmetal, oxidized and German silver trimmings;—

—and a few with tasseled cord-handles, moire lined, in novelty shapes;—

—would ordinarily sell at $7.50 to $10—today at but $5.75.

Vogue of Velvets!—Surpassing in Beauty & Elegance

WHEN one begins to write of velvets, there ever comes a persistent temptation to "romance"—to weave about their rich, lustrous selves a tale of surpassing beauty—they're such exquisite masterpieces of the silk-loom—such visions of delicate colorings;—so suggestive of luxury—exclusiveness!

—But ere we digress further, let's hear of the silks themselves—here are a few of the velvet "beauties":—

CHIFFON VELOURS, 42 in., in black only, at $5 to $8.50 yd.

BLACK VELVETS, 42 in., at $8.50 and $9.50 yd.

VENETIAN VELVETS, 42 in., in the two-toned effects, such as black with coronation, black with cadet blue, black with green, black with American Beauty—$8.50 yd.

BLACK ROMAN TOGA VELVETS, 42 in., at $8.50 and $9.50 yard.

COLORED CHIFFON VELOURS, 42 in., in a good assortment of shades, at $6.50 yard.

"ZEPHYR" CHIFFON VELVETS, 42 in., an excellent range of colors, priced at $7 yd.

STRIPED VELVETS, 39 in., a navy blue hair-line striped in white, at $4.00 yard.

STRIPED CHIFFON VELOURS, 39 in., with hair-lines in colors, at $5.50 yd.

CHIFFON STRIPED VELOURS, 40 in., in patterns only at $10 yd.

PAON VELVETS, all colors, at $1.50 yd.

PANNE VELVETS, all colors, at $2.50 yard.

BROCADE VELVETS, 39 in., in navy, black and brown, at $6 yd.

—Rear, Main Aisle, First Floor.—

The "Craze"!—these "Ruff-Neck" Sweaters $6.50

—yes, — and they're about the most popular winter garment in demand, just now;—

—everyone seems to have—or want to have—a "ruff-neck."

—The style shown on the left is a fitted model and is excellent for those of conservative taste;—

—but 'tis the sweater shown to the right that is attracting particular attention. Its full-woven back hangs loosely and straight from the shoulders;—

—with the faddish loop-fasteners;—

—nobby and breezy;—

—and at but $6.50.

—Second Floor, Front.

Novelty Art Ribbons 25c Yard

—50c and 65c values on sale today at 25c yd.—

—for the clever needlewoman who is planning Xmas ribbon-novelties—

—here are Dresdens, Persians, Brocades, stripes, polka dots, plaids and novelty effects;—

—worth 50c and 65c the yard, but priced to sell today at only 25c yard.

Messaline Silk Petticoats $2.00

—isn't that enough to entice you to Coulter's today?—

—Consider the intrinsic value of a genuine messaline petticoat —and you'll wonder how we can sell these at only $2!—(we do ourselves, sometimes);—

—in black, white and colors;—

—just 100 of them to sell today at $2.

—Second Floor, Front—

High Grade Corsets at $6.00

The Thanksgiving Sale of Linens Continues this Week

—and in addition to these specials for the festive table the "Home of Fine Linens" is today offering many suggestions of value for Xmas linen-gifts;—

TABLE LINENS, in "Silver-Bleach" and "Snow White" damask, in pansy, spot, clover, stripe rose and other choice designs, not our regular $1 value, but a $1.25 leader, today at $1 the yard.

SHAMROCK NAPKINS, the manufacturer has woven his trademark, the shamrock, in every corner—it's a guarantee — and we'll back it;—worth $4, on sale today at $3.25 doz.

XMAS LINENS,—a new arrival is this assortment of Uncut Towels, for scalloping and hemstitching. They come with the full pattern woven all 'round—much more satisfactory than purchasing toweling by the yard with the pattern running through the bolt. The guest size sells at only 35c each,—while the large sizes are priced at 75c and 85c each.

LINEN PILLOW CASES, beautifully embroidered in dozens of choice patterns, at $2.50 and up. (All-linen, too.)

TABLE LINEN SETS,—why buy table linen by the yard, when full sets, with napkins to match, cost no more. We have hundreds of made sets from which to select. One special, cloth 2x2½ yards, at $10 is of an extra weight damask, in the beautiful new oval designs.

GUEST TOWELS,—in Russian diaper, fancy huck and birdseye weaves, about a dozen patterns from which to choose, at only 50c each.

—Another Guest Towel special in the soft, birdseye weave, worth 50c, on sale at 35c each.

NEW BED SPREADS, with scalloped edges, both colored and white, and priced at $5 and up.

BOLSTER BED SETS, full sized, scalloped spread, with scalloped bolster to match, at $7.50 the set.

AND NEW LINENS are arriving every day. They go upon display immediately, so always look to the "Home of Fine Linens" for the newest in fine linens—first.

—Rear Left Aisle, Main Floor—

Becoming to Misses! These Tailored Suits at $12.50

—So simple and unpretentious!—just a very plain-tailored garment, true;—but even more attractive to the slim, supple figure of the miss than a fussy, trimmed costume;—

—wool mixtures in oxfords, navy and browns;—

—the coat is silk-lined;—

—sizes 14, 16 and 18 years;—

—special at only $12.50.

MISSES' 1-PIECE DRESSES, the waist made of velour, the skirt of all-wool serge, buttoned down the front;—

—in navy only;—sizes 14, 15 and 17 years;—

—special at $12.50.

CHILDREN'S SWEATERS, in white and cardinal, sizes 22 and 24, at 75c;—

—and white and red sweaters, in sizes 22, 24 and 26 at $1.

—charmingly designed garnitures, bands, appliques, loops, edges, etc.;

—and fringes, the "last" trimming,—in all widths;—

—tassels and pendants in almost inconceivable style-fancies!

CLUSTER 'round, ye mothers of little children—and hearken to this news of wondrous value.

—Not long ago we were invited to participate in the final factory sale of one of the most prominent muslin manufacturers of the East. He had been foremost in the making of children's muslinwear — (his name's on every garment)—but for some certain reason had decided to discontinue this branch of his vast manufacturing interests.

—We purchased several thousand garments at about one-half their actual value—these we shall offer to you at corresponding reductions —commencing today.

—The assortment includes gowns, princess slips, skirts and drawers;

—made of the finest muslins, and daintily finished with laces and embroideries;—

—for children of various ages;—

25c Garments at 25c;
60c garments at 40c;
75c garments at 50c;
85c garments at 60c;
$1 garments at 65c;
$1.25 garments at 75c;
$2 and $2.25 garments at $1.35;
$3 garments at $1.95, etc.

The Solution.

A SERMON TO ALL WORKERS.

Rev. Baker P. Lee Talks on Brotherhood.

Urges to Vote for Alexander and Prosperity.

Suggestion for a "Citizens' Progressive League."

There was a great congregation at Christ Church yesterday to hear Rev. Baker P. Lee discuss the burning issue of the day. Mr. Lee presented the real solution of the question, eloquently urging a spirit of real brotherhood as a substitute for class hatred. He earnestly urged all working men and women to shun the abyss of socialism and to protect their homes and their prosperity by voting the Good Government ticket December 5.

A summary of the sermon follows:

This personal and pertinent question was asked thousands of years ago and yet is as fresh as though in the morning newspaper. The event was apparently small yet really of great importance, one of those pivotal points in history upon which civilization turns. Moses was all alone in the desert when the voice of God in his conscience put his faith to the test. So today God is asking of each of us, doctor, lawyer, merchant, capitalist, labor union man, etc., the question of the text, "What is that in thine hand?" It is the sovereignty of the American citizen, and how he will use it, is left to his conscience.

The present situation in Los Angeles is full of deep meaning because socialism is allied with the labor unions, and the whole country is watching and waiting for the result on December 5. It is a crisis in the history of this city, far more great than many seem to think, and the intelligence, justice and credit of Los Angeles hangs in the balance. It is religious and economic and because I desire to speak the truth in love that is why I am reasoning with all reasonable men and women to see the true ethics in the case and not be deluded by subtle sophistry and pledges that can never be redeemed. This text is full of warning and yet it is vocal with liberty to listening souls eager for a sane and righteous solution of the problem.

Wherever there is wrong to be righted or work of emancipation to be done, go forth and leave results to God. Our work in the world is to free it from sin and selfishness.

There are two great factors in the world, God and man, and the sympathy of Jesus will re-unite and heal all of our differences. I found on the street the other day a wilted rose, trodden under foot, and so I picked it up, brought it home and put it in a vase of water and soon it revived and brightened the room with its beauty and filled it with fragrance and I thought of the human roses, wilted in heart, broken in spirit, trodden under foot and how that we might help them to a new and braver idea of life with its ever present.

Let us organize "Big Brother" clubs in every precinct, "put yourself in his place," have lectures and motion picture and plays teaching the sane and right socialism of Jesus Christ relative to every day needs. We have parks as lungs for the city, to rest weary body, so have intellectual parks in the shape of public halls in every ward and precinct by which these great questions may be understood. Poor Man's clubs for Jesus Christ are the best friend of the working man, and His gospel is the only true socialism. Sympathy is the language of life and the only solution of this great question. If we had understood and sympathized with each other fifty years ago the Civil War could have been averted. The brotherhood of the race will not be achieved by the sword and by the bullet but by sympathy and by the ballot.

If my brother is a banker and I a bricklayer or he is a union labor man and I a non-union man, then he has no right to grind me down below a living wage, nor has he a right to force me to poverty, beggary and crime by refusing to join his union. Above all parties political, is the Brotherhood of Man. And I as a member of the greatest union on earth, not eight-hour per day, but nearly fifteen, have a right to speak and be heard. As a follower of him who said, "My Father worketh hitherto and I work," whose motto was "Ich dien," so I speak as a laborer, as a servant, but yet as a king. The man who arraigns class vs. class is an anarchist, and out of it will come the man on horseback. I only ask you to study history and see for yourself, it is always so.

I love the working man and honor him, and that is why I urge him today to vote for the Good Government ticket in full on December 5, otherwise our city will be retarded in its growth and we will have thousands of working men and women as vagrants on our streets.

If the Socialist candidate, who is not a taxpayer, will tell me where he will get the money to complete the aqueduct, build the municipal railway or construct the great harbor, then I, for one, would like to know. But our banks will not lend it; outside capital will not lend it; then where? It will not be done and we will all suffer, but first of all and worst of all the laboring man.

No, my brother and sister, if you are wise you will vote for the Good Government ticket on December 5 and after that what? Organize a new organization known as the Citizens' Progressive League. Notice the words: "Citizens," because we are all citizens and kings, men and women. "Progressive" because we believe in the progress of our city, and "League" because that means brotherhood. When the initial letters, "C"-"P"-"L" —capital plus labor, useless each without the other, hand in hand as brothers. Have an executive committee of twenty-four, twelve from laboring men and twelve from representative business men of the city, and in each ward and precinct a similar organization. Labor cannot work without capital and capital is useless without labor. Let us reason with one another and sympathize. If this were done, there would be no bitterness and hard feeling, and would to God that my speech today might have the effort of the speech of another Virginian spoken in a church when he said, "Give me liberty or give me death." Oh, God, give us peace and brotherhood. And the time will come when the working man of Los Angeles will realize that the owner of a great newspaper, whom I scarcely know in person, has been and is still his real friend and has been seeking to protect him from his foes, and that the friendly capitalist, such as Mr. Huntington, is his brother and comrade, for prosperity and not the plutocrat who cares not.

Two weeks from today the California Legislature is to be reassembled in special session to enact legislation necessary because of the radical reconstruction of the Constitution last month. If there had been no constitutional amendment election, the only excuse for a special session would be apportionment, as the State's finances do not justify one, as was feared last winter.

There will be little dispute about the legislation necessary to make the codes conform to the new constitutional provisions. It will in most cases be perfunctory, though there will be many matters of policy appear when the session is at work.

The really important subject and the one which will perhaps engage attention, is apportionment. The constitutional provision under which the decennial redistricting of the State for legislative and congressional purposes, as well as others, is made, was not changed. It provides for a distribution of Assemblymen and Senators according to population. Uniformly courts have construed similar constitutional provisions to mean an approximate mathematical division. This has always been the rule in California. It would be still, and properly so, if the spirit and plain intent of the Constitution is followed, but for the interposition of the Randall bill, which prevented an apportionment at the regular session.

This Randall idea is that population is what the Legislature wants it to be and that if the legislative authority ignores mathematical approximation the courts will sustain its act. Consequently, if the Legislature wants to penalize centers of population by reducing their membership it may, and the reduction may be made to effect an increase for other districts lacking in population. The theory is that area and industry are now penalized and the plan is to twist the Constitution in order that the country may have representation that the Constitution does not now give.

No attempt was made by the proponents of this idea to correct the Constitution. Instead, forty-six members of the Assembly, almost wholly country members, lured by the opportunity that the Randall idea offered for making their chances of return easier, formed a compact that they would not vote for any apportionment bill at a special session until they—the forty-six—had considered it in caucus. Randall, Rutherford, Bishop and others were the backbone of this combination.

It appears, however, that this combination is weakening and that many of the members will support an apportionment based on population and not penalizing cities.

That apportionment was not attended to at the regular session is due to the fear of the Lissner-Johnson outfit that, if the question got live it would impede the radical legislation which was on the programme. The way in which the Senate ignored the question is evidence of this. But it is only fair to say that, after the Randall idea got loose and the country Assemblymen saw its advantages (to them,) any attempt to reconcile a majority to the population basis might have been futile.

Los Angeles county is entitled by population to eight Senators and sixteen Assemblymen. San Francisco is entitled to seven Senators and fourteen Assemblymen. The latter would like more than her share, but will not get more. So she is standing with Los Angeles for a population basis. Alameda and San Diego stand the same way. In his tour of the State Gov. Johnson gave out that he favored adherence to the population basis and, that he would not be likely to approve a bill drawn on any other. Recently the leaders of the "forty-six" have asserted that the Governor favors six Senators and twelve Assemblymen for each city and the excess to be distributed among the country districts. Those who attended the recent conference in Sacramento from this region say this is a mistake.

To take three Senators and six Assemblymen from the numbers due Los Angeles and San Francisco counties would not only be unjust but a foolish price to pay for country support.

The Governor has not announced his Public Service Commission, otherwise known as the Railroad Commission, which is to be composed of the three present members and two others the Governor is to name. Under the constitutional amendment the commission is to be appointed by the Governor in the future—probably because the people cannot err and are more capable of picking good members than any one else. It is to have control of all public utilities in the State and to regulate them, their business and their bond issues and their capitalization. That is, if the voters of the different municipalities so vote. And the Legislature will have to provide the way in which the municipalities are to vote. It is proposed to enact a law requiring the submission of the question of local or State control by each municipality at its next general election. This will save the expense of special elections.

By this means the pudding of wrong lawmaking will be proved in the eating. It is not expected that any large municipality will vote away its utilities to State control. Hence the commission will have under its wings only the small units. But even if the cities unanimously voted against State control the situation would be worse, for the commission would then have control of only such parts of utilities as are outside of incorporated places. That is more likely to happen and when it does the utility corporations will find themselves obeying two powers, one on either side of the corporate limits of a municipality. Just how such a hodge-podge will work out is beyond present speculation, or whether it will work out at all.

Another important matter before the Legislature (the Governor is expected to include it in his call) is the passage of a Presidential preference law. By it the partisans of the State will have a chance to name delegates to the national conventions next spring. An amendment of the primary law, much to this effect, was proposed by Senator Wright at the regular session, but the steam roller went to work under a full head and squelched the amendment because the Lissner-Johnson crowd preferred the present convention arrangement. They thought they could control the situation with delegates elected in August, 1910. They are now in doubt. The answer will be clear as to whether they have lost control of the convention method.

An idea of the scope of legislation to be crowded into what the Governor thinks will be a two weeks' session may be gained from the committees named at the conference to work out legislation. These committees are expected to present bills at the opening of the session. They are:

Weights and Measures—Senator Welch, Assemblyman Hamilton, Senator Holohan.

Woman Suffrage—Senator Bell, Assemblyman Young, Assemblyman Kehoe, Senator Avey.

Initiative and Referendum and Recall—Senator Hewitt, Assemblyman Clark, Senator Gates, Assemblymen Gulli, Wilson and Benedict.

Division of Legislature—Senator Caminetti, Senator Roseberry, Assemblymen Griffin, Rutherford and Bohnett.

Railroad Commission — Senators Burnett and Stetson, Commissioner John Eshelman, Assemblyman Sutherland, Senator Hewitt, Attorney Max Thielen and Assemblyman Priesker.

Revenue and Taxation—State Comptroller Nye, Assemblyman Held, Senator Thompson, Senator Cartwright and Assemblyman Chandler.

Sailors' and Soldiers' Exemption—Assemblymen Randall and Juilliard, Senator Rush, Assemblymen Flint and March.

State Printing Office Investigation—Senators Strobridge, Shanahan, Black, Estudillo and Thompson, Assemblymen Bohnett, Cogswell, Gaylord and Mendenhall.

Irrigation Bonds—State Comptroller Nye, Assemblymen Griffin and McGowan, Senator Larkins and Atty.-Gen. Webb.

Primary Laws — Assemblyman Young, Senators Cartwright, Shanahan, Boynton, Hewitt and Cutten and Assemblyman Griffin.

School Lands Adjustment—Surveror General Kingsbury, Senator Tyrell, Assemblyman Sutherland and Senator Birdsall.

Industrial Accident Laws—Senator Roseberry, members, Pillsbury, French and Morrison of the Industrial Accident Board and Assemblymen Telfer and Joel.

Building and Loan Laws—Senators Black and Walker.

Reapportionment—Senators and Assemblymen appointed at close of the thirty-ninth session of the Legislature

THE WATCHMAN.

His View.

SETTLE TARIFF, SAYS FINANCIER.

DECLARES AGITATION KEEPING CAPITAL IDLE.

Initiative and Referendum Are Not Representative Government and Point to New England Town-meeting—Recall Means Having a Man in Office With String to Him.

Former Gov. F. W. Rollins of New Hampshire, who is the head of the big bond house of E. H. Rollins & Son of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, and Boston, arrived in this city last night on the Santa Fe Limited on a combined business and pleasure trip. The political situation back East, he said, is about half and half. "It is a toss-up whether the Republicans or the Democrats have the best of it.

Speaking of the financial situation, he said that the present unsettled condition is not entirely due to politics, but from a great many causes of which the latter is one of the contributing causes.

"The two great causes," he said, "are the shaking up of the trusts, which may be necessary, and the agitation of the tariff. Nothing upsets a country like agitating the tariffs. No manufacturer can tell a year ahead what his condition is going to be. All the great manufacturing interests are unsettled and the big capitalists are sitting back doing nothing. They don't know what they can properly do within the law. I don't think the election is going to affect the situation much, and it is my opinion that it will continue until the tariff question is settled for a term of years."

Rollins has very decided views on the initiative, referendum and recall. He says they are contrary to the principles on which this government started.

"These features," he said, "are not representative government. They all point to the New England town-meeting. They won't do at all for big cities.

"A man can't taken an office with a string tied to it and expect to do his work. I would not hold office under such conditions. No free-born citizen who had the slightest self-respect or pride would want to take office subject to the whim of every clique or crowd which disagreed with him.

"These fads are going to be tried out, but I don't think they will prove a success. Their agitation is due to certain abuses, but like all fads or so-called reforms they are carried too far."

While here, Rollins will probably look into the political situation with reference to its effect from a financial point of view. He did not care to express himself on the present municipal campaign. He frankly admitted that he had never seen a Socialist and would not know one if he did.

A CALL FOR AUTOMOBILES.

The Citizens' Committee organized to assist in the campaign for Mayor Alexander, appeals to all owners of automobiles who are desirous in helping the vigorous effort being made to fight the socialistic wave now threatening our city, to loan their automobiles on election day, December 5, to carry Alexander voters to the polls. Send your name, address, telephone number and capacity of your car to the chairman of the automobile committee at Citizens' Committee headquarters, 631 South Spring street, or if you will be good enough to telephone Main 1692 or 60461, the information will be kindly received.

Very truly yours,

BRADNER W. LEE,
Chairman.

ROGERS FALLS.

after Rodgers and came across the continent in a fifty-horse-power Benz. They met Rodgers at Kansas City and promised to greet him on his arrival at the Coast.

Photographers were as thick as fleas and on the roof of the skating rink were operators of a moving picture concern, ready to catch the aviator as he came up the coast after his flight south from Signal Hill.

At 3:45 p.m. came the message that Rodgers had left Pasadena at 3:40 o'clock and would arrive about 4:20. Then came an anxious wait. At 4:05 came the announcement that Rodgers had reached Covina Junction and after that all trace of him was lost, except for one flash that he had been seen over Boyle Heights. Efforts to locate him were futile, although communication was had with every town in the county.

Then came a message that Rodgers had passed Slauson Junction, and this was received with cheers by the waiting multitude. Preparing for the aviator to make a safe landing the crowds were forced back on the sands and huge bonfires were lighted 1000 feet apart and kept blazing brightly as a beacon to guide the birdman, should he come in the darkness.

Finally came the moment when the managers of the affair reluctantly decided that it would be impossible to expect the aviator and just as the crowd was told that engine trouble had delayed the aviator and that his flight would be postponed until tomorrow afternoon came a private message to the effect that the aviator had fallen at Compton. The news was quickly hushed because of the presence of Mrs. Rodgers on the field. As soon as a passage could be cleared through the departing throngs the aviator's party secured an auto and tore away to Compton.

The hotels, restaurants and cafeterias were swamped and although the Pacific Electric ran three and four-car trains on two-minute intervals it was late at night before the visitors were all able to get home.

It was exactly 3:39 o'clock when he left Pasadena. Just four minutes later he was forced to land in a little valley a mile to the northeast of Covina Junction, almost on the city limits line and half a mile south of the Union Fertiliser plant.

Rodgers says he was well over Eastlake when his engine stopped without a moment's warning. He was then more than 1000 feet in the air. He volplaned to the ground. His first evolution was a monster "S," which took him well over Covina Junction. Then he swung around in a large "C" as he circled to the east of the junction seeking a place to alight.

FORCED TO ALIGHT.

Once his eye found a level spot, Rodgers let his biplane drop at an acute angle until within a few feet of the ground. Then he moved an arm, a plane changed its angle, and the machine dipped upward with a graceful movement and settled easily upon the ground.

It did not take Rodgers long to ascertain that the feed pipe running from the gasoline tank to the engine was the cause of the trouble. The jarring of the machine had broken the soldering of a joint near the engine.

The broken parts were taken to a nearby house, soldered and brought back. During the interim fully 5000 men, women and children arrived upon the scene. The crowd finally became so dense that Rodgers had to appeal to citizens to keep the curious away.

In a short time a dozen or more deputy sheriff and deputy constable badges were flashed, and the crowd was made to stand back. And in the meantime hundreds of other men and women lined the surrounding hills looking down into the little valley where the machine stood.

After waiting half an hour, Rodgers asked assistance in pushing his machine up a hill to the east, from which he said he would make his ascent. As many men and boys as could get even a finger on some part of the machine, gave a helping hand in pushing it up the hill. When Rodgers was asked the cause of the break, he said:

NOT PROPERLY INSPECTED.

"I don't know; just one of those breaks that will occur. It would not have happened had the machine been properly inspected this morning. I didn't inspect it, and this is what I get. I'll never neglect it again as long as I fly. I will always examine my engine after this, and not trust to somebody else to do it for me."

After the broken part had been replaced, Rodgers experienced some trouble in getting his engine started. The sparker would not work. Several minutes were lost in ineffectual attempts to get the cylinders to work in unison. When it became evident to those who understood engines that it was not working right, and couldn't be made to, Rodgers was warned, but still persisted in making an ascend and continuing his journey. When he was told that it would not be safe to attempt to fly with the engine missing almost every third spark, and only two cylinders working perfectly, Rodgers replied:

"Yes, I know it. It isn't safe. But I don't want to disappoint the crowds at Long Beach."

Five minutes later Rodgers was several hunderd feet in the air, the cheers of the thousands ringing in his ears as he made a wide circle to the south, heading straight for Long Beach, he and his machine slowly fading from view in the gathering gloom.

It was just 4:57 o'clock when he left the vicinity of Covina Junction, and about fifteen minutes later he was lying partially unconscious under his wrecked machine just beyond Compton.

PHYSICIAN'S STATEMENT.

"RODGERS NOT BADLY HURT."

Dr. F. C. E. Mattison of No. 300 Palmetto drive, who attended Rodgers upon his arrival in Pasadena last night, gave out the following statement as to his condition.

"Mr. Rodgers is not seriously injured. His right ankle is sprained. He sustained a bruise on the right side, which may possibly have caused him some slight internal injury. There is another bruise on his breast on the left side, and he is burned about the face with gasoline. He evidently struck the ground head foremost."

Rodgers himself, after the accident, displayed to a more marked extent than ever before his remarkable nerve. He gritted his teeth as they lifted him on the train and then off again upon a stretcher, and took him in an ambulance to the Maryland Hotel. Not a groan escaped his lips, nor did he utter a murmur or a complaint.

He was too dazed last night to discuss the accident.

"Where did I land?" he asked. "What was the matter? I don't know. I don't know where it was."

The aviator's mother, Mrs. H. S. Sweitzer, and his wife stood up bravely under the shock they received. Mrs. Rodgers was whirled to the scene of the accident from Long Beach in an automobile by D. M. Linnard. Mrs. Sweitzer followed on the special train

"Do not ask me to make any statement about it tonight," said Mrs. Sweitzer last night. "I can't talk about it. I cannot talk now."

Mrs. Rodgers immediately withdrew to the room where her husband was taken in the Maryland Hotel and declined to see any one.

MACHINE WORN OUT.

SAY RODGERS MECHANICS.

"The aeroplane was all worn out and I was afraid of an accident when he went up in it," said Frank Shaffer, one of the aviator's mechanicians, last night. "The news of Rodgers' fall did not surprise me. I was in Long Beach at the time and when he failed to arrive I started out in an automobile to look him up.

"Rodgers is lucky that he escaped with no greater injury than he sustained. He knew about it. We had talked the matter over. We had told him that he was taking great chances every time he flew in it, but he only replied:

"'Well, they are chances I have to take. I have got to fly.'"

"There were conflicting reports as to how the accident happened, but I find that so far as known there was only one eye-witness and he insists that the biplane fell from a height of about 150 feet. When I arrived it was getting dark. I examined the machine as well as I could with a lantern, but it was impossible to tell in that way what it was that had caused the trouble. The engine is partially buried in the ground and the aeroplane is completely wrecked."

"This is decidedly the worst fall that Rodgers has had on his trip across the continent," said L. Peters, his manager. "It has been a difficult thing to find out what really happened and I don't suppose we will know until he recovers sufficient to tell about it.

"He was compelled to alight the first time near Eastlake Park in Los Angeles because of engine trouble. He evidently got the engine to working again all right for he ascended and resumed his flight. The machine has been damaged as badly at other times, but Rodgers fortunately escaped injury heretofore."

FROM PASADENA.

PLANE WORKING BADLY.

The start from Pasadena was made at 3.39 o'clock p.m., at Tournament Park, almost exactly on the spot where, a week ago, Rodgers landed after his 4200-mile flight to receive the plaudits of 10,000 people, who regarded the sea-to-sea flight as really ended then.

For the past week, mechanicians have been overhauling the biplane almost daily. Just before the last lap of the flight was commenced, the remark was made that the machine was "all right now." Rodgers apparently accepted the word of his mechanic without question, for he stepped into the driver's seat with only the most cursory of examinations of the machine, which has already been in eleven accidents.

As Rodgers took his place in the seat, his inevitable cigar in his teeth, it was noted by a by-stander that the feed pipe of the gasoline tank was leaking so that the inflammable liquid once splashed out over the engine. Attention was drawn to this, but the defect seemed too trivial to require immediate repair. The aviator made a good start, and an instant later commenced an enormous half-circle around the Maryland Hotel.

He had changed his direction for the third time when, in the light of subsequent circumstances, it appeared to many of the 2000 spectators below that something was wrong. From a height of at least a thousand feet, Rodgers abruptly dropped to but little over 100 feet, and at that height made two narrow circles about the hotel.

If he had intended to descend, he apparently thought better of it, for, an instant later, he had started in practically a straight line for his beach goal. The crowd clambered upon the grand stand and bleachers and stood in silence, straining their eyes after him as long as the broad planes could be distinguished in the semi-mist that obscured the sun.

Immediately a fast auto, carrying Mechanician James Dunn and R. B. Armstrong of Pasadena, left the park to follow by road the cross-country flight of the aviator and to be on hand in case of accident. A special train carrying the birdman's wife and mother, D. M. Linnard and Rodgers's managers, had already left for Long Beach.

By a heartless irony of fate it was only Tuesday that Mrs. Sweitzer, the aviator's mother, had expressed her intense relief that the dangers of the transcontinental flight might be considered practically at an end. She said, however, that the absence of her son's chief mechanician was a source of great anxiety to her, because it was in him that Rodgers imposed his greatest confidence.

"But he is safe here, at last," she said, "and we are all so glad and thankful."

MAY FLY AGAIN.

DEPENDS ON OWN WISH.

Rodgers's manager last night would not even discuss the subject of whether another attempt will be made to reach the seashore when the aviator recovers. This depends upon what his desires are, and he was unable to communicate with his associates last night. No one but his mother and his wife were allowed access to his room by the physician who attended him.

W. L. Camp, secretary of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce, who went to Pasadena last night on the special train that carried the aviator, said:

"Both I and Mr. Rodgers's manager have avoided even mentioning matters of finance tonight. They are of no consideration at all. When I heard that the aviator would not arrive and knew nothing of his injury, I announced that the flight would be made at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon if possible. Afterward I learned what had happened."

Diamonds from Sugar.

[Harper's Weekly:] It can be stated with perfect truth that a lump of sugar may be turned into diamonds. Not all the substance of the sugar, of course, will enter into the composition of the gem, but only the carbon that it contains. Sugar consists of carbon united with oxygen and hydrogen. The carbon can be easily separated and in certain experiments for the production of diamonds this sugar carbon has been employed. The diamonds so produced were, of course, very small and destitute of commercial value, but still they are real diamonds, and the chemical result achieved would be no greater intrinsically if they were as large as the Koh-i-noor. The hope has often been held out that an improvement in the process of manufacturing diamonds may be effected whereby the necessity of dissolving the carbon in molten iron may be dispensed with and the required combination of great pressure with great heat may be brought about by some such operation as squeezing the carbon between red-hot metal plates.

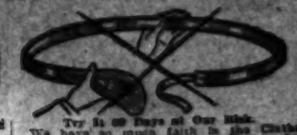
Trusses Like These Are A Crime



Get Rid of Elastic Bands, Springs and Leg-straps. Such Harness Has Forced Thousands to Undergo Dangerous Operations.

Trusses like those shown above—the belt and leg-strap, elastic and spring contraptions sold by drug stores, surgical instrument houses and many self-styled "Hernia Specialists"—make life miserable for everybody who wears them.

And—even when drawn so tight you can scarcely stand to keep them on—they do no good whatever.

Instead, they often do immense harm—they squeeze the rupture, often causing strangulation—dig into the pelvic bone in front—press against the sensitive spinal column at the back.

The Plain Truth Is This.

Rupture—as explained in our free book—can't be relieved or cured—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless constantly held in place. Just as a broken bone can't "knit" unless the parts are held securely together.

And—just as a bandage or splint is the only way a broken bone can be held—the right kind of truss is the only thing in the world that can keep a rupture from coming out.

What a difference it will make when you get that kind of truss.

And you can get exactly that kind of truss—without risking a cent of your money.

It's the famous Cluthe Truss or Cluthe Automatic Massager.

Far more than a truss—far more than merely a device for holding the rupture in place.

So different from everything else for rupture that it has received 12 separate patents.

Thousands say it is as comfortable as their clothing.

No belt, elastic belt or springs around your waist, and no leg-straps—nothing to pinch, chafe, squeeze or bind. Self-regulating, self-adjusting. It is held in position by suction—can't shift or slip—the only truss in existence that is honestly guaranteed never to let the rupture come out.

Try It 60 Days at Our Risk.

We have so much faith in the Cluthe Truss—we have seen it work wonders for so many others—that we want to make sure especially for your case and let you wear it at our risk.

We'll give you sixty days' time to test it—if it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out, when you are working and at all other times—if it doesn't put an end to the trouble you've heretofore had with your rupture—if you don't get better right away—then the truss won't cost you a cent.

How It Strengthens and Heals.

In addition to holding the rupture, the Cluthe Truss or Cluthe Automatic Massager is constantly giving a soothing, strengthening massage to the weak ruptured parts.

All automatically—the massage goes on all day long, all without any attention whatever from you.

This massage—which strengthens just as exercise strengthens a weak arm—is so remarkably beneficial—so remarkably curative—that in 199 cases out of every 200 ruptures begin to get better from the day a Cluthe Truss is put on.

The World's Greatest Book on Rupture.

Don't go on letting your rupture get worse—don't spend a cent on account of your rupture until you get our book of advice—which two cents for a stamp—or a penny for a postal—will bring you.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 82 pages, 23 separate articles and 19 photographic pictures—took us over 40 years to write—took us that long to find out all the facts we've put in it.

It explains the dangers of operations and why they don't always cure to stay cured. Tells why—for the protection of the public—druggists should not be allowed to sell trusses.

Explains why belt, spring and elastic trusses can do no good. Exposes the humbug "methods," "appliances," "plasters," etc.

And tells—absolutely without misrepresentation—all about the Cluthe Truss—just how it holds—how it gives the curing massage—how it is waterproof—how it ends all expense—how you can test it on 60 days' trial—and gives names and addresses of over 4000 people who have tried it and know you to know about it.

Write for it today—don't put it off—the book may be the means of adding many years to your life and of restoring you to full strength and vigorousness.

Just use the coupon, or simply say in a letter or postal, "Send me your book." In writing us, please give our box number as below—confidence of a brother criminal to keep his mouth forever sealed, but because of the intense hatred he held toward Pierson, the outgrowth of former relations, the information was imparted to the jailer.

SEVERS CELL BARS.

The moment Pierson was placed in the County Jail to await trial, Jailer Gallagher began watching him. Pierson immediately assumed a friendly attitude toward all the prisoners and obeyed the instructions of the jailers and guards readily. He gained the reputation of the "model" prisoner but he did not deceive Capt. Gallagher. The latter knew that he was planning something and he set himself the task of watching.

OLD FOX IS "ON."

The first verification Capt. Gallagher received of his surmise was when Pierson was visited at frequent intervals by friends. Pierson was allowed the liberty of the corridors and he always conversed with his visitors in a corner at the farthest end of the corridor.

When visitors were infrequent in their calls Pierson asked to see his lawyers, and when they refused to come at every request he called for others. When the attorneys of prominence began to fall in their appointments, Pierson summoned lesser lights, and finally he was glad to see any person who would consent to carry a law book under his arm.

While in the corridors and office of the jail Pierson watched the guards with the eyes of a hawk.

About a week ago Capt. Gallagher ordered Pierson's cell searched. A few small bits of candles were found. They were replaced and Pierson was none the wiser. The following day the cell was searched again and the candle stumps were smaller. Finally they gave out altogether.

A day or two later Pierson again was visited by friends. His cell was searched the following day and a new candle found.

The following day two small knives were discovered. Then the jailer knew the time of Pierson's attempt was drawing near. He sent the prisoner on an errand to a far end of the jail and scrutinised every portion of the steel cell. He found the rivets in one corner had been deftly cut and that it simply remained for Pierson to knock them out, spread the loosened bars and drop to the floor of the corridor. How the steel was cut is a mystery. It is believed he heated it with a candle and then used a file.

Gallagher said nothing, but he smiled. While Pierson had been secretly working on the bars, the jailer had examined the cage and made certain that bands of chilled steel were in place and when the prisoner should try to spread the bars he would find that they could be moved but an inch.

REVOLVER FOUND.

Believing that Pierson would make a desperate attempt when the time came, the jailer had the bathroom, to which Pierson had access, searched. A new revolver of large caliber and first-class make was found, with cartridges in abundance. Capt. Gallagher removed the gun and ammunition and immediately searched Pierson, finding over $30 in his pocket. The knives and candles were then removed from his cell, and Pierson, knowing his game was up, smiled grimly, and marched ahead of the guard when placed in a "tank" in the basement.

Two knives and a pistol indicated clearly that others were in the conspiracy to break jail. Details then came quickly to Capt. Gallagher's ear. It had been planned to ledve the cell about 7:30 o'clock last Saturday night. The men were to spring upon the trusty at the end of the corridor, the only person who had a direct view of the stairway. The trusty was to be felled with a blow from the pistol handle, and the trio were then quietly to slip down the stairway to the ground floor, where they could thrust the muzzle of the gun into the turnkey's face and order him under pain of death to deliver the keys.

If he made an outcry they could shoot him and snatch the keys. If he made no outcry they could quietly slip back the bolts, step into the dark street, and flee. With a minute's handicap on the guards, they could reach the railroad yards, where they could easily conceal themselves until opportunity offered for them to leave the city.

The other alternative which Pierson had arranged, the jailer was told, was that his friends on the outside—and Pierson is believed to have had many of them—were quietly to "get" H. T. Reid. No witness could then appear against Pierson, as Reid alone saw the man who assaulted him, Rogers not being considered. Pierson would have an excellent chance of going free.

The crime for which Pierson is being held for trial occurred June 22 in the office of H. T. Reid in the Grant building. Pierson, in company with William C. Rogers, is said by the police, to have called upon Reid to see some diamonds. Reid placed several thousand dollars worth on a tray for inspection. Pierson and Rogers are then said to have sprung upon Reid, Rogers grasping him by the feet and Pierson beating him on the head with a bludgeon made of leather and stuffed with small stones. Reid was rendered unconscious and left bleeding on the floor. The two men fled with the diamonds.

Pierson was arrested in Chicago about eight weeks later. Rogers, arrested meanwhile, pleaded guilty in the Superior Court here, and was sent to San Quentin for life. Pierson faces the same fate. He is about 38 years old.

DRUG FIENDS

More Than a Mill on in U. S.

According to a report recently issued by order of Dr. Wiley, of "pure food" fame, there are between one million and four million victims of the drug habit in the United States.

Most of these were influenced to the use of drugs through over-indulgence in proprietary medicines and "remedies" containing opium, cocaine, caffeine and like insidious elements. The unprincipled advertisers of consumption cures and cough syrups have been most industrious in this pernicious traffic.

Never use drugs for a cold. Half an ounce of virgin oil of pine, mixed with two ounces of glycerine and half a pint of pure whiskey, is recommended by health authorities as the quickest and most effective cough remedy.

Oil of pine is prepared, in its purest form, by the Leach Chemical Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, and may be had at any drug store. It can be mixed at home, and is absolutely safe and free from the dangers that attend the use of drugs.

A Balm for Every Ill

There is no disease, ache or pain, that does not readily yield, as if by magic, to the touch of Dr. Richmond's hand. Wonderful results of the power of the laying on of hands.

His touch heals what science and skill fail to reach. Crutches, Canes, Trusses, Braces, Ear Trumpets, Morphine Habit cured. Drugs of every kind and character are laid aside as of no further use. Case after case could be cited, including every known disease. Cancer, Tumors, Rheumatism, Asthma, Consumption, Constipation, Kidney Troubles, Nervous Disorders, Paralysis, Locomotor Ataxia—and every one are cured by this wonderful power of divine healing. Skepticism cast away like dew in the light of Dr. Richmond's facts.

Dr. Richmond is truly a modern reach toward which the sick journey from all parts of the earth in search of health. Whence comes this mighty power no one knows. It is a gift of God. Wonderful it appears to be, according to the testimony of hundreds who have been healed and made happy in Los Angeles. The great healer heals all who wish it, without money and without price. When asked, "How do you live?" the healer replied: "By teaching the laws of life and by selling my literature, lessons and books." Don't remain sick. Come today and get healed. Cut this out and remember location, DR. S. A. RICHMOND, the celebrated divine healer, late of Philadelphia, now located at 740 South Figueroa Street, Los Angeles, Cal.
